Shortly before midnight of Tuesday an alarm called out the firemen of this city, who rushed to the residence of Rev. Dr. Hodges on College avenue where a blaze was breaking through to the outside, a couple of feet above the floor of the second story. It was soon suppressed and the damage it caused to the buildings is estimated at about $75, covered by insurance in the agency of Mr. James E. Smith. The fire started behind a fire-place and was caused, it is said, by heat from that source. The first story of the building is brick-lined and the second story shingled. Between the plastering inside and the outer wall there is a metal sheathing from which sufficient heat was communicated to a wooden studding to ignite it. The little blaze then crawled upward until it reached the shingles and then broke through them. It was fortunately promptly discovered and thus the building was saved from destruction. The house belongs to the Westminster Theological Seminary and stands in its grounds. It is said Miss Dorothy Elderdice, President Elderdice's daughter, first saw the blaze and gave the alarm. No damage was done to the interior of the building or to furniture of its occupants, though the firemen had to break the plastering and cause considerable disorder to get at the blaze.

Airy is to be filled from those examined at that place on the same date as the examination in this city.

Fire destroyed property approximating three hundred thousand dollars in value, in Hagerstown, early Wednesday morning. It started in a garage and spread to the Baldwin House, owned by the widow of Governor Hamilton, which was damaged to the extent of $75,000. About eighty automobiles, valued at $125,000 and owned by various citizens of Hagerstown, were destroyed, and the Antietam Hall suffered a loss of $30,000. Other losses range from $600 to $10,000. Company B, First Regiment, M. N. G., had its equipment, valued at $2,500, destroyed. The losses are said to be fairly covered by insurance.

For the Sentinel.
The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Civic League of Westminster was held at the Opera House October 22. Reports were read by the secretary, treasurer and by the chairmen of the various committees. The busiest committees through the summer have been the play ground, fly and flower committees and great credit is due them for the good work accomplished. The play ground proved a great success. Mrs. O. D. Gilbert, chairman of the play ground committee, through a needle work which she established and a luncheon which was held on her lawn during Home Coming week, raised the money to pay for all the play ground equipment which were not donated—the sand, lumber and a great deal of the work was donated and the toboggan slide was given by the Civic League. The flower committee and the children worked hard and attained wonderful results for such a dry summer. Twenty dollars were given in prizes to the children. The fly committee has been very busy. Mrs. Frank Myers, chairman, reported that 35 20-pound candy buckets full of flies had been burned. $159 had been given in prizes, part of which was raised by the sale of fly traps, a cake and candy exchange and part was given by the Civic League; also 1590 moving picture tickets were given as prizes by Messrs. Beach and Osborne. Miss Anna Shriver, chairman of the amusement committee, is getting ready an entertainment to be given at the Opera House, Tuesday evening, November 3. Hereafter all notices of meetings will be published in the papers. Westminster is to be congratulated upon the good work that has been done in the streets and the fine pavements which add so much to the improvement of the city. Progress is the cry of the times and Westminster is progressive enough to realize the necessity of an odorless excavator.

The Red Cross United States ship, which carried surgeons, nurses and medical supplies to Europe soon after the breaking out of the war, has returned and Mr. C. C. Beach, proprietor of the Opera House, of this city, returned with her and reached home Wednesday evening. He is too busy to talk much about his trip, but has been solicited to write a sketch of it for publication in the local newspapers. The little he had time to tell is of decided interest and the story he will write will be well worth the reading. In a brief conversation with the editor of the Sentinel he stated that the force of surgeons and nurses which went out on the vessel was divided into units in each of which were three surgeons and twelve nurses. Four of these units were left at Falmouth, Eng., two of them for the English and two for the Russians. Four were taken to Rotterdam for the Germans and Austrians after two had been landed in France. Those in France were rushed at once to a hospital where there were 800 German prisoners, and the others are now engaged in the work of mercy for which they went. Mr. Beach said little about his own part as an officer of the Government in this wonderful errand of mercy, but he was evidently not a very small factor in the mission. Westminster has reason to be proud of his connection with it, and the whole country has reason to be proud and thankful that the American people and their government are doing what they can to mitigate the horror and relieve the suffering wrought by this cruel war. The world, in all its past history, has had no parallel to this voluntary sympathy and help from a nation at peace to other nations engaged in bloody strife.

Mrs. Louisianna Hiteshew, the venerable widow of the late William Hiteshew, of Uniontown, was accidentally burned to death, at the home of her son, Mr. Nevin Hiteshew, with whom she lived in that place, on Tuesday morning last. How the accident occurred is not positively known. She had gone into the kitchen with her granddaughter, who left her alone for a few minutes, returning only to find her grandmother missing. Going to the front of the house she found the aged lady lying dead in the yard with some of her clothing consumed but her body not very badly burned. It is supposed she ventured too close to the stove and that her clothing then became ignited. She had made no outcry, but ran to the front yard where she fell and died. It is probable that her death was partially caused by shock. Her age was 82 years, 10 months, 27 days. She was an estimable christian woman and a consistent member of the Lutheran Church since her girlhood. She is survived by one daughter and four sons—Mrs. Harry F. Cover, of this city; Messrs. The men who kick the hardest about corruption in politics will not probably be able to go to the polls on November 3, as they can not afford to take their time away from business.

The War In Europe

CONFLICTING REPORTS.

Fighting Almost Continuous in Belgium.

Desperate Efforts of the Germans to Get a Foothold on the North Coast of France.

But Apparently Little Progress in That Direction.

German-Austrian Campaign Against Warsaw a Failure.

Russians Claim an Important Victory and the Capture of Many Guns and Thousands of Prisoners.

Berlin Denies the Story.

Apparently little change in the situation in the fighting in Belgium has taken place during the past week and thus far the Germans seem to have made little or no progress in their efforts to reach the north coast of France. It is reported that their armies in that quarter are being reinforced with 250,000 men and that they are bringing up their immense siege guns to operate against the British war vessels which are driving them back from the coast. They are evidently preparing for a desperate effort to reach the points desired. The allies are no less desperate in their determination to prevent this. A short season of respite from fighting followed the exhaustion of the soldiers on both sides, but apparently they are at it again. It is probable the Germans are determined to carry the war into England if they can possibly reach a point from which their great guns can bombard the coast of England, as the English Cannel is no. everywhere wide enough to preclude this. The destruction of human life in the conflict is appalling and frightful beyond comprehension, perhaps even to the armies confronting each other. Each day's news from the war zone in Belgium during the past week has only been a repetition of the previous one.

There seems ground to believe that the Russians have gained an important advantage over the German-Austrian army which attempted the capture of Warsaw in Poland. It was certainly driven back and forced to retreat. Probably the extent of the Russian success has been exaggerated, the Russian ambassador at Washington having been informed by his government at Petrograd that the invaders had been routed, with the loss of many killed and wounded and thousands of prisoners besides many guns and large quantities of ammunition and military supplies. The Russians are still besieging that city with the unpronounceable name, Pszsemysl and it is reported that its supplies of food are exhausted and that it will be forced to surrender within a short time. Its subborn defence has interfered materially with Russian operations in Galicia.

President Wilson has issued his proclamation designating Thursday, November 26, as Thanksgiving Day. If any people in the history of the world ever had cause to be doubly thankful to Almighty God for His many mercies they are those of America, in this year of Our Lord, 1914, and on that day there should be a cessation from all unnecessary business, and devout attendance upon Divine Worship.

G. W. YEISER.

A CARROLL COUNTY BOY TO HIS FATHER

By Mary Bostwick Shellman.

"Vote dry" for my sake, dear father,
I'm asking the question here,
Which do you value the highest,
Your boy, or whiskey and beer?

Your harvest will soon be gathered,
I really would like to know
If you had it all to do over,
What kind of seed would you sow?

Would it be the wild oats of revel?
Would it be the social glass?
Say, what would be the example
You'd set for your lad and lass?

I am only a little laddie,
And you are a man full grown,
Your harvest is ready to gather,
While mine remains to be sown.

How best shall I plant the furrows,
To reap in the coming years?
With seed that will bring you gladness,
Or seed I shall reap in tears?

I would love to be like you father,
When I am a man full grown,
And to vote as you always voted,
And to sow as you have sown.

But I want to be clean and honest,
And vote a clean ballot too,
Will I always be right, dear father,
If I vote the same as you?

I know you're a Christian, father,
And, so, on election day,
I'm sure for my sake and sister's,
You'll vote the saloon away.

So, please "vote dry" for me, father,
The day will soon be here
When you will choose by your ballot,
Your boy or whiskey and beer.

As Messrs. John Young and Clarence Zahn, of this city, were coming down Pennsylvania avenue on Monday morning about one o'clock, the stearing gear of the car in which they were riding gave way, the car drifted off and struck a tree in front of the residence of Mr. Andrew Fresh. The car turned over and both men were thrown out. Mr. Young was caught under the car and Mr. Zahn was thrown on the pavement. Mr. Young was severely cut and bruised about the head and face, while Mr. Zahn escaped with minor injuries. The front of the car was demolished.
