MANCHESTER

We were convinced on Saturday evening last that the people are interested in the question uppermost in the county, whether it shall remain wet or be voted dry. When the wets sent forth their posters for their meeting the town was crowded with vehicles and autos and the speaker had a large audience and plenty of music. Posters were circulated last week notifying the community that speakers would be on the square on Saturday evening to discuss the dry side of the question. That seemed to bring out an equal crowd that awaited the arrival of the gentlemen. About 8 P. M. their auto took a position in the center of the square and were soon surrounded by a crowd of men, women and children. Rev. Seabrook, after a few pleasant introductory remarks, took up the objections offered against the dry movement, one by one, and offered arguments backed by experience in dry zones that were convincing and in plain figures showed the increase of taxation by the figures and then appealed to the voters to mark the square after "For the Proposition," for the good of the county in general. Mr. George W. Yeiser then made his plea in behalf of the young men and the good it would do for the uplift of all. Rev. Dudley, of Sykesville, was then introduced and made an earnest plea for the young and rising generation that is subject to the devices wide spread to entrap them into the whirlpool of inebriety and wickedness and then presented facts to show that the young man of today must be entirely free from the drink habit if he wanted a position in the business world, followed by the bold assertion that he was able to substantiate his declarations with proof, concluding with an earnest appeal for the boys. Dug Hill district is placed in the wet column, expecting to give a substantial majority, in fact many persons are quite optimistic as to its outcome, but the little boothan all contain a secret and behind that curtain many voters, led by conscience, may make use of that secret and when the ballots are counted they may be disappointed and then who did it? We would not be surprised that much anxiety will be entertained to hear No. 5 and its majority.

The regular monthly meeting of the "Pass It On" Sunshine society will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. F. Masenhimer on North Main street, on Monday evening, November 2.

The Aid Society of Emanuel Lutheran Church will hold its annual oyster and chicken supper in the social room of the new church. At this writing the tower is about to receive the crown stones and be in readiness for its covering. The floors in the Sunday school room and auditorium have been put down and work on the ceiling is being done.

The ladies of the Willing Workers Aid Society of the Reformed Church met at the home of Miss Fannie G. Ross this week and while enjoying the merriment of the social circle busied themselves in making clothes for the children in the Hoffman Orphan Home, near Littlestown, Pa., and when the retiring hour came they had a creditable lot of work for the little folks and happy in the thought that they were obeying the Master's injunction and caring for the lambs of the flock. While these werer busy in sewing others were busy preparing a 5 o'clock dinner that was well patronized at the small sum of a dime yet it gave the promoters quite a surplus besides the pleasure of the social feature.

Mr. Martin Fuhrman, who spent several weeks here with friends, left for his home in Elmira, N. Y., on Saturday last, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Wm. J. Eisenbrown, who will spend theh winter with him and family.

Mr. John B. Baker, his sister Carrie and Miss Sadie Masenhimer motored to Thurmont as guests of their sister, Mrs. Shaffer, and on Thursday took in the sights at the Frederick Fair, returning home on Friday.

Mr. George Albright, of Glen Rock, drove here last week to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Elmer Lippy, on York street, where shortly after his arrival the horse took sick and died before medical aid could be administered.

Mrs. Howard Stump, of Baltimore, spent Sunday here with her sister, Mrs. Annie Brilhart.

The members of the Willing Workers Aid society of the Reformed Church had a paper sale last week. Messrs. Harvey Rhodes and Clinton V. Lippy gathered the bundles of papers from the homes of the members and hauled them to the station where they weighed 5170 pounds. They received 40c a cwt. less the freight.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins, of Pikesville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Motter, of Baltimore, motored here on Saturday evening, spending the night and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. were guests of their sister, Miss F. G. Ross.

Mr. Charles M. Masenhimer had a concrete pavement, curb and gutter put down in front of his cigar factory and Mr. B. F. Armacost joined and put concrete pavement and drives in front of his home and garage, making a fine improvement on Foundry avenue. But York street seems to want to take the lead in concrete walks. When the work in front of the public school grounds and along the unimproved lot of Dr. Trump is finished that street will have fine pavements from Main street to the home of Judge Miller, most of it concrete with curb and gutter.

A large truck with 25 or 30 jolly persons passed through town on Sunday afternoon and motored to the home of Mr. Charles Stoffle, south of town, where they spent the evening enjoying a royal time and entertainment.

Mrs. B. F. Bosley will hold an oyster supper at her home in Greenmount on Wednesday evening, November 4, in the interest of the primary department of Emanuel Lutheran Sunday school for the benefit of the new church.

A Congressional candidate nowadays is expected to contribute $10,000 to help on the cause of pure politics.

BLOOM

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Frizzell had the following guests on Sunday last: Mr. and Mrs. Charley Strevig and son, of Mexico; Truman, Elizabeth and Gladys Carr, of Pleasant Valley; Mrs. Catherine Carr, of Bloom; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carr and son Howard, Beulah Smith and Harvey Wagner, all of Bloom.

Mrs. D. Edgar McQuay, who had been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. M. Wagner, has returned to Baltimore where she will visit her son for a week and will then return to her home in Virginia.

Mr. C. M. Wagner, of near Gist, has a cow which dropped two fine calves on Sunday last. Both are living and doing fine.

Mr. Howard Barnes, Mr. George Bowers, wife and daughter Lula, motored to Frederick Fair on Wednesday last, October 21.

Mr. Leonard Frizzell has a very sick horse which seems to be improving a little.

Mr. Jesse Carr and son Howard motored to Frederick Fair on Thursday, October 22.

Mr. Harvey Wagner is through cutting corn. Mr. Edgar Bair helped on Monday and Tuesday last.

MELROSE

Mrs. Clayton Fisher, daughter and son, of Detriot, Michigan, spent a few days with George A. Houck and family.

Of all the jolly, merry crowds that gather to have a good social time, there are few to equal the birthday party that Ralph Bankert had on the 20th inst. Ralph evidently knew nothing of the surprise awaiting him, as he was sitting leisurely in a chair near the stove toasting his feet ready to retire, when a host of his friends rushed in bringing many presents and good wishes. There were people in the crowd who had talent for social conversation, some who had talent to tell good stories, some who had talent for music and some who could yell, so altogether it was a jolly crowd and both Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bankert want to thank all who were there. No one got into trouble but a large rooster who got in the way of the merry makers, but he soon got to a place of safety. The man who overloaded your correspondent with melons was also there but melon season is over, so Ralph did not get any for his birthday present. However he got many useful and ornamental articles. At a late hour they all repaired to their homes and will not soon forget that memorable 20th of October. Nearly 100 persons were present.
