Lest you forget. Swat the fly.

The cut worm got his work in the early sowed corn.

The graduates are beginning to be in "our midst".

The Maryland Penitentiary will now proceed to be investigated.

The college orators will soon be heard in the land. Oh, you "original" essays, orations etc.!

They are voting in New Jersey to-day. Mosquitoes and everything else. In fact things have reached a white heat.

We notice that preachers like lawyers, sometimes disagree. For instance there was that accrimonious debate in the Methodist Protestant Conference.

A smaller amount of self assumed authority makes fools of some people. This is especially true in politics.

The dates for church festivals and celebrations are being fixed a good ways ahead of time no regard being had for weather condition which might prevail.

We recently saw a bet recorded of $100 to $1 that if Roosevelt is nominated he would be elected. We think the same bet could be safely made on Taft.

Main street was sprinkled Sunday and it was a great blessing to everyone. If the street had been dry the automobiles and motorcycles would have made life unbearable. As it is the dirt and filth is accumulating on it and it should be swept off.

Don't let up thinking out the proposition to improve the old pike between Manchester and Hampstead. It is one of the things which should be done this year. We reiterate what we have said before, that it is a good business proposition for the county and state.

Former Governor Crothers failed to please the bosses and grafters and and therefore incurred their enmity. But history will record his name upon its pages as one of the best Governors the state has ever had. His name will shine upon its pages when the little and big bosses of the Democratic party have been forgotten.

The fellow that gets drunk and drives through the streets of this city at a break neck or reckless speed should be punished so severely that he will not forget it for a long time to come. There are several men, who frequent this city who invariable get drunk and then try to drive home through a crowded thoroughfare. The driving accident Saturday was an example of what we are speaking about. The young man who drove into the other one's team was pretty well filled up with liquor and a pretty stiff sentence would make him remember that other person's lives are just as precious as his own and that when he deliberately comes to this city, gets himself filled with liquor and then tries to 'clean up the town" he must be prepared to have something handed to him which will make him remember the time he might have been the cause of the death of a young lady.

Saturday afternoon last, two young men drove through this city with the lines down on the dashboard of the buggy. Both of them were too drunk to drive, and the horse was allowed to go from one side of the streeet to the other. Is there any wonder the people of the East End are protesting against the absence of the police?

UNION MILLS

In printing the programme of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Reformed and Lutheran congregations at Silver Run given in my last letter, the Sentinel made the mistake of omitting the exercises to take place one of the days, namely, Thursday, May 30th., they will be as follows on that day: 2 P. M. Remniscent meeting in the Ravine where the first church stood. 8 P. M., Address by Rev. Dr. O. C. Roth in the Lutheran Church. The histories of the two congregations have been received from the printer and are now on sale, the price being 25c each.

They are very attractively gotten up contain a great deal of interesting information that has never before appeared in print and are appropriately illustrated with pictures of the old and the new church edifices, and of the past and present pastors of the congregations. Any one from a distance desiring a copy of either history can have one sent to them by mail by addressing Rev. S. C. Hoover, Silver Run, Md., for the Reformed History, or Rev. John O. Yoder Silver Run Md., for the Lutheran, enclosing the price above named.
