TREE WARDEN FOR WESTMINSTER AND VICINITY

Under a new State Law all the trees standing within the right-of-way of public highways and along the sidewalks of incorporated towns become public shade trees, under the care and protection of the State through the State Board of Forestry. Heretofore, the authority over such trees has not been clearly defined, generally the property owner who owned the abutting property claimed them as his trees, the town or road supervisors, as the case might be, claimed a certain amount of jurisdiction because they were along the public highway or street, while the pole line companies, which have a franchise or permit to use the roads or streets, claimed that whenever such trees interfered with their wires they had the right to cut or trim them. This has led to much ill feeling and many controversies and has proven very unsatisfactory. Now the status of these trees is clearly defined, and they are recognized as part of the improvements of the road or street, belonging not to the individual, but to the public generally.

This new law makes it a misdemeanor for any one to cut, trim or in any way injure one of these trees without a permit from the State Board of Forestry. The purpose of the law is to prevent the mutilation or reckless cutting of these trees, which add so much to the attractiveness of the streets and roadsides and are a source of comfort to the people. It takes many years to grow a shade tree, and they are worthy of the very best care and protection of the State.

For the town of Westminster and the outlying sections the Governor of the State, upon the recommendation of the State Forester, has commissioned Mr. Jesse W. Fuss of Union Bridge, to act as the local Tree Warden. Every one interested in the protection of trees should cooperate with Mr. Fuss in this good work to see that the law is strictly enforced and to see that the community receives the full benefits under its provisions.

AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS

Maryland will be represented at the Fourth American Road Congress which will be held in Atlanta, Ga., during the week of November 9th, by Mr. Henry G. Shirley, Chief Engineer, State Roads Commission, who will present a paper on "Heavy Traffic Roads."

The discussion of this subject, a most important one, will be opened by Mr. W. A. Hansel, Superintendent of Public Works, Fulton County, Georgia, and should attract the attention of all present.

A conference of the official heads of the various State Highway Departments and of the United States Office of Public Roads, will be held at some time during the course of the sessions to consider questions of mutual interest to the Highway Departments. A number of the States have gone extensively into the building of trunk line systems through large bond issues, notably New York, with an actual and contemplated outlay of $100,000,000 California, $18,000,000, Massachusetts about $14,000,000, Maryland actual and contemplated about $18,000,000, and other states in smaller amounts The methods followed and the results obtained will be carefully analyzed. Other States, among them Virginia, Georgia, Colorado and Washington have gone extensively into the use of State convicts for road work. The States of New York and New Jersey are now experimenting along these lines while many others are studying the problem. Convict labor will, therefore, be another one of the many subjects to be discussed at the Congress. The general program which has just been issued carries the names of twenty-six chief officials of Highway Departments representing the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Colorado, Washington, California, and the Federal Government. It is expected that by the time the final program is issued, not more than one or two states will fail to be represented by the actual official heads of their Highway Departments. These technically trained specialists will deal with all of the problems of construction, maintenance, and management of public roads.

The Congress is managed by the American Highway Association and the American Automobile Association, under whose auspices the 1913 Congress at Detroit broke all records for attendance, completeness of program, and magnitude of exhibits. This year the exposition will include Government and State Exhibits and several acres of road machinery, materials and engineering instruments.

The football coaches will soon begin work at the colleges, and incidentally the professors will be allowed to hold a few classes.

The kids are sent off from home spick and span for the first day of school, but there is plenty of chance to roll in the dirt before getting there.

IN MEMORIAM

Prugh.—In loving remembrance of my dear son William, who departed this life twelve years ago today, September 5th, 1902.

The night dew falls though in silence he sleeps,
Shall cover the verdure the grave where you sleep.
The tears that I shed though in secret they flow,
Shall long keep thy memory wherever I go.

Could I lift the veil that ever
Hides from me the son I loved,
Rapturously I should behold him.
Overwhelmed with joy and love.

In sad memoriam these lines are penned,
By one who loved thee best,
To my dear son whose power has gone
To his eternal rest.
By his mother, Sarah L. Prugh.

TWO VERY PLEASANT SURPRISES

SURPRISE NO. ONE

A few evenings ago the members and friends of the Church of God, of Westminster, decided to surprise their pastor by all going in a body to the parsonage at Carrollton. The plans for the surprise were made and carried out successfully. The large crowd came, some in automobiles, some in buggies, others in carriages, while the greatest number came for a straw ride on a large four horse wagon, which Mr. Warn Hollenbaugh, a farmer of about three miles out of town, who is a member of the church, furnished. The surprise was indeed a complete one. Mr. Gonso had not the faintest idea as to what was going on. On the same date of the surprise he was called to officiate at a wedding at Warfieldsburg.

After the ceremony, he called at the homes of some of his friends who lived near the village. Mrs. Gonso who accompanied her husband, knew of the surprise and she tried most every way to get her husband home before dark, but to no avail. At sundown the yleft Warfieldsburg arriving in Westminster about dark. Going home from Westminster they passed the crowd on their way to the parsonage. It was too dark to be able to recognize any of them. Mr. Gonso said to his wife there must be something special going on tonight somewhere, thinking there was a festival somewhere in the community.

Arriving home a few minutes ahead of the crowd, and after Mr. Gonso had put his team away, he began to water the flowers in the yard, when the crowd came over the hill, headed by an automobile. He stopped watering the flowers and wondered where the crowd could be going. In a moment the auto turned in the yard and stopped; by this time the teams were there also. He then began to realize that there was something special going on and that it was at the parsonage. After shaking hands and making all feel welcome, this happy crowd was given full possession of the parsonage; they especially took possession of the stove, the pantry and the dining room. The large lawn was lit up by lamps and lanterns. The young and old both enjoyed themselves on the lawn, it being an ideal evening to be out of doors. At a late hour all were invited in to the diningroom, where was a table very heavily laden with all good things, consisting of ice cream, cakes, candies, all kinds of fruits, watermelons and cantelopes. Coffee and cocoa were served as drinks. A fine donation was left in the pantry such as flour, meat and vegetables, also a good supply of groceries.

For this very pleasant occasion, and the many good things received, both pastor and wife express their sincere thanks.

After many hymns were sung and prayer was offered, all left for their homes, wishing for their pastor and family much success and many more surprises.

SURPRISE NO. TWO

The Junior Endeavorers of the Church of God, at Westminster, planned a surprise for their pastor. The Juniors invited their pastor to was the surprise of the senior members of the church. On the Sunday afternoon of August 30th, the Juniors invited their postor to be present at their service at a certain hour. Mr. Gonso promised to be present if possible. Arriving at the hour appointed, he found that the service was going on. He took a seat in the rear of the hall, and listened with pleasure to the rest of the program. After the program was nearly over, Mrs. Harry H. Harbaugh, one of the Junior Superintendents, invited him up front, and asked him to be seated in the President's chair. Mr. Gonso thought that he was called up for the purpose of addressing the Juniors, but to his surprise it was something far different from an address. The topic for the afternoon was "Pleasant Memories." The superintendent said that there were many pleasant memories that the Juniors could relate, but that it was their intention to try and prove their appreciation for the many pleasant experiences of the past by actions which speak much louder than words, after which a signal was given to three of the Junior boys who were seated back of the pulpit desk concealing the surprise. They then marched out in front of their pastor but not very fast, for each was carrying a basket which was heavily laden with all kinds of meat, groceries, fruits, and candies, and handsomely trimmed with beautiful flowers. This was indeed a very pleasant surprise for their pastor. The Juniors were filled with glee at the completeness of the surprise. Mr Gonso tried to express in words the feeling of gratitude that was in his heart, but said that no words could fully express his feelings towards all who were contributors in that direction.

After thanking all and wishing for them the great reward that God alone can give, assuring them that the Bible declares that not an act of kindness or deed of love can be done without notice of Our Heavenly Father, and after expressing his best wishes for the future of the society they adjourned with the Christian Endeavor benediction, May the Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent from one other.
