0606

1885 March- June Galloway C. Morris incoming letters 1994

SIDE ONE

Ivy Neck
March 21st 1885

My dear Gally

Like most women I am neither convinced nor silent altho I have allowed several days to pass without answering your last letter. Excuse the writing of this as my hand is so cold I have not the proper control of it We are having for us, an extra cold spell of weather, to day however the wind has gone down, and altho the thermometer is lower it will not be as trying to one's feelings. I told you in my last letter that the boat came to our wharf every Thursday, I now write to say that on next Monday they change their days, and give us a boat on Monday