Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

About now the vegetarians are telling us to give up meat, and if a diet of carrots, parsnips, and beats does not agree with you, all you have to do is to eat beets, parsnips, and carrots.

It is noteworthy that all of the newspaper talk of how the various delegations in the Chicago convention are to be "swung" to this or that candidate originates with Democratic writers.

CHILDRENS' CORNER

LOCAL SHOWERS

Once there were three little children. They played in the back yard. Two of them were boys and the other was a girl. The boy with the hose was named Robert. The boy with the umbrella, was named William, and the little girl's name was Josephine.

The two boys were very happy but the poor little girl was afraid her brother Robert would squirt water on her.

Robert put water all over the little girl and then, his mother came out and took Robert in and whipped him, and put him to bed.

She put dry clothes on Josephine and William. And then they both went out and played while poor, bad Robert was in bed.

THE DANDELION SCHOOL WORK

The dandelion grows in fields. I have seen it in bloom in the spring. It has a yellow flower. It is a pretty flower. After the flower dies we a fluffy white ball of seeds. It has a slender hollow stem. The seeds are scattered by the wind. The word dandelion means, "the lion's tooth." It is a good name for the flower.

LOVE NEVER FAILETH

Though all the world is full of strife,
And brother claims a brother's life,
Love never faileth.

Though winter's cold and famine gray
Like wolves ferocious bar the way,
Love never faileth.

Though many hearts are callous, cold,
And glory in the greed of gold,
Love never faileth.

Though earth and heaven pass away,
And angels cease to sing and pray,
Love never faileth.

For he that loves is from above;
He cannot fail, for God is love.
Love never faileth.

—Arthur B. Rhinow in Sunday School Times.

The moss could not climb to the summit of the mountain, but it crept as high as it could, and then, pausing to rest, made of itself a softer path for tired feet to climb by, and a fresher slope for the descent of the mountain rills. And the weary traveler afterward remembered the moss of the shady cleft where he had rested as a part of the mountain itself, and the people of the valleys looked up and were glad of the greenness that marked the birthplace of hidden perennial springs.

—Lucy Larcom.

OUR COUNTRY

Oh, guard our shores from every foe,
With peace our borders bless,
With prosperous times our cities crown,
Our fields with plenteousness.
Unite us in sacred love
Of knowledge, truth and Thee;
And let the hills and valleys shout
The songs of liberty.

J. R. Wreford.

A teacher in the Swarthmore First-day School has started a Crusade for Peace among the children. The motto of this movement is "We follow Jesus and we work for Peace." A badge is worn by those who join the movement, a blue button with a white dove in the field, and the motto in white letters around it. This button costs 2 cents. It is the earnest hope that the thought will spread among all children and make wars in the future impossible. Any further information can be had from Caroline S. Walter, Swarthmore, Pa., the originator of the idea, or the Whittier House Band, started by her. A thousand persons have already joined the movement.

A PECULIAR NAME

Many post-office names are queer enough to make one desire an explanation. A minister in Kansas wrote to Washington, in behalf of the residents of a growing hamlet, asking for a post-office. The request was favorably received, and he was asked to suggest a name that would be acceptable. He replied that the people were not hard to please, so long as the name was peculiar. The post-office department took him at his word, and "Peculiar" is the name of the office to this day.

A CAUTIOUS CLIENT

A lawyer had a client, with whom he had long kept an account. When the latter was finally made up, the bill, mostly for trifling services, covered several yards of foolscap, as the items enumerated the most minute details. When the client came around to settle, he refused to enter the office, but stood in the door, and, holding one end of the bill, unrolled the voluminous document in the direction of his legal adviser, with the request that he receipt it. "Come in," said the lawyer, in his most cordial tones. "Not much," replied the client: "you'd charge me rent if I did."

A RECEIPT FOR SUCCESS

Keep your head cool—your feet warm—your mind busy. Don't worry over trifles. Plan your work ahead, then stick to it—rain or shine. Don't waste sympathy on yourself. If you are a gem, some one will find you.

Don't whine; tell people you are a failure and they will believe you. Talk and act like a winner, and in time you will become one.—selected.

A NEW BRAND OF COW

Little Maggie was very fond of pancakes. One morning she was told that she could not have any, as there was no sour milk in the house.

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, "I wish we could keep two cows—a sour one and a sweet one."

The famous detective gasped as he arrived at the scene of the crime.

"Heavens," said he, as he looked at the window thru which the thief had escaped, "this is more serious than I had expected! It's broken on both sides!"

"Have you any references?" inquired the lady of the house.

"Yis, mum, lots of thim," answered the prospective maid.

"Then why did you not bring some of them with you?"

"Well, mum, to tell the troot, they're just like me photygraphs. None of thim don't do me justice."
