MANCHESTER

After weary watchings and waitings by day and by night even for weeks at the bedside of Mrs. Gotlieb Smitch to alleviate the suffering through which she passed, the death messenger came early Sunday morning and peacefully she passed away at the age of 41 years. Her remains were laid away to rest in a family lot in the new cemetery on Wednesday. Rev. J. B. Lau officiated. Messrs. David C. Frankforter, Curvin Ament, Henry Gensler, George L. Maurath, Howard Loats and Samuel Abkin were pallbearers. Jacob Wink had charge of the funeral. She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters.

The Hanover Shoe Company base ball team crossed bats with our team Saturday last and won the laurels. The score was 11 to 4 in their favor. They came to play ball and did it O. K. They were entertained at supper at the Washington House and had a jolly time.

There was a large audience present on Thursday evening, 29th ult., at the commencement of the Manchester High school in Trinity Reformed church which was in fine decoration for the occasion. The raised platform was in place and the altar and surroundings were nicely decorated with flowers and palms with the 13', 14' and 15' penants bearing M. H. S. were prominent among the trimming in yellow and black. The school met in the lecture room of the church and marched into the church to the reserved seats, the graduates taking their places on the platform where were also seated Edgar H. McBride, of Frederick, Dr. T. S. Land, Dr. Fell, commissioner J. W. Hoffacker, Prof. Geo. F. Morelock and Prof. Stanley Bowlus. The following program was well rendered: Invocation, Dr. Land; Anthem, by school, which also read the 150th Psalm in concert with Dr. Land, Salutatory, The Setting Sun, Treva Burgoon; vocal solo, Mrs. Edgar Magle; oration, "What constitutes a minority, Pearl Garrity; address to graduates, Edgar H. McBride; trombone solo, Prof H. M. Loats accompanied by Miss Margaret Loats on organ; address, Dr. Fell; Anthem, choir. Presentation of Diplomas by Prof. Morelock who gave a fine practical talk not only encouraging the graduates to higher and better education, but also sounded the keynote to the patrons and friends of our schools to support the authorities who are willing and ready to do well their part to make them a success but they cannot do it all, they need support, they need encouragement, they need those who will come forward and hold up their hands so the schools may not remain of the present grade but year by year grow better and more interesting; that the boys and girls can be fitted for higher education. The patrons can rest assured that they have a commissioner that will look to their interests and get from the board the best to be had. Valedictory, "What constitutes a country," Margaret Minning; Good night song, by school; benediction, Dr. Land. It was an interesting occasion to all and only the highest comments could be heard from all sides.

The sale of the personal effects of Mr. Charles Loats was largely attended and fair prices realized for goods offered.

Very few persons observed Decoration day in this section. The R. F. D. men were home and Messrs. Hoffacker, Lamotte, Slack and Sullivan motored to Hanover and saw the Hanover team do up the Shrewsbury boys. Our young friend and expert cycler, Guy Hanson, gave an object lesson to the citizens on Main street, "Lest they forget," that May 30th was Decoration Day, by several trips through the town decorated with a headgear out of sight. It was the product of an expert trimmer from the G. and F. Department store. At the same time it was quite an advertisement for her millinery talent. It was all right Guy, but the inquiry is whether your commission bears the U. S. or the Md. seal as demonstrator. We cannot vouch that he did not exceed the speed limit.

Mr. Jacob A. Frederick has been making fine progress on macadamizing the turnpike from here to Hampstead which he abandoned during the latter winter and early spring. He now is nearing Greenmount with finished work and is making good progress from the Hampstead end this way. He commenced several weeks ago, but with two private contracts to macadamize a driveway from the turnpike in to the home of Mr. Whitfield Stansbury, and at Greenmount in to the station for Mr. J. N. Dehoff, will keep him the better part of the summer. On Tuesday he begins the grading at the west end of the state road he contracted to build from the corporation line here 1.63 miles west along the Germantown rout.

The ladies of the Willing Workers' Aid Society, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold a carpet rag party in the vacant store room of J. W. Hoffacker on Thursday evening to which the members are invited. Proceeds for their treasury.

William Masenhimer, accompanied by Dr. Jas. B. Wyant, John Clair, Albert Hanaur, of Baltimore, and William H. Mack, of Washington, D. C., enjoyed an auto trip here on Sunday and were entertained by Mr. M's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Masenhimer.

Miss Margaret Minning left on Tuesday morning for her father's home in Huntington, Pa., after spending eight years of her girlhood in this place.

Prof. Stanley Bowlus left on Monday for his Middletown, Md., home and then leaves for a western trip to a brother in Ohio.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherman entertained at dinner Sunday, C. P. Davine, of Yakima, Washington; C. E. Fink, C. G. Fink, J. Brooke Fink and wife, of Westminster, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman and daughter Corrinne took Mr. Davine to Baltimore Sunday evening in an auto. They returned at 11 P. M.

Mrs. C. M. Eyster, of Baltimore, visited friends here one day last week.

Saturday evening our town was crowded with teams and a number of autos so that our business places did a fine trade until a late hour. But Sunday exceeded all for automobiles passing and repassing all day even into the night. We have not found the fellow who took the tally so cannot give numbers.

Bess, the faithful grey driver of Mr. John B. Lamotte, passed her 31st, mile stone on Monday and can still endure a moderate drive with her usual quick step. Looking real well she has spent her life from fold with the family who give her the best of care in her declining years.

Mr. Charles H. Kolb, principal of the Westminster High school, Mr. W. W. Jackson, vice principal, and Prof. George F. Morelock enjoyed an auto trip here on Sunday. They were the guests of Mr. Ross Blocher at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Blocher, who royally entertained them at dinner.

GRANGERS INSURANCE COMPANY EMBARRASSED

(From the Baltimore American)

At a conference of the Frederick county policy-holders in the Grangers' Mutual Fire and Storm Insurance Company of Carroll County and the officials of the company held in Frederick, Thursday afternoon, an effort was made to reach a settlement in the controversy between the 260 policyholders in that county and the company. The company does not do a fire insurance business. It insures against hail and wind. Some of the farmers insured in the company claim that when they agreed to take the policies and made their applications for the same it was represented to them that they were insured against fire, while others said they understood that their buildings and crops were insured against wind and hail. The company now contends that it insures crops against hail and buildings against wind storms, but that wind storm damage to crops is at the loss of the owner, so far as the company is concerned.

The company was chartered in 1906, but as the State Insurance Commissioner decided the company was a casualty company at the beginning, and liable to the heavy casualty tax, the company remained dormant for several years, when the charter was amended.

The report of the company shows that it had on December 1 of last year $1,940,000 of insurance in force and premium notes aggregating $153,099. Against these premium notes an assessment of 10 per cent. was levied in order to pay hail losses during the past summer, and as the agent of the company, who is now dead, is said to have represented to the farmers that their assessments would never be over four per cent. the farmers of Frederick county have refused to pay.

Michael E. Walsh, an attorney of Westminster, and John Henry Leister, the general agent, were present at Thursday's conference, and Emory L. Coblentz represented the policyholders. Mr. Walsh, of the Company, said that the company is without funds and that unless the assessments on the premium notes were paid, the company would be unable to meet its losses, which occurred last summer, and are as yet unpaid. He cited the fact that the past summer was unprecedented in this section for damage by hail, citing the fact that portions of Frederick, Carroll, Howard and Montgomery counties, where the company has most of its insurance, were almost devastated by the hail.

He made a plea for the payment of the assessments and said the policies held the insured to this. He said the company was doing a good work, and it was a mutual company of farmers, and that the secretary received only $20 per month. There are about 1,500 policyholders in the company.

Mr. Coblentz said that he considered the trouble due to lack of business methods on the part of those in charge of the company, although he admitted the hail storms of last summer were most severe. He told of writing four letters to the company before a reply was received, and many present said they had never received any reply to their letters. Many of the policyholders present wanted to fight the case to the bitter end, but the majority favored a settlement, on certain terms, which were made known to their attorney.

It is possible that charges against the company will be made before the State Insurance Commissioner, and a full investigation of the conduct of the affairs of the company made.
