DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DAIRY

MAKE BUTTER INTO BLOCKS

Simple Device, Recently Patented, Quickly Transforms Bulky Material Into Individual Cubes.

The simple device shown in the accompanying cut is a recently patented apparatus for quickly transforming a pound of butter or similar material into cubes for individual use. The material to be cut is placed in the trough or chamber between the strips and upon the open cutting frame, and in this position the hand operated pressing arm is depressed, which action forces the material upon the cutting frame from which it is forced and deposits the material in individual blocks or pieces of a certain size, weight and shape. The size and shape of the block can be regulated to suit the circumstances.

Butter Made Into Cubes.

GENTLE BULL IS DANGEROUS

Many Breeders House the Animals in Such Manner That Handling Becomes Quite Unnecessary.

The dehorned bull can crush one fatally. He is less dangerous than the horned bull, just as a man with a closed fist is less dangerous than a man whose closed fist holds a sharp knife. Dehorn the bull by all means and put a ring in his nose. Lead him with a staff having a snap-hook to catch into the nose ring and in addition always have a rope or strap attached to the halter ring, if he wears a halter, or to the nose ring. If the bull pulls the staff out of one's hand he can still hang on to the strap if the nose ring breaks out, or breaks, the strap or rope to the halter may help. Many dairymen now house their herd bulls in such a way that handling becomes unnecessary. The bullhouse has a gate door which hoists with a rope and pulley, letting the bull into an alley connecting with a yard of small size and with a high, tight fence. A cow may be let into the same yard by a different gate and the bull turned in with her.

SUGAR BEETS AS SOLE DIET

When Such Feeding Is Long Continued Animals May Scour—Milk Flow Is Materially Reduced.

Sugar beets or sugar beet tops fed excessively as a sole diet to milch cows will reduce the flow of milk and increase the live weight because they contain fat rather than milk-forming material. If such feeding is long continued the animals may scour and do poorly. A good feed of beets for an ordinary cow is 30 to 40 pounds per day in two feeds along with a small amount of grain and all the alfalfa or clover hay she will eat. Sugar beet tops should be fed carefully and never as a sole diet.

DAIRY NOTES

The milker's hands must be not only clean but also dry.

War In Europe

SUBMARINES AND FLOATING MINES DESTROYING SHIPS.

TWO AMERICAN SHIPS SUNK BY MINES.

THEY WERE CARRYING COTTON TO GERMANY.

NINE OR TEN BRITISH VESSELS ONE FRENCH AND TWO OR THREE NORWEGIAN MEET SAME FATE.

GERMANY CLAIMS THE VICTORY OVER THE RUSSIANS IN EAST PRUSSIA AND POLAND TO HAVE BEEN GREAT.

RUSSIA SAYS IT HAS BEEN GREATLY EXAGGERATED.

FIGHTING IN THE CARPATHIAN PASSES FAVORABLE TO THE RUSSIANS.

NO CHANGE IN WEST WAR ZONE.

FORTS IN THE DARDNELLES REDUCED BY BRITISH WAR SHIPS.

The war news from Europe relates principally to the submarine operations against Great Britain, which has lost nine or ten ships since the 18th inst. Most of them, however, were comparatively small vessels. Two American, two or three Norwegian and one French steamer have been torpedoed or sunk by mines. Among them were the following:
The Dinorah, French, small steamer, torpedoed, but reached a port in damaged condition.
Belridge and Rezin, small Norwegian steamers, sunk by mines or torpedoed, off Dover, England.
American steamer Evelyn, sunk by mine in North sea, and American steamer Carib, sunk off German coast, both by mines. They were carrying cargoes of cotton for Germany.
British collier, sunk in English Channel; Devonshire, small Irish coaster, sunk in Irish sea; Oakey, British merchant ship, sunk by submarine; Rio Parana, small British steamer, sunk by submarine; small British steamer, Deptford, sunk by submarine off Scarborough; Western Coast, small British Steamer, sunk by submarine in English channel. Except a very few men the crews of all the vessels lost were saved. Germany persists in claiming that the British collier sunk was a troop ship carrying soldiers to France. That sort of exaggeration is probably resorted to for the purpose of keeping up the spirits of the German people, and gives ground for believing that the German victory over the Russians in East Prussia and Poland, heretofore reported, was less decided than claimed. The Russians have reoccupied some of the places lost, and denying the extent of the German victory.
Severe fighting has been going on in the Carpathian passes, with reported Russian successes, but no particulars.
In the West war zone the situation is unchanged, except that the Cathedral of Rheims has been further damaged by a German bombardment.
The reduction of the fortifications guarding the Dardanelles, by British war ships, is reported. That may open the way to Constantinople.
Germany is uneasy about the attitude of Italy, and is urging Austria to insure Italian neutrality by ceding considerable former territory of that country, back to her.
The U. S. Government at Washington has proposed to Germany and Great Britain that they come to an arrangement by which Germany shall abandon her submarine warfare against the latter, in consideration of the free admission of food stuffs to the former. The exact terms of the proposition have not been made public, but it is said that Germany is willing to consider it but that the British people are a unit against it.

President Wilson talks up pretty bold to Germany and England and the newspapers are preparing for war by putting in new typewriter ribbons.

The fact that a man sits up to 11 P. M. studying the seed catalog does not necessarily mean that he will work in the garden until 11 A. M. on some of those warm spring days.

It is hoped we don't get into war with Germany, as it will take all the time of our soldiers this spring to rake up the front yards at the army posts.

Inasmuch as housecleaning was thoroughly done last year, surprise is felt by the men that their relentless wives feel it necessary to repeat the process this spring.

Signs warning motorists against high speed are being erected in many places and if the motorists would slow down they might be able to read them.

THE LOVED ONES IN HEAVEN

By Harriet Bollinger.

The following beautiful poem was written by Miss Bollinger and was published in The Methodist Protestant, in Baltimore, Dec. 15, 1897. It has peculiar interest in view of the recent tragic death of its author. Who shall say that that pure spirited christian is not realizing the full fruition of her longing, and is now abiding, not simply sojourning, in that fair land of song, and in companionship with the loved ones in heaven.

If I might a pilgrimage make unto heaven,
Might sojourn awhile in that fair land of song;
My first happy moments I know would be given,
To worship profoundest before the great throne.

Forgetting all else, I would cry, "Holy, holy,"
In exceeding great majesty there I should see
The King in His beauty, the King in His glory,
The King of all heaven so dear unto me.

When at last I awoke from enchantment and wonder,
And remembered I stood in the courts of the King;
Then unmindful of mansions, the mansions of splendor,
Of which I have pondered and oft loved to sing,

Scarce beholding the angels, delight of my visions,
In quest of the loved ones my swift feet should flee;
Those bright happy loved ones, those glorified loved ones,
Those loved ones in heaven, so dear unto me.

How entrancing the smiles of their glad recognition,
What bliss when I heard them once more speak my name;
Their welcome would be like some blest benediction,
The joys of that moment I could not proclaim.

I would linger beside them, I'd sing hallelujahs,
Again in their presence so happy to be;
Oh bright, blessed loved ones, oh glorified loved ones,
Oh loved ones in heaven so dear unto me.

NECESSITIES FOR THE HOGS

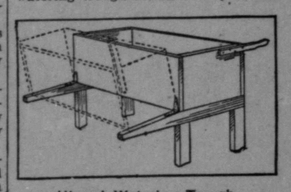

Water Troughs Should Be Arranged So That They Can Be Emptied Quickly and Then Cleaned.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)
Hog troughs should be arranged so that they can be quickly and thoroughly cleaned and all feed left over removed.
It is a good practice to have the water troughs made so they can be emptied as soon as the hogs have drunk their fill, as this prevents troughs from becoming filthy by the hogs walking and rooting in them.
Hogs need a moderate amount of salt but if it is placed in large quantities where they can reach it at all times occasionally they will eat more than is good for them.
Never send a hog hungry to bed any more than you would a boy. A heavy feed at night will help to keep up the heat.
After experience with both permanent hog houses, and small portable shelters that can be readily moved from place to place, the writer considers the small colony house much superior, so far as maintaining the health of the swine is concerned, and they are also less expensive.
Whichever type of house is used, it should have a good floor that can be easily cleaned and disinfected. In dry weather a dirt floor becomes worked up into a fine dust that is injurious to pigs when inhaled; in wet weather it is difficult to keep the bed dry.
Bedding for swine should be scant, but of good quality. Forest leaves or corn husks make excellent bedding. Straw soon becomes ground into a dust that is irritating to the lungs and makes the pigs cough. When infected with germs it is liable to cause chronic pneumonia.
All hog houses should be kept clean; they should be thoroughly disinfected every two or three months and a coat of disinfecting whitewash applied.

Watering Trough Mounted on Crosspieces So That It Can Be Tipped Upon Its Side to Drain.

As the usual method of draining a watering trough for horses by means of a plug or valve was unsatisfactory on account of the freezing up of the parts, I set out to devise some other means and the result was the hinged construction shown in the sketch, writes Thos. L. Parker of Wibaux, Mont., in Popular Mechanics. For this purpose the trough was mounted on crosspieces in the usual manner and hinges were placed at one side so that the trough could be tipped upon its side to drain. A small handle may be nailed at the end of the trough to make the tipping easier.

Hinged Watering Trough.

PROPER CARE OF THE HORSE

Idle Animals Often Are Injured or Lost by Overfeeding—Many Colds May Be Prevented.

A Pennsylvania man had a fine young horse die from nothing in the world but overfeeding when not in work. If he had cut the ration down to one-half while the animal was standing in the stable idle, it would not have had azoturia, a disease that is almost always fatal.
When your horses take cold, a few drops of oil of tar dropped into the feed will do a lot of good.
When you put the horse in the stable, wet from hard work or driving on the road, rub down first with dry straw, then put on a light blanket, later following with a heavier one. A horse cared for that way will rarely take cold.

Selecting Sows for Breeding.
Every sow selected for breeding purposes should be docile. An irritable, nervous animal will prove unsatisfactory for breeding. Young pigs do not always betray this peculiarity, even though they possess it in a high degree, hence the character of the mother should be noted in this respect.

Charcoal Is Valuable Adjunct.
Charcoal is a very safe and valuable adjunct to your feeding variety. A little of it goes a long way, but that little tends to keep everything in health. If the coal is hard to obtain burn some corn and feed that while it is fresh at least twice a week and it will be of benefit to all partakers.
