DROWNING ACCIDENTS

One of the most distressing aspects of the summer season is the number of drowning accidents. Every Monday morning's paper through the warm weather brings a catalogue of deaths, "drowned while bathing." All through the week, from the surf bathing beach, to the village swimming hole, there is one long story of sorrow and death. Overturned canoes and row and sail boats contribute a heavy toll.

And the parent does not secure safety for his youngsters by teaching them how to swim. That may encourage them to go far out into deep water, without friends to accompany them, taking chances of sudden attacks of cramps and chills.

Certainly every boy and girl ought to learn to swim. With a little pains and effort, this can be arranged almost anywhere. Also let them know how many accidents are all the time happening from a too venturesome spirit. Young people should not be permitted to use canoes and boats until they have learned to quit fooling on the water.

MANCHESTER

When the Macedonian cry from Millers came here by paone, "Come over and help us, one home is in ashes and a second one on fire," it spread all along the line and soon a group of young firemen were in readiness with the engine but there was three miles between them and the fire and no team at hand to take them there, but the Coca Cola truck was on the street and the driver offered his service and soon had the engine fastened to the truck and in ten minutes after they left the square he landed them at the fire that was at its best on the second home with its contents. The boys at once took in the situation and saw the best thing to do was to save the stable of Mr. John K. Miller, which was full of hay and straw. They run their engine into place and soon had a good stream of water playing on it, reserving the chemicals in case any other home might catch, but after they got the fire within the foundations and had the stable safe they let loose the chemical working, which the boys say was as fine as silk and soon had the danger over, but like veterans they endured the smoke and faced the heat until the surrounding properties were safe. After the engine had gone Mr. Ross Blocher hitched his spirited bays to the hook and ladder truck and went to give aid at the fire but in descending the Redding Hill one of the single trees broke that gave them a tie up then and there. Leaving the truck by the wayside the boys went to the fire and did good work. Those to arrive first with the engine were Geo S. Motter, J. E. Leese, Harold Frankforter, Chas. Houck, John Atkin and Howard Hoffman. The latter had the misfortune to get his foot run over by the engine and is now nursing the same.

How about a black bass 21 1/2 inches long and weighing 5 pounds and 1 ounce. Such was the proportions of one Mr. Harry Hutchins landed last week at the stone quarries four miles north of town to where a company of gentlemen motored and cast their lines in the large quarry hole about fifty feet deep. Mr. H. went farther up the stream to a small quarry and there made the catch, while none of the others had a catch and most of them no bite.

Concrete pavements are quite fashionable here. In fact there is quite an epidemic of having them laid that keeps the Messrs. Shaffers, of Melrose, on the jump from one home to the other. They put down a fine pavement and walk into the yard of Miss Ella Leese and curb and gutters adjoining for Miss Mary Masenhimer and the Misses Dela and Laura Lippy on North Main street. They now are laying the long stretch of pavement with curb and gutter on York street for Miss Rica Cox, while they also are treating the old academy to the curb and gutter making a fine improvement on that street.

Mrs. J. E. Musselman, teacher in the primary department in Trinity Reformed church, took 24 of the little folks to the Zimmerman grove east of town on Thursday last where they all enjoyed a jolly good time. Among the games and fun of children so that when supper was announced all were ready to enjoy the good things that had been hid away in the baskets with ice cream for a dessert. Mrs. M. was assisted in entertaining the tots by Mesdames M. E. Getier, Talbot, L. Kate Shower, G. Leese and Miss Edna Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wentz gave a birthday supper on Saturday evening, 25th inst., for their six-year-old daughter Isabell, who had as her guests her cousins, Virginia M. Staub and Gertrude Barnhart. She received a number of fine presents.

The West Indies Cigar Company on North Main street closed out their business which has been taken over by a new company known as the Carroll Cigar Company, who became owners of the factory with stock and equipment and are getting in readiness to sweat and have all their tobacco stripped here which will give employment to a number of persons. They will manufacture the fine brands of cigars that their predecessors had ready sale for.

Mrs. Catherine Ginter sold her Germantown home to Lloyd Loats for the sum of $1050 which he will take possession of in the fall. Mrs. G. will move into her home on Fountry avenue.

Mrs. Rachel Decker (nee Shower) of Berkley, California, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Bardwell, at the home of Miss Fannie G. Ross, circulating among her friends and relatives.

Mr. George H. Trout, of Baltimore, spent Sunday here with his family at the home of his sister, Miss Belinda Trout.

With mercury at 58 degrees on Wednesday light wraps were comfortable.

Mr. W. A. Burgoon and family and Miss Addie Deinst, left on Monday for the Penn Grove Camp ground where they will spend several weeks at the camp which begins Friday.

EASTVIEW

Miss Elsie Conaway and Miss Estella Conrad were the guests of Mrs. Pearl Gazelle on Thursday last.

Miss Caple, of Philadelphia, was the guest of Mrs. Bertram Caple on Tuesday.

On Thursday of last week Mr. Charles Wagner and Miss Fannie Kolb were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Conaway.

Mrs. Thomas Jones is visiting her son, Thomas Jones, of this place.

Mrs. Emma Wicks, who had been spending some time in Washington, has returned home.

If we do not have rain before Saturday we fear the dust will almost close out the picnic grounds from view.

By the death of Mrs. John Klee, Jr., a good neighbor has passed from this neighborhood but none will miss her so much as those of her own family, and the husband, who sits in his rocking chair waiting and listening for her footstep, will miss her more than tongue can tell.

The news in the neighborhood now is, "I wonder whether we will get a good rain to make the corn ears grow?"

Each neighbor can be seen cutting the lawn or brambling and hoeing gardens to make a good impression to the picnic goers.

On Sunday evening while out on a spin Edward Wicks and wife, George Derr, wife and daughter, turned their machine in the direction of Eastview, arriving at Mr. George Wicks' Sr., about eight o'clock.

The Workmen's Compensation Act

The legislature, at its last session, passed an act creating a Workmen's Compensation Commission and providing, in detail, the duties thereof, in adjusting the compensation of workmen who may receive physical injuries while employed, such compensation to be made by the employers. The Commission is to be composed of three members, not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party. It will be invested with almost absolute power to administer this law. It will be one of its duties to make sure that each employer of labor insure his employes against accident or death. This may be done in one of three ways: By insurance in the State fund, by insurance in any stock or mutual company, by self-insurance.

But quite independently of the insurance, after the employe has been maimed or killed, the operation of the commission is that of an adjudicator between the injured person and the employer to see that justice is done. There is little latitude for argument. The State fixes the price of a life; it fixes the price of a hand, an eye, a foot, fingers or a joint of a finger by a regular schedule.

WHAT IS REQUIRED OF EMPLOYER

According to the law which will go into effect on the first day of next November, the employer furnishes doctor and hospital expenses in an amount not to exceed $150. The loss of both hands, or both feet, or both eyes constitutes total disability, and the person disabled is entitled to 50 per cent. of his weekly wage until the sum shall amount to $5,000.

Weekly wages is the basis of compensation. In no case, however, is the amount to exceed $12 a week, nor less than $5 a week, unless the person at the time of injury was earning less than $5 a week, in which event the wages earned will be paid to the injured person. For partial but permanent disability there is a compensation of 50 per cent. of the weekly wages according to the following schedule:

"For the loss of a thumb, 50 weeks; for the loss of a first finger, 30 weeks; for the loss of a second finger, 25 weeks; the third finger, 20 weeks; the fourth, or little finger, 15 weeks.

"For the loss of a great toe, 25 weeks; one of the other toes, 10 weeks; for the loss of a hand, 150 weeks; an arm, 200 weeks; a foot, 150 weeks; a leg, 175 weeks; an eye, 100 weeks."

MUST PROVIDE SAFEGUARDS

According to the new Maryland law, if an employe be injured because of the absence of any safeguard or protection required by the commission, the employer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500, to be paid into the State Accident Fund. There is also compensation for widows, children, or others who may be dependents on the person injured, whose injury or death threw the dependents upon the world for support.

MELROSE

There are rumors of another wedding. Particulars later on.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Crumrine announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Maria, to Mr. Roy J. Myers, of Wheeling, W. Va. The couple eloped to Pittsburg, Pa., and were married at the Lutheran parsonage on July 10th. They will reside in Springfield, Ohio. The bride was a graduate of Western Maryland College, class of 1911. The groom was a student of Gettysburg College.

There was a rush with onions everywhere two weeks ago. Then the price dropped, but now as we write wagon loads are being hauled to our station where the price now is $1.30 per bushel.

A balloon was found in one of Levi Stermer's fields by Charles Wentz with a card attached to it dated June 19th.

Lately two Italians passed through here with an old fashioned roller organ. They play quite a while for pennies. How they can and do exist on such small earnings is hard to realize.

J. J. T. Baumgardner showed your correspondent two cucumbers well formed, grown together same as if joined with glue.

The peach crop promises to be a large one, but the fruit is small. One peach grower declares that the dry, hot weather is causing the peaches that were large open fruit in former years to be smaller this year and klingstones.

Those who visited Chester Fuhrman and family on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Kriedler, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Geiman, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. David Leppo, Mrs. M. E. Warehime, Mrs. Wm. Wampler, Mrs. Howard Feeser, Mrs. Sarah Weaver, Mrs. Dallas M. Wilson, Mrs. Edw. Lasto, Misses Mary Baumgardner, Martha Baumgardner, Helen Geiman, Lettie Lasto, Hilda Geiman, Mabel Geiman, Romaine Leppo, Bessie Wilson, Helen Frank, Cecelia Geiman, Messrs. William Leppo, Earle Leppo, Paul Geiman, Mark Geiman, Noah Geiman, Robert Lasto, Melvini Kopp and Melvin Lasto.

MILLERS

Miss Minnie Hoover visited friends and relatives at Baltimore the past week.

An enjoyable party was held at the home of Misses Abbie and Grace Brown last Thursday evening in honor of Miss Mabel Fisher and Miss Cole, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Sullivan, of Hanover, Pa., and son William, of Milton, Pa., visited Jacob Zepp and family the past week.

Our village was thrown into a great excitement last Friday afternoon, when some of the neighbors noticed smoke coming from the roof of J. E. Richarts' house. They at once rushed to the house and called out fire and Mrs. Richarts had just finished ironing and baking and was in the kitchen, not being aware of the fire until neighbors ran to the house, where they worked very hard to get the furniture out, but the whole roof was soon ablaze and only a few pieces were saved. The fire started in the attic and had too much headway before it was discovered. The house burned rapidly as also did the chicken house, and soon the adjoining house owned by Mrs. Seipp was ablaze too, which caused a wonderful excitement as it was feared that John K. Miller's barn would burn, as it was so near the fire, but the men, women and children all worked hard carrying water to keep the sparks from igniting. The Manchester Fire Co. was there with their engine, which also kept the fire from spreading. The citizens of our village extend many thanks to the fire company for their kindness in assisting during the fire. The neighbors and everybody else also deserve much credit for their brave work. The houses are insured. Mrs. Seipp is visiting at Baltimore and when she learned that her house and contents were burned to the ground she became ill and is not able as yet to view the ruins.

Miss Cora Berkheimer visited her sister, Mrs. Charles Miller, and husband at Baltimore Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Bender has returned home after spending several months among her children at Jersey City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brilhart enjoyed an automobile trip to Baltimore last Sunday.

John K. Miller, wife and son Milton and Luther Wentz and family visited Harvey Rhodes and family, near Melrose, Sunday.

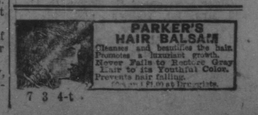

Miss May Landers, of Reisterstown, visited relatives here the past week.

Mrs. Henry K. Miller and children, Eva and Murray, visited Baltimore relatives from Thursday until Saturday.

To attract the crowd to a summer hotel, good food and comfortable beds are not so necessary as a lot of stylishly dressed people to sit out on the front piazza.

While the trunks seen at summer hotels are terribly heavy, it is felt that porters and baggage men always enjoy showing off how much they can lift.
