Announcement

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of State Senator, and request the support of my fellow Republicans in the primaries to be held on September 14, 1915. Numerous requests that I become a candidate, and a more or less general expectation that I would do so, as well as a desire on my part of representing Carroll county in the Senate, induce me to announce my candidacy. While fully appreciating the honor which attaches to the office, I look upon it as a position of great responsibility and of unusual opportunity to serve the people of the county and State, and in soliciting the support of the voters, I pledge my best efforts, if nominated and elected, to represent all my constituents faithfully and with credit.

CARROLL COUNTY BOYS SMASH ALL RECORDS

90 PER CENT OF MEN QUALIFY AS FIRST CLASSMEN OR BETTER

23 FIRST CLASS MEN, 26 MARKSMEN AND 3 EXPERTS

SECOND BATTALION, FIRST REGIMENT MAKES BEST SHOWING OF SEASON

Well H Company boys are back home again and glad of it too, doubly so on account of the knowledge that they all did their duty and made good. The work was hard, especially for the new men, but as the regular U. S. Army instructors told us we were being prepared for war, every one determined to stick until he dropped in ranks and had to be carried off the field.

We had only three men sick and they were only slightly upset by chang of water, etc. Friday was the hottest day of the year and though H. Company men marched about 11 miles, cooked their dinner in the open field and stormed the entrenchments on Pine Hill in the afternoon, only three men fell out. Some record, what?

Unfortunately Captain Weigle was taken with an attack of his old trouble and had to go to the hospital, so could not be with the men in the field work after Monday. Lieutenant Harry Berwager was in command of the Company and handled the men most successfully, showing great ability in the field work and receiving complimentary mention from Major Record on the disposition of his men in outpost problems.

Those who made record of Expert in H Co. are Sergts. Jno. Marsh, Phillip Bitzel and John Young. Those making Marksman and sharpshooter are too numerous to mention.

The trip was thoroughly enjoyed, the food was excellent and the boys are all tickled to death to know that they can go into the field in such hot weather and stand the gaff the way they did. They are ready and eager to go again, the sooner the better.

HEAVY AUGUST STORMS

The first days of this month have been marked by storms of unusual violence in this locality and elsewhere, in which electricity, rain and hail played a prominent part. The first of these storms occurred in the closing hours of Monday afternoon, and came from an easterly direction, and very suddenly. The wind blew a gale and rain fell in torrents, accompanied in this city by hail of considerable size. Vivid lighning and heavy thunder continued incessantly during most of the storm. Streams all over the county were greatly swollen and low lands inundated. Such details as have been gathered show the destruction of the barn of Mr. Guy Babylon, near Medford, was destroyed by fire started by lightning, the storm, it is said, was exceedingly violent in the vicinity of Medford where the fire occurred.

On Charles street, adjacent to this city, a dwelling house owned by Mr. Wm. B. Thomas and occupied by Thomas Summers, colored, and his family, was struck by lightning and considerably damaged. Weatherboarding was torn off and a window frame shattered. Inside two looking glasses were broken and a bureau and matting damaged. All the members of the family were fortunately at a neighbor's at the time.

A large tree in the yard of Mr. Isnogle, formerly the Judge Reifsnider property, was torn up by the roots.

The telephone in Mr. Wm. D. Reese's store, was burned out. The barn of the Consolidated Public Utilities Company, at Cranberry Station, was struck by lightning.

At Frizellburg a machine shed on the farm of Harry Cashman was carried away, together with all his vehicles.

The concrete State road from this city to Taneytown was badly damaged. At one place a hole four feet deep and eight feet long was washed from under the concrete work. The masonry of a bridge was washed away, closing it to travel.

Bear Branch, which flows past Pleasant Valley was higher than it had been for 30 or 40 years previously. The bridge over the dam at that place was swept over the breast of the dam and crashed against a tree which bent under its weight and the impact. It was carried on down the stream and swept the bridges farther down with it. Fencing on both sides of the stream were washed away.

The branches of the Patapsco in this county were higher than they had been for a long time past, and, it is said, the railroad track, near Falls was under water in some places. At Asbestos the buildings of the plant there were inundated and the foundations damaged. Everything movable about the buildings was washed away. Work was necessarily suspended for the time being and employes in this city were laid off. A few of them returned to work yesterday and all the work will be resumed in a short time.

To say that the county roads were badly washed is putting it mildly. They were made almost impassable in some places. It is reported that the State road between this city and Manchester was damaged to the extent of $10,000. The stones are showing on all the turnpikes. Corn wherever it was struck by the storm was leveled and tangled. It can hardly recover entirely from this condition.

High wind prevailed in this section on Tuesday night, becoming a tornado towards Baltimore and along the Chesapeake Bay, where much damage was done to growing crops and otherwise.

Another heavy rain storm, with high wind prevailed in this county between 5 and 6 o'clock, yesterday afternoon and added to the previous damage to the roads and corn fields. It was, however, not accompanied by a violent electrical display.

The saddest incident of Monday's storm was the death of Mr. Nathan Henry Diehl by lightning, an account of which is given in another column.

FARM ANIMALS

SHEEP KILL HARMFUL WEEDS

Generally Agreed Animals Eat All But Few of the Exceptionally Unpalatable Varieties.

(By E. L. SHAW.)

It has been estimated that sheep will eat 90 per cent of all troublesome weeds. They are, in fact, commonly used in cleaning up weeds from fields, fence rows, road sides, stubble fields, and corn fields. The common belief among farmers is that weeds eaten by sheep are so broken up in the digestive processes that the seeds will not germinate after passing through the body as in the case of other live stock. However, weeds are rarely permitted to go to seed if enough sheep are turned in the field while the weeds are young and tender.

In some investigations carried on by the Canadian government among a considerable number of sheepmen to determine the kinds of weeds eaten by sheep, it was generally agreed that sheep would consume all but a few exceptionally unpalatable ones, such as mullein, Scotch thistle, etc.

Where sheep have been kept, but where for some reason they have been disposed of, a striking difference has usually occurred in the appearance of the farm. Weeds have sprung up and grown where they had formerly been kept in check. There is no better solution to the weed problem than a flock of sheep.

In economy of production sheep are not surpassed by any other domestic animal. Besides converting waste products into nutritious food they will also manufacture a finished product out of the roughage and grain of the farm at least as cheaply as other classes of live stock.

The hurried business man can't possibly stop to help his wife with the flower garden, as he must hasten down to the office to read the stock market reports and base ball news.
