My Dear Dr. Morris

Thank you for your kind note of yesterday. It is a great satisfaction to know that I have those who can rely on me when assailed. The charge of corruption is so fully made irrespective of any proof that no one can hope to escape it. However, the consciousness of having done right is what I rest upon.

I wish you would ask Mr Chester & Mr King to get him Mr Garrett a letter I wrote to him many months ago (& which he never acknowledged the receipt of) in which I gave my views of the influence of the Centennial on the trade of the Baltimore & Ohio Road & of which I did not retain a copy, that they may read it. I want this because I am sure that when they realize what I have foretold they will feel that in
