SIDE TWO

to me personally, on the part of anyone in the hospital; but, on the contrary, the "appointment" seems, as far as I can judge, to be pleasantly received.

Frequently, since it was made, I have accepted Miss Lehmann's invitation to dine with them on stormy days, & also, when remaining over there at night, to watch with a sick patient, I have gone down to breakfast - and this I have done without hesitation, feeling that, having been so kindly treated, I should be a decided gain, as well as pleasure, to any patient of consequence, I think you will agree with me in this, do you not?

I shall remember your advice & always take matters without check with the thought - namely, how after - we do to Passport Business - Tomorrow. Be so kind as to be kind generally, & oblige

Yours

Casper Morris
