MANCHESTER

Mrs. William Abkin died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin F. Armacost, on Foundry avenue at 2.30 P. M. Friday, at the age of 66 years, 10 months, 27 days. Mrs. A. was in failing health for a long time during which she had periods of apparent convalescings only to be followed by out breaks of the chronic complaints and a siege of intense suffering. During the last year she became unable to attend to her domestic duties. They sold their effects and she made her home with the above family. For sixteen weeks she was closely confined to bed and was a great care of the dutiful daughter who day and night was untiring in her attentions and nursing until the end came. On Friday she was exceedingly bright and was able to sit up in her chair several hours after which she lay down and was siezed with a severe pain in her limb. The doctor was summoned and gave her a hypodermic treatment. She remarked, "That is the last you will ever give me." She was laid upon her pillow and was gone. To the doctor and daughter the call came at such a moment as they thought not. In early girlhood she became a member of the Reformed Church and was always interested in the prosperity of her Zion, but for a long time she was unable to practically manifest the interest she had. Her remains were laid away to rest in a family lot in the cemetery on Monday. Dr. Land improved the occasion by a house service from Psalm 90-12. Messrs. H. T. J. Lamotte, C. Abbott, Edw. Yingling, Martin Menchey, Cornelius Miller and Semon G. Shultz were pallbearers. Jacob Wink was the undertaker. She is survived by her husband, one daughter and two sons, Samuel and John Abkin, of this place. Mr. Edward Sellers, a brother, of Scranton, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Noah M. Sellers, of York, were those present from a distance.

On Friday evening, 27 inst., Mr. Harry E. Sullivan was driven to the home of Mr. Lawrence Snyder at Snydersburg where his bride-elect, Miss Mamie G. Snyder, was taken into the surry and they were driven to the Lutheran parsonage where Rev. J. B. Lau met them in the parlor and united them in the bonds of wedlock. After the ceremony they were driven to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs Edward Sullivan, on Foundry avenue, where members of the immediate families greeted them and extended their congratulations and they spent a social evening with the family and enjoyed fine refreshments served by the hostess. The groom is a member of the Drum Corps and his fellow members after furnishing music to the crowd on the square marched to the beat of the drum to the home, wheeled, and marched back to the hall. They carry with them our best wishes that prosperity and happiness may follow them during their wedded life.

Mrs. Jacob E. Musselman had the members of the Sewing Circle at her home to a social on Thursday evening, 26 ult., where they spent a pleasant evening in the social circle while busied with their fine work until the hostess invited them to the dining room where they enjoyed the good things of her hospitality.

Rev. T. S. Land will hold communion service on Easter Sunday morning in Trinity Reformed church of this place. Service each evening during Holy Week and confirmation on Good Friday.

Everybody knew the old bean tree on South Main street which in blooming season was a perfect picture. It stood the storms of a century or more and bid fair to add many more years to its existence. When it was planted pavements were not thought of but from the location no doubt it gave shade to the pump, but it was in line with the pavement causing a crook in order to get around it. The owner was notified to remove it but no doubt was loath to do so as it had stood during his, his father's and grandfather's lifetime; not meeting the requirements of the notice the street commissioner with a quartette of helpers cut it down.

For a century or more it shaded
The pump with its waters too,
Till the Mayor and Council it raided,
With authority the work to do.
With digging its roots were exposed,
And weakened with axe and saw;
While the block and tackle deposed
The giant old tree, by law.
Good by! to the century's land mark,
That was the pride of generations for yore,
You are numbered with the old shed and bark
To be seen never more, never more.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church will hold a name social in the I. O. O. F. Hall of this place on Easter Monday evening. The members of the congregation will be furnished with a small bag in which they will put a penny for each letter of their name. The ladies will not object to it being a nickle or a dime for each letter. If you don't believe just try them. Each bag handed in will entitle the giver to a cup of coffee and cake. The affair will be free to the public to spend the evening and a lot of cash while indulging in the ice cream, confectionery &c., on sale. They also will present a program for the entertainment of the crowd.

On Tuesday evening the Christian Endeavorers held a social in the lecture room of the Lutheran Church. They presented a good program of recitations, instrumental and vocal music, followed by a guessing contest of the prominent characters of the Bible. The name was pinned on the back of the person who was expected to give the right reading of the name. At the close of these exercises sandwiches and coffee were enjoyed by all.

THE ART OF FINE NEEDLE WORK

Let no one say that old fashioned quilts are obselete, or quaint customed quilting parties a thing of the past, or our grandmothers were the only cooks. Any of the fortunate ones who accepted the invitation of Mrs. D. N. Leister, of "Deer Park Farm," near Mechanicsville, Wednesday, March 25,

With needle and thimble
And fingers very nimble,

can attest that quilting is not a lost art. Mrs. Leister's home was thrown open with true Carroll county courtesy. Everyone and everything beamed. The guests plied the needle to the hum of voices, while the very dishes must have been provided with the proverbial legs like the:

"Dish ran away with the spoon," for something moved somewhere to have had such a repast as graced the noon-day board. Mrs. Leister was a veritable Queen of the kitchen and with the faithful cook, Mrs. Bill Haines, had fowls, meats and accessories even to "angle food" served to a nicety. It was a continual table d'hote, refreshments served at 3 P. M. and late supper. Mrs. Andrew Shaffer, of Hampstead, made the after dinner speech, to the delight of the company.

Three beautiful quilts were quilted and hemmed—three cats were sought to place in the quilts and toss. While fun reigned within, Master Russell Leister saw that the faithful horses of the guests enjoyed the well-filled feed racks of the model farm-barn.

The guests of Mrs. Leister were: Mesdames Frank Stocksdale, Jabez N. Barnes, Thomas F. Dell, Herschel Ford, Carroll Stocksdale, James Bowers, Andrew Shaffer, Margaret Burns, R. F. Wills, Lewis Breaning, Jesse Myers and daughter, Clinton Shipley, John Conaway, Jesse Patterson, and daughter, George Frizzell, Oscar Barnes, Geo. Benson, Emmett Prough, Joseph C. Wailes, Chas. Bollinger, Horace Shipley and daughter, D. H. Leister and Mrs. Rachel McNeil, of Glenmorris.

UNION MILLS

The first of the series of district school teacher meetings arranged for our county, took place at Carroll Academy on the 1st inst., there being present on the occasion, besides Prof. George F. Morelock, county examiner, the following named teachers: Misses Eva Knadler, Helen Stonesifer, Mary Copenhaver, Mabel Albert, Miss Shriner and Miss Hornberger, and Messrs. Albert J. Bemiller, Raymond Markel, H. S. Yingling, C. C. Livingston and James Harner. The teachers of the distrtict provided both dinner and supper for the guests, the meals consisting of chicken soup, cold ham and other good things for the inner man. Mrs. Ira G. Lawyer and Mrs. Albert J. Bemiller prepared the meals which were served in the primary room. The discussions of the teachers were such as pertained to the various departments of their work and it is believed will prove of great benefit to all those who were present. Prof. Morelock, the guest of honor, was highly pleased with the reception and entertainment given him at Union Mills by the teachers of Myers district.

Mr. Harry L. Cretin is the crack marksman of our district. One day last week with his Stevens 22 rifle, he shot and killed a blackbird at a distance of at least a hundred yrds, and a few days later killed two blackbirds with one bullet at nearly the same distance.
