C 4 6 4

1875 January-March Cooper Harris incoming letters 1994

appointed with the illiterate character of Mr. Moody's addresses. Notwithstanding this however all classes seem to ~~have~~ be impressed; and at any rate their visit has had the effect of directing people's minds to religion, in a way that I have never before seen in London. You may perhaps like to know that my wife likes the general character of the instruction given by them, rather than what she heard from Mr & Mrs Pearsall Smith. We are expecting another visit from these last, and arrangements are being made for a conference at Brighton in May, where they are to take the lead. Many of our friends intend to be there. Amongst the friends, they do really appear to be arousing attention to ~~the~~ some of the leading characteristics of the Gospel, such as pardon and sanctification by faith. Altogether the times are very remarkable; and one wonders what will be the result of all this excitement. In our own Church, we greatly need a few courageous leaders, who know what to do, and are not afraid of opposition. The address signed by almost all the Abps and Bps, is looked upon as a failure - and as tending rather to encourage the lawless than uphold the hands of the