To my kind friend & uncle,

Dr. Caspar Morris:

When Emily returned from Philadelphia I was both surprised & delighted with the very beautiful present you were so kind as to send to me in her care, & I wish to no longer delay the expression of my thankful appreciation of the gift. The photographs are valuable as beautiful works of art, & also on account of the rare interest attaching to the subjects they so finely illustrate, but they have a greater value to me as tokens of your unmerited kindness —
