December 27th 1878.

Dear Dr Morris,

My Mother asks me to write for her to you, and express her very great regret that she did not see you & Mrs Morris during your visit to England during this past summer. She had so hoped to see you little once more, on her return from Scotland the last week in July; & hoped on all August that each day would bring us word which day we were to expect you here. Then we thought something must have occurred to demand your sudden return home, & hoped we should hear from you when safely there. October brought our sad trial & loss, and it is only this morning that I have heard
