My dear Dr Morris

You will be surprised at our long silence, but do not imagine that though we have not written we have quite forgotten our dear friends - We have often spoken of both your dear Mrs Morris, & I have fully intended writing every time during the past ten months. Indeed I must take all blame for silence as I begged Mama to let me announce my own good news - Then I delayed & hoping that I should be able tell you more about myself & thus the time has rapidly flown away, & I feel quite ashamed - However please forgive me, & accept putting silence down to neglect.
