Overland

A Foreword About 1913

And a Word of Advice to the Buy r

Most of you will remember that just before the 1912 season opened, we advised the public to wait and see what we had to offer before they bought.

We promised to save them considerable money. We told them how we could. And we did. Everyone knows that we made good on this. Tens of thousands followed our advice and profited by doing so. Our famous $900 Touring Car took the country by storm. It proved the equal of any $1200 car shown during the entire 1912 season. To date we have had to refuse thousands of orders for this model and more are still pouring in.

Our advice for 1913 is the same as it was for 1912. Wait for the Overland announcement.

We will make our 1913 announcement on August 17th. On this date the world at large will awaken to still more car for still less money.

A few week's w.it cannot make much difference to you; yet it will make a big difference by saving you considerable money.

On August 17th you will get all the facts, specifications and particulars. Buy The Saturday Evening Post on that date. Watch the newspapers in your city.

On that date the new Overlands will be in every city in America—ready for your demonstration.

August 17th will be the red letter day of the 1913 automobile year.

Remember the date and . . . . . wait!

FOR HONEST BUTTER.

An Interesting Case That May Have Bearing on Dairy Legislation.

In the forthcoming fight in congress this winter in behalf of honest butter the technicalities of a case in the courts of New York state may have an important bearing. In order to get an authoritative statement of the case, State Master W. H. Vary asked Mr. George L. Flanders, counsel for the department of agriculture, for full details, which will be of special interest at the present time.

The case referred to, says Mr. Flanders, is the People versus Gulton & Co. of Albany, N. Y., a large grocery firm of that city. It was selling oleo in a condition which the department believed to be a violation of the law. While it was not artificially colored, it was in imitation and semblance of butter of a certain shade of yellow. A competent chemist analyzed samples, and he pronounced the substance to be oleomargarine not artificially colored, but obtaining its color from its ingredients. The venders claimed that they were within the law because the color was a natural color (natural to the combination) and was not of the nature to be prohibited by the statutes. They also argued that if the statute prohibited the sale of such goods it would be unconstitutional, because the legislature could not prohibit the manufacture and sale of a natural product having the natural color of its ingredients.

It then became necessary for the prosecution to show the scope of yellow in butter, which it did by carefully taking samples of milk from four different breeds of cows—Jersey, Holstein, Ayrshire and Guernsey. Butter was made from these samples, and it was shown at the trial in the lower court that butter color ran from the deep yellow of the Guernsey to the lighter yellow of the Jersey and still lighter yellow of the Holstein and Ayrshire. Then the contention was that the imitation and the semblance forbidden in the statute were an imitation of any shade of yellow. The trial court found for the defendant, but the appellate division reversed the decision. The case will now be determined by the court of appeals.

Inasmuch as the grange has always stood for honest butter and will oppose the masquerading of oleo under the color of butter, although not opposing the sale of oleo as such, this case is of more than ordinary interest. —Pennsylvania Farmer.
