Samuel Althouse, wife, son and daughter, of Littlestown, spent Sunday with Mrs. A's. mother, Mrs. Jno. A. Anders.

Quite a surprise was sprung on Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. McKinney on last Friday evening. While Mr. and Mrs. McKinney was attending the entertainment at the hall their relatives and friends assisted by Miss Isabella McKinney and Miss Jenny Galt, planned the surprise. So skillfully was the affair managed that Mr. and Mrs. McKinney were in complete ignorance of the affair until they entered the house. The occasion was the twenty fifth anniversary of their marriage, also Mr. McKinney's birthday. About thirty were present, including guests from Taneytown, Keymar, New Windsor, Gettysburg and Hunterstown. At quite an early hour in the morning all departed for their homes after spending a delightful evening and wishing Mr. and Mrs. McKinney many more such anniversaries.

SHIPLEY

On Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Shipley entertained the following guests: Mrs. Laura Arnold, of Harford county; Mrs. Laura Wagner and Lillie Lamden, of Smallwoodd; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. SILVER RUN

Saturday, November 28, there were 26 cattle and 49 hogs belonging to Mr. Charles Maus and 22 cattle and 35 hogs belonging to Mr. Harry Babylon, both of near Silver Run, killed. The animals were suffering from the foot-and-mouth disease. A trench 60 feet long, 7 feet wide and 7 feet deep was dug and quicklime was thrown over the dead bodies. On Tuesday, December 1, the Federal Inspectors visited the Study farm near the farms of Messrs. Maus and Babylon and now occupied by Mr. John Bemiller and found a number of hogs suffering from the disease. The farm was placed under quarantine and preparations are being made to have the animals killed.

FALLS BOTTOM

We are having very fine husking corn and hauling fodder weather at present. The finest of the season. Everything comes right if you put your trust in the Lord for He says there is time for all things.

Mr. Amos Davis is having a well drilled. He says carrying water up hill is a very poor business, especially when it gets icy and slippery. Water is getting down to the low mark at present. We hope there is a good rainfall before it freezes up. Mr. Arthur Lockard, with his newly equipped engine and driller, is doing the work for Mr. Davis. He has completed several at Winfield and Taylorsville. When Mr. Lockard leaves the well you can depend on water for he is a competent driller.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Haines, Misses Hilda and Goldie Haines, of Sweet Air, and Miss Viola Carbaugh, of Shippensburg, called on Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haines on Wednesday of last week and spent a very pleasant time.

Mr. Augustus Fleming is busily engaged at present with his fodder cutter filling his neighbor's barns.

Quite a number of our people attended communion service Sunday night at Uniontown.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robertson visited Mrs. Effie Goodwin and Mrs. Daisy Newcomer, of Taneytown, one day last week.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Last Wednesday afternoon the friends and patrons of the Pleasant Valley school enjoyed a very short but interesting program which was rendered chiefly by the children of the primary grades under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Lillian L. Zahn. The most pleasing feature of the program was the dramatization of the Pilgrim Story. The voyage, landing and the first Thanksgiving feast was vividly portrayed by the children who were costumed in their quaint little caps, collars and cuffs. The Indians with their head dress and blankets helped to add reality to the story. The program also consisted of many bright songs and recitations suitable to the Thanksgiving season.

The road which is on the line between Westminster and Uniontown districts and which has been bad for years and the road commissioners and county commissioners were at a lost to decide what steps to take to repair it, has been repaired by the supervision of the road commissioner, Mr. McCaffrey. We have succeeded in laying a concrete and terra cota drain down by the mill which will catch all waste water and prevent wash outs. We are of the opinion that Mr. McCaffrey will have repaired a great many other places which is greatly needed. He seems to be the right man in the right place for the position he holds.

Salisbury added to its many progressive features an automobile street car service on December 1. Two auto street cars, carrying 36 passengers each began operation, and will be followed by several more in the course of a few days. The venture is backed by local capital, with a paid-up capital stock of $30,000. The company intends to put on transit lines between Salisbury and Cambridge, with others to Princess Anne, Snow Hill, Delmar, Berlin and Ocean City.

MAKING LIFE ATTRACTIVE FOR FARMERS' DAUGHTERS

Country Girl Winner Of $20 Prize In Maryland Week State-Wide Competition Tells What Makes For Contentment.

VIRGINIA LOUISE BYRD,
Of Worcester County.

In making the farmer's daughter happy, attractive country homes are first to be considered. The farmer's daughter should see to it that the farm house is tastily painted or whitewashed, the lawn well laid out, and sufficiently large to admit of flowers and shrubbery that she can easily care for herself; that the barns and other necessary out-buildings are far enough away from the house to insure good sanitation. Then if we add water, lights, and heat, much has been done to better social conditions, since our thoughts and feelings in a great measure are in keeping with our surroundings.

Such a home will want the latest magazines and books that are worth while, the reading of which will not only cultivate the tastes and desires, but open to them larger possibilities. A piano, a Victrola or some other musical instruments should not be lacking in adding to the refinement and pleasures of home life for the farmer's daughter.

She should, of course, be independent enough to hitch up her own horse and buggy whenever she needs it, and will thus be able to greatly improve her opportunities for social intercourse. In addition to this, occasional automobile trips can be arranged to more distant friends or to attend something attractive at the theater or opera for the automobile is no longer a luxury, but a necessity of country life. With such conveniences as rural mail delivery, telephones, parcel post, and automobiles, distance is no longer a drawback and the system of good roads which our State is building has already done much to better our social conditions.

EARNING EGG MONEY.

The farmers' daughters can earn money for herself in some home industry such as the poultry business on a small scale, or by having a vegetable garden whose products can be marketed at the near-by town, while she enjoys the ride delivering them, or if she has more vegetables than she can dispose of at the home market, she can ship them by parcel post. Dairy products, poultry, and eggs can be disposed of in the same way. Such things can be and are being done by many a farmer's daughter, who is well-educated, well-read, and is conversant in some degree at least with the public questions of the day.

The farmer's daughter in any community should never out-grow the country school. She shoould teach it herself, for she knows best the existing conditions of the children and having common interests can best serve them. Further, the establishment of high schools in many rural districts is doing much to better the social conditions of the country, making it possible for her to receive something more than a "common school education" such as has been regarded for generations "good enough" for the farmer's daughter.

FEEDING DAMAGED GRAIN A POOR PRACTICE.

ROY H. WAITE,
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

There is always a temptation when mouldy or spoiled grain is around to give it to the chickens so as not to waste it. While often no ill effects follow this practice, still there is considerable danger attached to the practice. The argument is often advanced that chickens running around naturally at large, eat feed in whatever state they find it, and still keep perfectly healthy. This may be true, but under these conditions the birds probably do not get an especially large "dose" of any one particular kind of spoiled grain and their digestive system is able to handle it.

Where one feels he simply must feed damaged grain to poultry some precautions should be taken. It might be fumigated to kill the mould spores or it could be heated up to a high temperature on the kitchen stove, small quantities being thus treated as used. Another method might be to scald the grain with boiling water a short time before feeding. The safest method if it is at all bad, is to use the feed for fuel.

—and must he fight alone? —will YOU not help?

YOU CAN help—help far more than you dream. What better way is there of living up to the spirit of this time of rejoicing than to let into the despondency of some sufferer from consumption a ray of hope and welcome relief?

Every Red Cross Christmas Seal you use helps to establish Hospitals, Dispensaries, and Visiting Nurses to care for the afflicted and to prevent the spread of consumption. Every Red Cross Christmas Seal you use carries your message of good cheer and help to some sufferer.

Do YOUR share. It is YOUR fight, too. Buy and USE Red Cross Christmas Seals on everything you mail or wrap—anywhere. Use them EVERY day—as many as you can—and remember, even one will HELP.

RED CROSS Christmas Seals

If you cannot buy Red Cross Seals in your town, write to the AMERICAN RED CROSS, Washington, D. C. for as many as you want at 1c each.
