Additional Locals

By the distribution of public school funds, made yesterday by Comptroller Harrington, Carroll county received, from the public school tax, $10,391.72; from school book fund, $1,162.04; High School fund, $925.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Helm, Mrs. Helm's mother, Mrs. Maria Everhart, of this city, and Mrs. Polly Garrett, of Bachman's Valley, have returned from a visit to relatives and friends at Jersey Shore and Lock Haven, Pa.

W. L. Seabrook, of this city, made an address last night at the Sixteenth Ward, Republican Club, Baltimore. Addresses were also made by Honorable E. C. Carrington, candidate for the Senate; William Jas. Heaps, candidate for Congress; Chairman of State Central Committee, Tait, and City Executive, Padgett. The meeting was largely attended and great enthusiasm and confidence were manifested. A bouffe luncheon and smoker followed the meeting.

Early this week the Signal Service Bureau announced that a rainstorm was coming from the extreme West and would be due in the Middle Atlantic States yesterday or today. Thus far it has failed to put in an appearance and a more beautiful autumn day than this has rarely been experienced in this locality. The sky has been cloudless.

While walking on the B. & O. tracks near the Gaither tunnel on Saturday, John Joyce, 21 years old, of 917 Burgundy street, Baltimore, was struck by a westbound train and frightfully injured. He left the passenger train with two companions at the Sykesville station and was walking on the track toward Gaither. He was picked up and placed on a train bound for Baltimore and taken to the University Hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from internal injuries and concussion of the brain. He died on Monday. A few days before this accident an intoxicated colored man who attempted to board a freight train near the same spot, had both legs smashed. He was removed to a Baltimore Hospital. He had attempted a short time before to board a passenger train, but was prevented because of his condition. He had two bottles of whiskey in his pockets.

AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS

Governor Goldsborough yesterday appointed 40 delegates to the fourth American Road Congress, which will be held in Atlanta, Ga., from November 9 to 14 next. The list includes many of the best-known men of Baltimore city and the counties. Mr. John H. Cunningham and Dr. L. K. Woodward, of this city are among the delegates named.

FRANKLIN W. MITTEN

Mr. Franklin W. Mitten, a native and former resident of this city, died at his home in Gettysburg, Pa., at 1.30 o'clock, yesterday morning, at the age of 61 years, 6 months, 28 days. Mr. Mitten was a son of the late William J. Mitten, who was one of the best known residents of this city, where he was a justice of the peace for 30 years. Frank, as he was familiarly called by his many friends, began his business life by learning the trade of a cigar maker with the late Jacob Leister, but soon left that occupation for that of butchering. In 1888, twenty-six years ago, he removed to Gettysburg, Pa., where he continued in that business. In his boyhood, when only 12 or 13 years old, he became a member of Centenary M. E. Church, in this city, and in his early manhood was leader of the church choir for a number of years. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Georgia Cassell, of this city; one daughter, Mrs. Pauline Rodgers, and three grandchildren. He also leaves six brothers—Messrs. Harry B. Mitten, of McDonogh; William J. Mitten, of Baltimore; Theodore A., Marice and John B. Mitten, of this city, and Mr. George S. Mitten, of Sarnia, Canada. His mother's maiden name was Tompsey.

Mr. Mitten was a genial and kindly gentleman and had many friends in this city, whom he was always glad to meet on his visits here, and by whom he was always cordially greeted. His funeral will take place at 1 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon, and he will be buried in Gettysburg.

WILLIAM R. ANDERS

Mr. Wm. R. Anders, son of Mr and Mrs. J. T. Anders, W. Main street, this city, died very suddenly of acute indigestion at ten-forty o'clock this morning at his home on Liberty street, aged 47 years. He was a rural letter carrier and was taken ill while on his route this morning. He stopped at the residence of Mr. Uriah Bixler and took a dose of medicine. Dr. Thomas J. Coonan was summoned and after giving him medical attention he seemed to feel better and the Doctor brought him to his home in this city where he died twenty minutes after his arrival.

Besides his parents, he is survived by the following children: Ray, Charles, Frederick and Paul, ranging in age from 6 to 15 years. He is also survived by one brother, J. Thomas Anders, of this city.

Mr Anders was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, this city, the Westminster Fire Company and the Knights of Pythias. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. Wm. Hetrick, will be held Sunday afternoon and the interment will be in Westminster Cemetery. The Knights of Pythias will have charge of the funeral services at the grave.

Messrs Harvey Bankard and Son will be funeral directors.

EXTRACT FROM MINUTES OF STATE ROADS COMMISSION, SEPTEMBER 21, 1914.

Upon motion of Mr. Parran, seconded by Mr. Miller, Chief Engineer Shirley's recommendation, under date of September 12, 1914, that the County Commissioners for both Carroll and Baltimore counties be notified that the State Roads Commission will approve a contract with Messrs. Thomas, Poole & Hunter, of Westminster, Maryland, at their bid of $8,177.10, for the construction of a bridge over North Branch of Patapsco River, on the Liberty Road, between Baltimore and Carroll counties, being our Contract No. 328, this being the lowest bid received, and being $641.90 below our approximate estimate of $8,819.00, was ratified.

SPRINGFIELD HOSPITAL SUED FOR $25,000 DAMAGES

A suit for $25,000 damages was instituted in the Circuit Court for Carroll County on Saturday last for E. Frank Ely and wife by Guy W. Steele, their attorney against the Springfield State Hospital, a corporation; Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Governor of the State of Maryland; Emerson C. Harrington, Comptroller of the State of Maryland; Murray Vandiver, Treasurer of the State of Maryland; W. Champlin Robinson, John Hubner, C. Wilbur Miller, William S. Evans, Thomas J. Shryock and William Forsythe, constituting the board of managers of Springfield State Hospital, and Dr. J. Clement Clark, superintendent thereof.

The declaration alleges that "the plaintiffs are in possession of and residing on a farm near Sykesville, adjoining the land of the State of Maryland, in possession of and under control of the defendants; that a large stream of water, known as Piney run, flows through the farm of the plaintiffs; that before the wrongs complained of in the declaration the water of the stream was of good and wholesome character, served for all agrarian purposes," say t hecomplainants, "and enabled the plaintiffs to conduct successfully a large cattle and dairying business; that on October 1, 1911, and continuously since that time the defendants have polluted and contaminated the said stream of water by causing and permitting to be emptied, or drained thereinto, or into sewers leading into said stream, from the property in their possession (the buildings of the Springfield State Hospital), foul matter and unwholesome fluids, which were carried into the stream and upon the plaintiff's lands, fillinig up the bed of the stream and spreading out over the plaintiff's land, so that the water of the stream is no longer of wholesome character, is unfitted for agrarian purposes, impregnates the air with noxious odors, preventing the use by the plaintiffs of their dwelling as formerly used, renders the premises unhealthful and unfit for habitation."

The complaint further charges that the cattle and fowl of plaintiffs have been made sick and many died; that their servants became sick and frightened and refused to work for them, and that the plaintiffs and members of their family were also made ill thereby. For the injuries complained of they claim $25,000 damages.

INJUNCTION ASKED IN MAY

On May 28 last the same plaintiffs filed their bill on the equity side of the court here against the Springfield State Hospital, a corporation, and Dr. Clarke, its superintendent, making practically the same allegations and asking for a writ of injunction.

The defendants by their attorneys, Messrs. James A. C. Bond and Francis Neal Parke, in their answer admitted the fact that sewage does flow into the stream from the buildings of the hospital, but denied the allegations as to the polluting of the stream. In the equity case testimony is now being taken before the examiners in equity.

SMALLWOOD

The third annual Carroll County Fair will be held here October 8, 9 and 10, day and night. There will be two shows given each day. On Saturday there will be a grand tournament, the first ever given at Smallwood. There will be something doing the entire three days. Don't miss it. Look for the advertisement in this paper. All exhibits should be in on Wedhesday evening, October 7.

Our public school here is well attended. Miss Mary Weagley has 26 on the roll.

As Elizabeth Logue was on her way to Sayer's packing house she slipped against a knife which gave her a scratch over the jugular. It was a very narrow escape.

Mr. Ivan Sayers has been having his canning factory running in full blast. The tomato crop is fairly good.

The P. O. of A. held their banquet last Saturday night. We were very sorry to see that all the members were not present, still there were most of them there. A short program was rendered. The address of welcome by Elias Shipley was very good. Rev. Wm. Bauscher also gave a short talk on Patriotic orders in general. Solo by Miss Lillie Lambden. Recitation by Ethel Hook, called "Thy Kingdom Come." It was beautiful and very well recited. A trio by Elsie Conaway, Walter Wagner, and Alice Delcher was also enjoyed. Then it was announced that the table was ready for the guests. It was enjoyed by all. The occasion was a real social affair as on every side you could hear the members chatting together. We hope it was so pleasant that it will draw others into our fold. When the P. O. of A. met last Tuesday it was a real sad meeting as our charter had to be draped again for our deceased member, Mrs. Ida Whiting. She was a member that will be missed because she had such a genial disposition.

Miss Alice Delcher is spending two weeks with Mrs. Chas. A. Wagner.

COPPERVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Flickinger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lutz and children, Annie and Stanley, spent Sunday with Mrs. F's. father, Henry Sell, near Baust Church.

MARYLAND THRESHERS FREE TO USE HIGHWAYS

Hagerstown, Oct. 1.

Judges Urner and Worthington dismissed in the Frederick county circuit court the suit for injunction filed by the state roads commission to prohibit threshermen from running over the state-owned roads.

This virtually upsets the law passed by the last legislature prohibiting the use of cleated-wheeled engines on the state highways.

Six owners of engines were arrested in Frederick county recently on the charge of violating the law. To test the statute they gave bail for their appearance before the grand jury, which failed to indict them. Then the state roads commission filed the injunction suit.

The case will now go to the Maryland court of appeals.

WILL CONTINUE BUSINESS

Permanent receivers for the Oakland Manufacturing Company, of this county, for which Herbert Hooper, president of the company, and Attorney G. Ridgely Sappington were named as temporary receivers by consent several weeks ago, were appointed Tuesday by Judge Rose, in the United States Court. They were the temporary receivers, with the addition of Geo. W. Stansfield, a woolen manufacturer of Philadelphia, and they bonded for $10,000.

With the consent of all the creditors the receivers were authorized to continue the woolen manufacturing business of the company indefinitely under the jurisdiction of the court.

On April 9, 1894, the company was incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $200,000. Insufficient working capital was alleged to have caused the receivership.

In a statement issued June 30 last the assets of the company were placed at $282,464 and its liabilities at $82,464.

APPLY SLOAN'S FREELY FOR LUMBAGO

Your attacks of Lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yields perfectly to Sloan's, which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limbers up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief.

Apples Should Be Picked With Care

Should Be Handled Carefully and In Time To Secure Superior Marketing Quality.

HERMAN BECKENSTRATER.
Maryland Agricultural College.

When shall we start to pick apples? For the small boy this question is not a difficult one to answer, for he can decide immediately, act promptly, and think it over later if there is occasion. In the case of the grower, however, it takes considerable judgment and experience to decide when his apples are just right for picking.

If picked too soon, the fruit will be undersized, poorly colored, and inferior in quality. If allowed to hang on too long the keeping and shipping qualities of the apples are injured.

The time for picking red apples is generally judged by their color, and that of green varieties by the color of their seeds. The latter method is the most reliable indication of ripeness, for a winter apple, picked just as its seeds have turned a light brown and before they become dark around the edges will be found to have not only full flavor but also good keeping qualities. Frequently, however, red apples are left to hang on the trees for some time after the seeds indicate maturity, to allow them to take on more color.

The handling of the fruit begins with the picking, and the path from the orchard to market is likely to prove a bumpy one unless some simple precautions are taken to prevent bruising. Apples should not be grabbed, jerked, or shaken from the tree. Such treatment destroys many fruit spurs and seriously injures the fruit. If the stems are pulled out or the skin is broken, rot fungi quickly gets a hold and starts decay.

Good fruit should be most carefully handled. It should be laid into the basket or bag into which it is picked not thrown or dropped. The padded half bushel basket with swing handle and wire hook to hang on the limbs is probably the best thing to pick into In the case of the apron or bag, the weight of the fruit is continuously on the picker and there is additional danger of bruising the fruit while brushing or leaning against limbs or ladders.

CHICKEN-POX VICTIM.

ROY H. WAITE.
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Along in the fall of the year, many flocks of chickens become affected with a mild disease called sore head, or chicken-pox. Small, dry sores develop on the head parts of the birds that are not covered by feathers. The comb is the part most often affected in mild epidemics of adult fowls, but often the eye and corner of the mouth becomes diseased.

Simply anointing the diseased parts with vaseline has always cured our flocks, but I have seen cases where other diseases such as colds or roup accompanied it and where the vaseline treatment was not very efficient. In cases of this kind the other diseases must be treated as well.

The above photograph shows the scab-like formation of sore head on a young, half-grown chick. Some years the disease raises havoc in flocks of young chicks, but can be checked by the vaseline treatment.

The only way to find out what is going on in the United States now is to buy the home paper. The big metropolitan sheets look as if they were printed at London, Paris, Berlin, or Petrograd.
