WE SELL CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS.

As soon as President Taft had saved five million dollars by cutting down the expenses of the government departments the Democrats in Congress grabbed the money and stuck it in the "pork barrel."

"Bilion dollar Congresses are getting to be just ordinary daily little affairs with this country nowadays." Baltimore Morning Sun—August 28, 1912.

When the last Republican Congress adjourned the Sun lampooned it for what it termed Republican extravagance. The present Democratic Congress has appropriated a larger sum but the Sun contents itself by saying that "million dollar Congresses are getting to be just ordinary affairs".

Have the Farmers Forgotten?

We fear the unparalleled prosperity which the farmers have enjoyed for the past 15 years has made many of them forget the hardships they and many of their ancestors suffered during the 20 years prior thereto. Many of the farmers now in their young manhood knew nothing of the financial struggles which their fathers made to keep the old homestead from getting under the auctioneer's hammer and it is, perhaps, for certain reason a very good thing for them to be ignorant of the life and death struggles of their forbears. But, for other reasons, it is better that they be enlightened.

It is not our intention to here rehearse all the trials and tribulations through which the older farmers passed during those dreadful years from 1892 to 1896, covering the four years of the last Democratic administration To do so would require more space and time than we have to spare. We simply wish to put a few questions to the farmers of Carroll county and then let them answer the same by their votes in the coming election.

Would you, Mr. Farmer, knowingly lower the price of your farm products so that your crop of wheat will not pay for the labor and fertilizer?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which in all probability would bring down the price of ear corn to $1.25 per barrel and wheat to 46 cents per bushel?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which would destroy the home market where your products are sold and for which you are now receiving fair living prices?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which would compel you to draw on that savings bank account to which you have been adding year after year, so that in your declining years you and your faithful wife may enjoy the fruits of a well spent life?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which would deprive your children and yourself of a comfortable home where for the past 15 years you have enjoy their society, friendship and love?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which will bring discredit upon the government which you and your ancestors have fought to maintain and for the continuance of which you or your children may be called upon to assist?

Would you, knowingly, do a thing which would close up many of the industries of the country and put out of employment millions of men and women? The very men and women who consume the products of your farms, and who, when employed at fair wages are able to and do pay you fair prices for the same?

During the years 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892 this country was enjoying a period of unheard of prosperity and everyone, save and except the Democratic politicians, were happy and contented. The latter, together with a number of disgruntled Republican politicians, in 1892, just as we find things to-day, led the people to believe that the administration of President Harrison was a failure and that the McKinley tariff bill was robbing the people because prices of farm products had advanced until wheat was selling at $1 per bushel, corn at $3.50 per barrel and all other farm products proportionately high.

The same cry we now hear about the high cost of living was heard then and the Democratic politicians took advantage of it just as they are trying to take advantage of it now, and unfortunately for the country the farmers headed the cry. Ye gods, what a penalty the latter paid for their folly! From comparative prosperity they were plunged into absolute poverty from which it has taken many of them years to recover. Some of them never did. Their homes were sold from them, their families scattered to the four winds of Heaven and they were left to die in poverty. Some of us who lived through those years of adversity will not forget, but have some of the farmers forgotten? We hope not.

If these statements are doubted go search the records of the circuit court. There you will find the story of the unpaid mortgage. It is a cruel record, stained with the very life blood of many, many unfortunate farmers.

Knowing all these things and having suffered some of them, will you now listen to the siren voice of Governor Wilson the school teacher of New Jersey, or the screeching voice of a disgruntled and disappointed Republican who, in order to vent his spite would sink you into the depth of financial calamity? Think of these things and

Whatever siren voice would draw,
Thy heart from duty and its law,
Be firm.

MANCHESTER

Death of Mrs. A. Jackson Brown

Mrs. A. Jackson Brown, was taken to the hospital in the spring for treatment for rheumatism, from which she suffered for a long time without any relief and at last became quite helpless. But it appears there was no remedy to help. Several weeks ago she contracted typhoid fever from which she died at the Md. hospital, Baltimore, on Saturday last, aged 52 years, 3 months and 26 days. She was a Miss Rupp and spent her childhood days in Cranberry Valley. Her remains were brought to Hampstead Monday last and laid to rest in the cemetery. She is survived by her husband and several brothers and sisters. Mr. Jacob Wink had charge of the funeral.

Dr. Wm. Panebaker and family, of Baltimore, wéres visitors at the farm of Dr. P. in Bachman's Valley last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins, of Pikesville; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Motter, Mrs. Edmond Shower and son, of Baltimore, enjoyed an auto ride here Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Julia M. Motter and friends.

Miss Golda Lawson, of Baltimore visited friends here Sunday.

Master Ollie Lippy and sister Eva of Shrewsbury, Pa., visited their grand-father, Mr. Oliver Lippy, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rittie, Mr. and Mrs. Stidman and daughter, of Baltimore, came to the home of Mrs. S's sister, Mrs. Edgar Nagle, on York street, Sunday where they spent the day. Mr. Stidman is a cartoonist for the Baltimore Sun. Mrs. S. and daughter are spending the week. In company with them were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Houck who were guests of Mr. H's sister, Mrs. C. Miller, for the day.

A new roof was put on Trinity Reformed Church by Mr. George Reed and his corps of workmen. The church is to be refrescoed and recarpeted with a new altar to correspond to the pupit and altar furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cass, of Baltimore, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. J. Lamotte Sunday.

There was a little ripple of excitement on Monday when deputy sheriff W. C. Shearer was driven into town by Mr. Howard Hoffman in his auto, the deputy having in his charge a negro he had arrested at Lineboro. Two Havre de Grace negroes went on a tramp and at Glenville, Pa., the one took into his possession a revolver belonging to Mr. Miller, which he discovered some time after they left his store. He phoned Mr. David Barnhart at Lineboro to be on the lookout for them, and soon after they put in their appearance and bought tickets for Baltimore. Mr. B. had just gotten a load of straw at his hotel stable and he bargained with them to unload it. He at once phoned deputy Shearer of the fact, who speeded to Lineboro in time to see the negroes finish their work. They then got their coats, the one taking the gun from under his coat. The deputy put them under arrest and took them before squire Wentz, who acted in the case, but could only hold the one who was brought here and taken to the Westminster jail.

The weakened condition of Mr. Edward Oursler, at this writing, makes his chances of recovery very doubtful.

Mr. George M. Hoffman is having his home, on the corner of Foundry avenue and Main street, painted by the Armstrong brothers, of Lineboro. His block of new houses is almost ready for occupancy.

Mrs. Smart and daughter, of Florida visited her aunt, Mrs. Charles Hively, last week.

Mr. Wm. A. Burgoon is having a porch built on the north side of his house, extending to the front, which will be quite an improvement to the home.
