time past when we are asked how been admitted there has been an dis-faction of some sort interposed. What I do not wish to tire you, nor do I wish to appeal to the B^d this or any reason for longing.
It has seemed to me
that there is a growing spirit of unreasonable and dissatisfaction on the part of some of the Board and I cannot but fear future strife and litigation. This I dread and abhor. In the administration of any charitable or religious association the mere fact of calling for anger and heat is a sort of barometrical indication of coming storm. I know not the spirits but the inclination to continue in a Board where it seems probable that the old feeling of hearty co-operation and of mutual confidence may
