My dear Sally

Your letter containing check was received this morning thanks you for sending it to me, but especially for your kindness to the girls who seem to be enjoying themselves so very much. I am so very much obliged to both Han and yourself for having them, and wanting them to stay on until you leave. I will be very glad indeed to have them do so, if you are sure it will not inconvenience you in any way. If you find it will be best for Han to be alone or if you want their room for others, send them down when one of your boys are going, and if they stay, please make them useful.
