MANCHESTER

Mr. Davd Asper, living 1 mile north of town, has the sympathy of the community on account of the accident that happened him last week. He cut down a tree that in falling lodged on other trees with the but end wedged on the stump. He sawed off the end to loosen it from the stump and cause it to fall to the ground. No sooner was the sawing finished than the tree fell and was thrown over so that it caught Mr. A. crushing him to the ground so tight that the log had to be sawed off before it could be pried so as to get the unfortunate man out. He was taken home and Dr. Sherman was called who found the bones of the one leg not only broken but mashed and the other leg badly bruised. At this writing he is doing quite well.

Dr. T. S. Land preached a special sermon to the graduating class of the Manchester High School on Sunday evening in Trinity Reformed church. He took for his text Prov., 8 chapter, 10 and 11 verses, from which, after congratulating the young ladies on their advancement in their studies, also the teachers for their earnest work in the schools, he brought out deep thoughts along the lines of education with an earnestness that held the closest attention of the large congregation present. The teachers and scholars of the schools occupied the front pews in the church. Dr. Land was assisted by Rev. J. B. Lau in the exercises.

The graduating class and faculty of the Manchester High school were the honored guests of Miss Fannie G. Ross on Wednesday evening, 19th inst., to a luncheon at her home on South Main street. The occasion was the birthday of Prof. A. H. Greene. The home was in beautiful decoration of white flowers and ferns banked upon the mantel and in vases all lit up with candelabra. The hostess was at her best and received the guests with much grace that at once cast aside all display so that all could enter into the spirit of the amusements that were in store for them. After finishing up the music and games there was a drawing contest that excited no little interest. The first prize, a beautiful boquet of roses, carnations and ferns tied with a white ribbon, was won by Prof. Greens; the second prize, was a birthday book, won by Miss Winnifred Masenhimer. Later on all were invited to the dining room that was a bower of flowers and ferns with the table appointments quite fine. Covers were laid for 19 persons. At each place was a favor place card and flowers. The graduates had white roses and the carnations. The luncheon was served in two courses, ice cream, strawberries and salted nuts, followed with coffee, wafers and orange straws. Those of the company were: Miss Fannie G. Ross, with the graduating class, Misses Mildred S. Hanson, Mae L. Musselman, Mary C. Crumrine, Winnifred K. Masenhimer, Anna C. Stultz, Fannie G. Shower, the faculty, Profs. Basler and Greene, Misses Celia M. Shower, Carrie Lamotte, the guests, Mrs. Basler, Mrs. Greene, Miss Carrie Greene, Mrs. Bardwell, Miss Adda Trump, Mrs. William H. Shower, Mrs. H. L. Musselman and Mr. George S. Motter.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of N. J., who were visiting Mrs. T's. parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, south of town, were visitors of Mrs. Wm. Lloyd last week with Mr. Taylor on crutches with a broken ankle that happened by making a misstep the evening before they were to leave for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Houck, son and Wm. Culp motored here on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. H's. sister, Mrs. Cornelius Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. J. Lamotte entertained Mrs. Albert Coss and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchins, of Baltimore, during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Motter, of Baltimore, visited at the home of Miss F. G. Ross.

Mr. Charles T. Warner, of Baltimore, was a guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas Shaffer, north of town.

Dr. R. S. Wells and family, of Gamber, spent Monday here with their mother, Mrs. Washington Musselman.

Mr. J. Simpson, of Washington, D. C., spent the holidays here with Mrs. S. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Loats.

Mrs. Lela Shenberger, of York, was a guest of her aunt, Miss Susie Bixler, at Whitsuntide.

The Misses Masenhimer entertained Miss Amanda Rittase ani lady friend, of Baltimore, this week.

The Washington House and four acre lot on York hill were sold on Saturday at public sale to the Westminster Savings Bank for 1400.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brilhart were driven to Westminster on Saturday and Mr. B., in company with friends took in the Pittsburgh trip that he much enjoyed and was shown over the city by Mr. Amili Diffenbach whose father was one of the party. Amili is to be congratulated upon his business career to hold the assistant superintendentship of a progressive car works company.

Dr. Wesley Weaver and son, of Littlestown, motored here on Sunday and spent the day among their relatives.

The weather man gave us a big disappointment promising on Sunday a bright clear Monday instead of which we awoke and found it raining with every indication that it would be a bad day that put a damper on the whole annual festival. But the business places and some private families undaunted put up their decorations. The Alesia Band met their engagement and enlivened the occasion. McCaslin, with the free show outfit, arrived on due time, and thus the morning passed with a scattered crowd around the square. At noon the teams and autos began to arrive so that at 2 P. M. there was a large crowd to witness the show and the business places were doing quite well, and the Zepp brothers were rushing the merry go round for all that was in it. Candidates were thick as hail, button-holing the friend and foe along their lines of conversation. At 4 P. M. the hit of the day was the attraction when the Darktown parade with drum corps and band made its appearance on the street in attractive costume, not only dark but as black as the ace of spades from the six year old to the gray haired sire. At 5 P. M. the firemen headed by the Hampstead Band marched to the cemetery and decorated the graves of their deceased members, not forgetting Nimmy. Although the evening was damp and threatening the young folks of the crowd lingered until a late hour, having a general good time all along the line.

The class night of the graduating class was largely attended on Tuesday evening in the social room of the Lutheran church. The following program was well rendered by the young ladies: Song, class; address of welcome, Mildred Hanson; class history, Mae Musselman; insignia oration, Fannie Shower; class song, class diary, Anna Shultz; class poem, Mary Crumrine; song, class; class prophecy, Winifred Masenhimer; class will, Mary Crumrine; song, class.

Mrs. Albert Eckenrode and son, of Pikesville, and Mrs. Stick and son, of Hampstead, were visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Masenhimer, during the holidays.

PLEASANT VALLEY

One of the heaviest thunder storms in years passed over our village last Saturday afternoon accompanied by rain and hail, doing damage to corn fields and vegetables, smashing trees and also doing damage to the fruit. Mr. Daniel Warehime reports two cows killed for him by lightning.

The decoration service will be held at this place Saturday, May 29. The Sunday school will march from the church to the cemetery at 2.30 o'clock where there will be services held. In the evening there will be a festival held at the hall. Everybody welcome.

CHILDREN'S WIZARD CORNER

STORY

This week I got up and what do you think I saw. I saw a robin trying to pull a string off of a post, and I said good robin. And the same day I saw a wren peeping over the nest and he winked his eye at me, as to say, you better had get away from here.

A FUNNY STORY

Once upon a time I was riding along with my father. I saw a mill, and what do you think I saw growing on the roof? Wheat. I said they will get a crop of wheat without paying for it. I will end my story now. Good by.

A COLD DAY

One cold snowy day last winter, near Christmas, I stood looking out the window. The snow was deep, except on the sidewalks where it had been shoved off by the snow plow early that morning.

As I stood looking out upon the snow sparkling in the sunhine and the deep blue sky, I thought how much I would enjoy a short walk in the keen, clear air, so I put on my things and went out.

All the houses had holly wreaths in the windows. They looked very "Christmasy." At the corner I saw a sleigh load of people. They seemed to be enjoying themselves very much. I soon came to a merry group of children going out coasting. Each one had a sled which he pulled behind him. On one of the front yards of one of the houses I passed five little boys were building a snow man. Further on I saw three other little boys having a snow ball battle. They were all covered with snow and were laughing so hard they could hardly stand.

It began to snow hard, so I hurried home. The warmth of the house felt delightful after my little stroll in the snow

OUR COUNTRY

Lord, while for all mankind we pray,
Of every clime and coast,
Oh, hear us for our native land,
The land we love the most!

Oh, guard our shores from every ill,
With peace our borders bless,
With prosperous times our cities crown,
Our fields with plenteousness.

Unite us in the sacred love,
Or knowledge, truth, and Thee;
And let our hills and valleys chant
The songs of liberty.

Lord of the nations, thus to Thee
Our country we commend;
Be Thou her refuge and her trust,
Her everlasting friend.

—John R. Wreford.

Self-reliance, self-knowledge, self-trol,
These three alone lead life to sovereign power.

—Tennyson.

THE GOOD UNCLE

Our Uncle Sam has got a heart
To help the world a bit,
He'll open up his garner wide,
And show his kindly grit,
And if the world is bound to fight,
Till all are put to rout,
He'll see the sufferers are fed,
And kept from starving out.

—Galushian.

Little Mary, who often appears in Lippincott's Magazine, had been sent to the store to get some sticky fly-paper. She was gone a long time and her mother began to feel anxious. Going to the door, she spied the little girl coming up the street and called, "Mary, have you got the fly-paper?"

"No, mother," replied Mary, "it's got me, but we are coming together."
