ONE'S OWN NOTEPAPER

IDEA PARTICULARLY PLEASING TO THE CHILDREN.

Hand-Painted Designs Easy of Accomplishment by Even the Very Smallest Members of the Household—Pictures to Copy.

When you were a child, did you ever have notepaper all your very own? If so, you will appreciate the joy in the receipt of a box of paper and envelopes, with designs especially made and painted by hand. Children are very fond of colored drawings. When they can be combined with letter paper, the little sketches are doubly valuable.

Here's a collection before you. You will purchase notepaper that comes in small sizes, and by aid of a carbon paper trace the little suggestions here shown. Place the carbon between this sheet and the letter paper and draw over the outline with a sharp pencil. There will be an impression left on the paper which will guide you in the coloring.

The little rose girl can be colored pink in the petals and green in the leaves. Make her golden, the eyes blue, and color the cheeks a faint pink.

A long, oblong sketch is that which shows the sun peeping over the edge of a hill. Make Old Sol a bright yellow and the hill green. Line in the sky and the features with ink.

These sketches from magazines, newspapers, etc., will afford the working basis for your coloring. Water-colors or wax crayons will do the rest. The work is fascinating and the results will speak for themselves. If you doubt it just try a set for your favorite child.

Last is the long panel of flowers that should be drawn across the top of the first page of the paper. Delicate shades of blue, lavender, pink or yellow should be used for coloring the blossoms and pale green will finish the leaves.

These are merely suggestions that should point the way for other decorations.

STOCKINGS TO MATCH GOWNS

Embroidery Work on Silken Foot Coverings a Comparatively Simple and Easy Affair.

The girl who affects individuality in dress will have several pairs of embroidered stockings to match her dainty gowns.

These are quite expensive when bought and are not difficult to do at home; the only requisites are a knowledge of the satin stitch, short embroidery needles and enough floss silk to work the design.

Select a good grade of silk stockings, black or colors, to match your gowns. Dainty designs can be bought that are easily transferred to the stockings; they come in perforated patterns and are very inexpensive. The most convenient way to work is over a darning egg. Use one thread of silk if the stocking be light weight, but if heavy a double thread is used. Cut the skein of silk twice, as a longer thread is likely to knot and cannot be easily straightened out on a stocking. The smartest stockings are embroidered in self-tones—black upon black, white upon white, etc.

Flowers are still popular, and if the color contrast is not too startling they are dainty. The flowers should be very small and well scattered over the front of the stocking. Any small conventional design is pretty, and clocks, too, can be worked as an added charm to the stocking.

Excessive Perspiration.

Few of the sufferers from this hateful and uncomfortable trouble know that it can be checked very considerably by washing or bathing in mustard water every morning. The mustard should be in the proportion of an egg cupful to a full sized bath, or a dessert spoonful to a washing basin. It should color the water yellow, but not be strong enough to inflame or sting the skin. It has a most refreshing yet tingheningeffect upon the skin and absolutely prevents those unbecoming beads of perspiration rolling down the face, which are the woe of so many. A pad of linen, well soaked in mustard water and applied to any place where perspiration extends, as to the arm-pits or forehead, makes matters more sure. A dusting of oatmeal also helps to complete the cure.

Ended the Dry Spell.

She had a voice like a siren, and when she sang "'Mid play sure, sand palaces, the foam a rome. Be it averse oh wuns bull there, snow play sly comb," and so on to the conclusion, there wasn't a dry eye in the room.—United Presbyterian.

Ignorance Is Bliss.

"The human society must be very active in some states," volunteered Miss Prim. "I read where a man in a small town was fined $50 for running a blind pig."—Judge.

HARMONY NEEDED IN HOME

Illness and Disturbed Nerves Are the Sure Result If It Is Lacking There.

The imperative need of harmony in home surroundings as well as in business life is being felt by thinking more every day. It is impossible to do our best work in any atmosphere of confusion, and it is an almost invariable rule that illness and disturbed nerves are the penalty exacted if we allow ourselves to be drawn into conditions that do not spell harmony. Our home is our castle, and nothing should be allowed to enter therein that makes us unhappy.

If one is obliged to take strangers into the home on account of financial consideration it is wise to make sure that they are not antagonistic in any way that will affect the family relations, otherwise it is better to give up the extra profit and do with less if it means peace of mind. There is no price too great to pay for harmony, for it means health, happiness, financial success to you and yours, the ability to help others, and all through the gaining and holding the mental poise which is the peace of understanding. Some of us have to be beaten with many stripes before we realize the need of and grasp the knowledge of harmony, but those who have already felt a longing for it and pause to listen will get the revelation and receive its gospel like benediction.

Mirror for Cyclists.

A convex mirror has been designed for motor cyclists, who, by attaching it to one wrist by a rubber band, can lift the hand and see what is coming behind them.

How to Sleep.

The most natural and restful posture when sleeping is to lie flat on the chest, lower limbs perfectly straight, one arm being down by the side, the other thrown up slightly over the head, face turned to either side. Use no pillow. This will help greatly to straighten the shoulders and give restful, dreamless sleep.
