The members of the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren are about to build a new church edifice, but have not yet fully decided upon the size and plan of the building. The old church, which was lately enlarged, was first erected 67 years ago and the congregation has outgrown it. The work of demolishing it has already been begun. Mr. James D. Mitchell, of this city, has taken a fine photograph showing the building in bold relief, with the adjoining shedding for the horses of those who attend the church services; and with the beautiful cemetery lying to the west of the turnpike in the distance.

The Sentinel, in an extract of considerable length, from a minority report of F. Neal Parke, Esq., from the Commission on Penal Reform, of which he is a member, to Governor Goldsborough, gave some of Mr. Parke's reasons for dissenting from the other members of the commission on questions relating to the scope of authority conferred by law upon the body charged with carrying the purpose of the law into effect. But Mr. Parke's full report should be read to present fully his views on the subject, and it is the intention of the Sentinel to give it in its entirety at an early date. His argument against the enlarged, or perhaps it should be said against the extraordinary powers, conferred upon the commission, are cogent and convincing and make it plain that much of the authority it exercises, while not arrogated, is yet an explicit violation of constitutional duties imposed upon the Governor himself. In regard to this feature of the commission's operations Mr. Parke's objections are unanswerable, and his report to the Governor a most creditable presentation of his views on the subject. The Governor probably has found but little time to analyize the questions involved, but he cannot help being enlightened by giving close attention to the reasoning of the well prepared argument submitted for his consideration.

Dr. Coonan Will be Postmaster

Dr. Thomas J. Coonan will be postmaster of Westminster. Of that fact there can be no question of doubt. His name was sent to the Senate on Monday and his confirmation has followed, or will speedily follow, the appointment. As in other cases, the Postmaster General is guided in recommending appointees to the President by the members of the House of Representatives in whose districts the appointments are to be made. In this case Dr. Coonan was recommended to General Barleson by Congressman Talbott, to whom the appointee was recommended by those of the Democrats who preferred him to either of the other applicants. He became a candidate for member of the Democratic Central Committee in the primary in September last, with the distinct understanding that it was as a prospective applicant for the postmastership, and possibly on that issue won out, having practically received the endorsement of a majority of the Democrats who voted at the primary. It was implied, by outsiders generally, that his leading supporters were, for the most part, friends of Senator Blair Lee.

Dr. Coonan is a member of St. John's Catholic Church and has been a strong Democrat from his boyhood. He has been a practicing physician for twelve or fifteen years. He is a son-in-law of the late State Senator Pinkney J. Bennett, and has an interesting family of little children. His friends, of whom he has many, are naturally very much gratified by his appointment and the people of the county, many of whom are patrons of the office, will be pleased to have him enjoy a successful administration of the important office to which he has been appointed, and which has been taken out of politics and conducted on a business basis for more than half a dozen years.

Of the other applicants for the appointment it can be said that either of them would have made an efficient postmaster and Dr. Coonan has probably been successful through the energetic and persistent efforts of his supporters.

At the same time the name of Dr. Thomas J. Coonan was sent to the Senate by President Wilson, the name of Mr. William E. Burke to be postmaster at Taneytown, went with it. It is said that Mr. Burke has been in sympathy with the element of his party generally supposed to be among the followers of Senator Blair Lee. It is probable that those applicants who may be classed with the organization must get up and hustle if they expect to be successful. The appointment of Mr. Burke was an event anticipated by the Senator's strongest supporters.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

The congregation of Trinity Lutheran Church, Deer Park road, began the use of the duplex envelope system, as an experiment in a country church, on July 1st, 1912. The result has been the increase of benevolent offerings almost fifty per cent. On the first of January, 1914, all current expenses had been met, with the exception of a small balance due of salary, notwithstanding the fact that during the last quarter of 1913, there were more inclement than fair Sundays. Since January 1st, the weather has been so rough and the roads so bad, that all country churches have suffered. The congregation at Trinity will use a special Easter offering envelope to make up the shortage of the quarter.

Holy week will be observed with special services on Palm Sunday morning, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and Good Friday morning, and Easter Sunday morning. A special invitation is given to all friends of the congregation to be present at the Palm Sunday service, when the sermon will be an intensely personal message. Subjects of sermons: Palm Sunday, Following the King; Monday, The Christ We Need; Tuesday, How Can We Know the Way? Wednesday, Believing is Seeing; Thursday, Under the Olive Trees; Good Friday, The Man of Sorrows; Easter, An Easter Message.

The sermons will all be by the pastor, Rev. W. L. Seabrook.

Dr. Richard S. Hill will give an illustrated lecture at the High School Hall, Westminster, on April 18th, at 1 P. M., on the growing of corn. All are invited to attend, especially those interested in the County Grange Corn Contest.

The following persons have had the Chesapeake and Potomac telephone installed in their residences: Messrs. J. Carroll Slasman, near Gamber, Westminster 806-15; William E. Williams, near Gamber, Westminster 806-22, and James W. Brown, near Taneytown, Taneytown 42-11.

The Young People's Missionary Society of Grace Lutheran Church, this city, held an Easter bazar during the evenings of March 27 and 28 in the Thomas building near the railroad in this city which was quite a success. The proceeds will be given toward the building of a dispensary in Chilara, India, of which Dr. Mary Baer is superintendent.

At a meeting of the State Roads Commission held on March 30th, 1914, a contract was awarded to the Criswell-Mallory Company, of Mechanicsville, N. Y., for the improvement of 5.49 miles of the Frizellburg Road, in this county, the construction to be of macadam. Work on same will be started as soon as the weather and other conditions permit.

THOS. J. BOYLAN GETS $4,000

Thomas J. Boylan, who as a boy and young man, lived on Pennsylvania avenue, this city, and was well known to the residents of that and other localities, where he had many friends, was so unfortunate, on the 13th of May, 1912, as to have met with a serious accident while acting as a lineman of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Patapsco and Electric and Manufacturing Company. He and another lineman, named Thomas J. Carey, were performing work on a pole of the telephone company, at Irvington, when both were thrown to the ground and Carey killed, while Boylan had one leg broken and was otherwise injured. The companies were sued for damages, and it was alleged the accident was due to the defective construction of the pole. Carey's widow and child obtained a verdict for $10,000 against the companies recently, and a compromise was reached with Boylan last week, after the case had proceeded to trial, by which he receives $4,000. Boylan's present physical condition was not stated at the trial, but from the amount agreed upon as the award by the corporations he was evidently seriously injured.
