The Ladies' Aid Society of Deer Park Church met at the home of Mrs. Skinner and Mrs. Lockard at Smallwood, for its January meeting. As each member arrived they were received by the hostess in a very cordial manner, making each one feel as though they were necessary to the society was called to order by its well attended as there were about 90 members and visitors present. The society was rallied to order by its president, Mrs. Elizabeth Wardenfelt, a scripture lesson was read by our pastor, Mr. Bauscher, followed by prayer. Then the usual routine of business was transacted, the roll was called and responded to by the paying of dues which amounted to $16.70. Sundry bills were paid and then the election of officers came next in order which was as follows: President, Mrs. Elizabeth Wardenfelt; vice-president, Mrs. Mary Beard; secretary, Mrs. Alice Spencer; collector, Mrs. Fannie Buckingham; treasurer, Mrs. Maggie Conaway. Look-out committee reelected the old organist, Miss Pearl Lockard. The society then sang their closing hymn, God Be With You Till We Meet Again. Refreshments were then served in abundance, the young members of the society doing the honors. The meeting lasted rather late as there were so many members and visitors out that all had so much to say to each other and when they did bid adieu to the hostess they were glad that they had been there. The society has now reached its hundred mark. We have 102 members, as 4 new members were just taken in. The Aid Society will hold its February meeting at Mrs. Bollinger's, near Eastview.

BUSINESS MEN ON SIGHT-SEEING TRIP

Seeing as best they could through the swirling snow which covered Western Maryland, the Central Railroad of Maryland, the new spur of the Pennsylvania from Key Mar, Md., to Union Bridge, Md., a score of Baltimore business men were guests Monday of B. T. Scott, president of the new road, and W. W. Atterbury, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, on a sight-seeing trip.

The start was made from Union Station in a private car at 7 o'clock Monday morning, and the party returned to Baltimore at 6 o'clock Monday night.

The Baltimore party met Mr. Atterbury's train at York, Pa. The run to Union Bridge was made in time for the visitors to inspect the large plant of the Tidewater Cement Company, of which Mr. Scott is also president.

At Key Mar the snow was so dense that it was necessary to turn the engine on the special train, in order to plow through the drifts. Gamble Latrobe, the Pennsylvania representative in Baltimore, was one of the volunteers at the turn-table handles.

Among those in the Baltimore party were: Whter Engineer Ezra B. Whitman, H. C. Shirley and Jas. N. Mackall of the State Roads Commission; August Weber, Gamble Latrobe, Adam Deupert, W. J. Gascoyne, S. A. Vavvelan, Chas. Classen, William J. O'Brien, Jr., J. A. McKellip, William A. Casler, Patrick Flanigan, Leo Flanigan, Isaac S. George and H. A. Haynes.

In addition to many Pennsylvania officials, business men from Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Buffalo and other cities took the trip.

NORTHERN CARROLL

Mr. and Mrs. George Dutterer, Jr., and Misses May and Esther Bair spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Bair, of White Hall, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Study spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Study, of near Black's school house. Mr. Study, an aged and highly respected gentleman, is very much indisposed.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mathias spent Sunday with Mrs. Mathias' relatives near Westminster, and with Mrs. M's. cousin, Miss Ethel Study.

We are having plenty of sleighing, but the snow on Monday made sleighing not stylish unless you upset. The last snow having shut up the road that had been used, this snow being deep and the under snow being packed tight and a hard crust makes traveling bad.

IN MEMORIAM

BLOOM.—In sad but loving remembrance of my departed mother, who died one year ago today, February 28, 1913.

She sleepeth, yet around her grave
Sweet thoughts shall ever be.
Though laid at rest, yet honored
Still in sacred memory.
By her devoted daughter.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Carl S. Haines, who died February 3, aged 15 years, 1 week and 5 days.

Farewell dear Carl, a sad farewell,
We loved you yes no tongue can tell
How much we loved you and how well.
God loved you too and thought it best
To take you home with Him to rest.
And we miss him, yes we miss him,
And our heartts are aching so,
But one thought comes to us in our sadness;
He is free from all sickness and pain,
And we trust when our journey is ended,
We will meet our loved one again.
By the family.

IN MEMORIAM

Sacred to the memory of my dear mother, Eliza Jane Jenkins, who entered into rest three years ago, February 27th, 1911.

So still, so cold, thou art sleeping now
While all the world is gay;
Thy work is done, low sinks the sun
On thy low mound this day.

The depth of my sorrow I cannot tell,
The loss of my mother I loved so well,
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory I shall always keep.

I love her today; yes I love her
Just as well as I did years ago,
And I miss her, oh sadly I miss her
And my heart is still aching so.

Often from my heart comes a bitter cry
"Why, O Why should my mother die?"
Then comes an answer so solemn and deep,
"Your mother is but asleep."

By her loving son,
FRED S. JENKINS.

The Mexican government will no doubt protest against the inhumane act of our soldiers, who made the 5000 Mexican refugees take baths.

It is hoped the churches don't get to quarreling over which shall have the spending of Andy Carnegie's new peace fund.

The fact that they can't make a living at anything else is considered by many people a good reason why they should be appointed income tax collectors.
