HONOR MISS WRIGHT'S MEMORY

A bronze tablet to the memory of Miss Elsie Clayland Wright, who for 22 years was president of the Anchorage, Thames street and Broadway, Baltimore, was unveiled at the annual meeting of the board of directors held at the Anchorage Monday afternoon. Owing to ill health Miss Wright resigned from the management of the home a year ago, and a few months later she died.

Preceding the unveiling the business meeting of the board of directors was held at the Port Mission, 815 South Broadway. The officers and board were re-elected. Mrs. George R. Webb presided, and reports were read by Mrs. Phillip R. Uhler, secretary of the Anchorage, and Mrs. John A. Welsh, the treasurer.

The report of Superintendent H. Busselberg, showed that 17,226 men were cared for at the Anchorage during the year, an increase of 3,574 over 1914. The number of individual seamen cared for was 6,848. Mrs. Webb, president of the Anchorage, and Mrs. Uhler in their addresses asserted that the present building was too small to take care of the work and that larger quarters were badly needed.

About 300 men and women attended the exercises in the Anchorage when the Wright tablet was unveiled. There was music and the veil from the bronze was removed by little Miss Dorothy Ford, daughter of Doctor and Mrs. W. W. Ford, and a grandniece of the late Miss Wright. Prayer was offered by the Rev. E. H. Kistler, pastor of Babcock Memorial Presbyterian Church. A sketch of Miss Wright's life was read by Mrs. Uhler.

Miss Wright was a cousin of Mrs. James A. C. Bond, of this city, and was well known here.

JOHN C. KOONS PROMOTED

A SUCCESSFUL CARROLL COUNTY MAN

John C. Koons, who since 1911, had been superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances in the Postoffice Department, has been promoted, by Postmaster-General Burleson, to be chief postoffice inspector, a station of great responsibility, and authority.

Mr. Koons will work directly under Postmaster-General Burleson. His new place puts him at the head of what is known as the "secret service" division of the Postoffice Department. As chief inspector, he will direct all investigations into charges involving fraudulent uses of the mails and against postmasters. He also has the power to walk into postoffices and reorganize them upon a more efficient operating base. The salary is $4,000 a year.

Mr. Koons has risen from the ranks in the postal service. He was appointed March [illegible] 1895, a railway postal clerk and handled mail on the railroads in Maryland. His work attracted the attention of his chiefs and in 1906 he was transferred to Washington and made a postoffice inspector in the division which he now heads. Since 1906 Mr. Koons has been promoted three times, until he was placed at the head of the division of salaries and allowances in 1911.

Mr. Koons is one of the parcel post experts of the department. He is now chairman of the Parcel Post Commission of the Postoffice Department, which was created by former Postmaster-General Hitchcock to work out regulations and improvements in the parcel post service. As chairman of this commission, he, in conjunction with Representative David J. Lewis, another Marylander, mapped out the plans of development of the parcel post system which have been put into effect under the Burleson administration. These two men are more responsible than any others for the changes in the service which brought about lower rates, higher weight limits and the "farm-and-table" service.

Mr. Koons, with other members of the commission, went to Maryland and there interviewed merchants and farmers for the purpose of getting ideas for launching the parcel post service on January 1, 1913.

Mr. Koons is regarded as one of the ablest administrative officials in the Postoffice Department. He is a master for detail work and possesses the fine tact and discretion required of a man to hold the position of chief inspector.

Mr. Koons is a son of the late Edward A. Koons, of Carrollton, five miles from this city, where he was born and grew to manhood, and where his mother still resides in the old homestead. His success in life has been due to his native ability, integrity and fidelity to duty. He is a Carroll county man who has made good upon his own merits.

MARYLAND DAY EXERCISES POSTPONED

The elaborate program which had been arranged for Maryland Day by the teacher and pupils of Pleasant Gap school, had to be postponed until Arbor Day, owing to illness of the teacher and to the diphtheria scare which has been reported in the vicinity of the school, causing a number of pupils having prominent parts in the program to drop out. However, on Arbor Day a double program appropriate to both Arbor and Maryland Day, will be rendered. Trustees and patrons are urged to attend as matters of importance to the school will be discussed.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Good Friday services were held this morning at Trinity Lutheran Church, Deer Park road. On Sunday morning the pastor, Mr. Seabrook, will preach on the subject "The Easter Message." The Holy Communion will be celebrated.

The War In Europe

NO CHANGE OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SITUATION

NO VICTORY OF FAR-REACHING INFLUENCE FOR EITHER SIDE

FIGHTING IN THE CARPATHIANS WITHOUT DEFINITE RESULT

BOTH CLAIM SUCCESS AND EXAGGERATE RESULTS

GERMAN SUBMARINES CONTINUE TO PLAY HAVOC WITH BRITISH SHIPPING

NEUTRAL SHIPS ALWAYS IN DANGER

THE DARDANELLES A HARD NUT TO CRACK

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL PROHIBIT LIQUOR TRAFFIC

USE OF LIQUOR BY WORKMEN CONSIDERED A SERIOUS MENACE TO BRITISH SUCCESS

The news of military operations in the great European war continues of a very monotonous character, and the story of one week is practically repeated the next. Military writers, in American newspapers, explain the effect of actions about which they know but little, but the American public reads everything that appears, and grows no wiser by wasting the time to do so. This is especially true of events in the Eastern War Zone. Both Russians and German-Austrians minimize reverses and exaggerate successes. About all that can be known of operations in that region is that fierce fighting has been going on in the Carpathian passes, and that the Russians have not forged their way through to the plains of Hungary, but have not been driven back from their determined efforts to accomplish that object.

Success, however, continues to attend the German submarine war against British shipping and many vessels have fallen victims to the raids of the undersea war ships.

Among these was the British passenger steamer Falaba, on which, it is reported, an American named Leon C. Thrasher was lost. The report is being investigated and, if found correct, it is stated that the Government at Washington will remind Germany that this country will consider the loss of an American life by the act of a German submarine as unfriendly, and as giving rise to the right to vigorous protest and demand for apology and remuneration. It is said the case is regarded at Washington as likely to lead to unpleasant complications.

The Allies, it is reported, are finding the Dardanelles a hart nut to crack and are not meeting with much encouragement in the effort to force their way to Constantinople.

Italy still halts on the verge of war and it is impossible to tell what her ultimate decision will be.

The British government is much exercised over the inefficiency of the workmen in its shipyards, through the alarming increase of the drink habit among them. So serious has this become that Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, declares that Britain is fighting three enemies, Germans, Austrians and Drink, and that Drink is the most dangerous of the three. King George and English statesmen generally favor a drastic prohibition law to correct the growing evil, and Parliament is expected to take that action.

There has been fighting along the long line in the western war zone and the destruction of many lives, but no appreciable change in the situation.

The captain of the Prinz Eitel Friederich, which sunk the American ship Wm. P. Frye, says a German warship and a submarine will be sent across the ocean to watch off the capes of the Chesapeake, to aid her to escape the British war ships which are lying in wait to sink her.

An official note has been, or is about to be sent to Germany by Secretary Bryan, demanding remuneration for the Frye and her cargo.

The latest from the continued fighting, of a desperate character in the Carpathians is that the Russians are making slow progress in their efforts to force the passes.

There are signs that Bulgaria may declare war against Turkey.

Two more ships sunk by German submarines have been added to those previously reported.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Noah Fossett, who departed this life one year ago today, March 30, 1914.

I often sit and think of you
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.

Some may think I have forgotten you,
And my wounded heart is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That's within my heart concealed.

In the month of roses,
I will place them on your grave,
And moisten them with tears,
And in sad tones say,
Sleep on, I will meet you in Heaven by and by.

By his loving wife,
Marian Fossett.
