W. S. ZEPP

Mr. William S. Zepp died at his home on north Main street at 5 A. M. Sunday in his seventieth year.

his moving to town he enjoyed a home two miles north from here During thirty six he was engaged in huckstering, gathering large loads of produce in Pa. and by wagon took it to Baltimore and served his customers, week after week. After so long a service he sold his route and not long after lost the use of his lower limbs that put him on crutches and later in a rolling chair. Several weeks ago stomach trouble set in that did not yield to treatment. Frail nature gradually weakened until the peaceful end came. His remains were laid to rest on Wednesday, Rev. Leatherman officiating. The members of Dainel and Jacob Lodge No. 23, I. O. O. M. attended the funeral in a body and held ritualistic services at the grave. Past Grands, H. B. Burgoon, Daniel Deinst, G. W J. Everhart, Charles E. Houck, Allen R. Lippy and Nelson Grove were pallbearers and W. L. F. Bergman, funeral director.

One of our well known old citizens of the district was laid to rest on Saturday in the person of Mr. John Frauk who died quite unexpectedly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Martin, near Merico, at the age 79 years, 2 months and 22 days. The remains were taken to Millers U. B. church of which he was a member and buried in the adjoining cemetery. Mr. F. was one of the old fox hunters of this section of which he was very fond. He and Dr. J. F. B. Weaver during the years enjoyed many hunts in the Gunpower valley and through the sections of old Dug Hill. While the chase was on they were in some positions on high ground where they could hear the tongueing of the dogs that to them was the most fascinating music.

Inquiry Follows Attempt To Wreck Western Maryland Express.

Elkins, W. Va., March 27.—Authoritics are investigating an attempt made Monday night to wreck at "Dead Man's Curve," near Elkins, the West Virginia Limited, Baltimore to Elkins, on the Western Maryland Railroad, imperilling the lives of 200 passengers.

A heavy log chain was wound around the rail. The fact that the engineer was particularly cautious prevented a bad wrecking. The engine was derailed and stopped only two feet from a 100 foot precipice.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS

The United States could probably learn how to organize the resources of this country if it could seize the memoranda of the foreign plotters.

Cumberland's gas supply failed Wednesday, owing, it is said by officials, to the cold wave of Tuesday. Superintendent J. S. Cunningham stated that the shortage was general, extending to every section in Allegany county.

George Vaux Bacon, the American newspaperman arrested in England as a spy, pleaded guilty before Judge Van Fleet to a charge of conspiracy to set on foot on American soil a military enterprise against a friendly nation. He was sentenced to a year and a day in the federal prison.

The contract for the erection of the handsome new parsonage for Christ Reformed church, Middletown, has been awarded to Mr. Theodore C. Shafer, a member of the congregation and a well known contractor and builder, for $8,000. Work will begin just as soon as the weather permits.

Albert O. Sander and Charles N. Wunneberg, who pleaded guilty to a charge of having sent spies to England from this country to get information for German military authorities, were sentenced to serve two years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Georgia, and to pay a fine of $2500 each.

Mayor E. S. Kugentugler, of York, Pa., has designated Saturday as Flag Day, and at 4 o'clock York's citizens will parade the streets, carrying American flags, thus giving public expression of their loyalty to their country and the President. When the parade moves the church bells will ring, so that the demonstration may have fuller expression.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says: "According to a Berlin telegram received by the Amsterdam Bourse, Berlin is filled with rumors that Germany has offered a separate peace to Russia. The terms offered are said to be complete autonomy to Poland, the internationalization of Constantinople, the evacuation by Russia of Austrian territory and a Russion protectorate over Armenia."

Frederick county's first public sale of potatoes in an effort to cut the high cost of living took place Wednesday morning when 100 bushels grown on the Montevue farm were sold in front of the City Hall building, Frederick, by Superintendent James A. Jones. The potatoes brought $2 a bushel. In the next few days another 100 bushels will be sold at the City Hall building by Superintendent Jones. The potatoes represent a surplus at the county institution

An attempt by three men to enter the Watertown Arsenal reservation Watertown, Mass., by burrowing under a force early Tuesday was reported by Patrolman David A. Thompson, who said he fired five shots at the men after two of them had fired at him. While the officer was pursuing two of the intruders, the other ran through the fence hole into the arsenal grounds, from which he later escaped. His companions were not captured.

Governor Whitman, of New York, informed members of the Merchants' Association at a universal training luncheon in New York Tuesday that he would draft men for the National Guard to bring the force up to the strength required by the War Department if the volunteer method failed. He explained that the Stivers act empowered him to do so. "It is not a power that I shrink from, gentlemen," he said. "If, in a time of war, cowardice and indifference menaced the public safety I would be as much the craven as the shirker if I did not use every force at my command to compel the slacker to take his place with the patriot."

Two men were killed and one was seriously injured Tuesday when a heavy rain and wind storm wrecked a store building in course of erection at Clyde, six miles from Charleston, W. Va., along Elk River. The dead: George Foster, carpenter, aged 50, married, of Charleston, and George Rock, carpenter, aged 48, married, of Coopers Creek. N. P. Ransom, carpenter, was caught in the wreckage. A leg and several ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured, probably fatally. Other workmen ran from the building when they saw the storm coming and were not injured. The building was being erected for a new coal company

The S. O. S. call was sent out from the clerk's office in the Hotel Belvedere, Baltimore, Wednesday, when a guest who arrived in a taxicab registered as Nicholas Romanoff, Petrograd. Everybody took a look at the stranger and a hurried conversation was held over the telephone. The stranger who bore the name of the dethroned ruler of Russia was perfectly calm and quietly went to his room without imparting any information. Later it was found that the mysterious stranger had visited the Belvedere before and his real name was J. W. Sweeney, of Philadelphia. He is a traveling man and thought he would have a little fun by registering under the name of the former Russian Emperor.

Forty-five thousand militiaman Tuesday night were in the federal service as home guardsmen in various states to protect bridges, public buildings, munition plants, water system and other public works. This number represents one-third of the total strength of the National Guard of the Nation. The War Department Tuesday night issued orders to halt mustering out of federal service of national guard regiments recently returned from the Mexican border. These orders affected 20,000 men and supplemented the force of 25,000 men in the National Guard called out Sunday and Monday. All of these troops will be retained under government control.

Because they violated an injunction of the State Supreme Court, Attorneys Charles W. Barrick and E. H. Yost, both of New Martinsville, W Va., were Tuesday fined $100 each by the court for contempt. While the injunction was pending, the attorneys had gone to Monroe county, O. and revived the suit there to accomplish the result the injunction prohibited in West Virginia. The case was carried up from Wetzel county, and the penalty is said to be the heaviest ever imposed by the Supreme Court of the state for contempt. The last similar sentence was imposed by the late Judge Henry Brannon in 1912, the fine being $5. The court also ruled Tuesday that a person protected under the Workmen's Compensation Act, but who is required to go outside of the state in his regular employment and is injured while outside of the state is entitled to compensation, and Compensation, Commissioner Lee Ott was ordered to pay the claim of Fogarty against Ott.
