Dear Dr. Morris

In accordance with your kind suggestion I wrote to Mr. Pullen, who promptly sent me the list I now enclose. He has marked what he considers the most desirable varieties. The principal doubtful is about some of the early kinds. I have supposed several of them to be nearly worthless for family purposes, however valuable they might be for market. I should therefore gladly avail myself of your further kind offer to revise this list and give me your own impressions in regard to it. I am
