SIDE ONE

Let us hear frequently from you. I wrote hurriedly to you on Monday morning and feel anxious that you should be careful ~~more~~ ~~lest~~ that you ~~[illegible]~~ on the R.R. affairs in your letters to London.

Your ever loving father

My very dear Son

Your kind & loving letter to your sister reached us here this morning while your brother Clinton was with us and as your sister had left yesterday afternoon. your mother opened & read it which led Dr Thomas & myself to hold a consultation. the result of which he will tell you. We thank you & all our dear children for your devoted affection & effort to contribute to our welfare & happiness. While it appears to be impossible for us to leave here at present, we do not think it best for any of you to
