SIDE TWO

Defined the whole question of the requirement of a written obligation, either without a money security, from every resident client before allowing him to occupy his room.

Into the late mov, of it were thought desirable, to require a money obligation, but we can, and I think ought, to recommend a written promise to be signed by every resident client hereafter (including the tenants) engaging to remain the full time.

We may recommend also, the giving of a certificate of approval - something like the Remd. Hosp. resolutions - to every resident who has completed his term of service in a satisfactory manner.

The unchanged action, annual appropriation is hinded for the purchase of medical books and the rent of dispensaries for medical journals, for the medical officer, resident and attending, and for the medical library. The chapel fund has been added to this. The Burdett Bank is the only chaplaincy association. The Burdett Bank is the only chaplaincy association.
