0614

1885 March- June Galloway C. Morris incoming letters 1994

SIDE TWO

mouth purple, this passed off after she swallowed some chicken soup (made of chicken jelly) and some whiskey. This morning at five she had another similar spell but the mouth was drawn and colour been worse, with some difficulty in swallowing. This has passed off and she now appears about the same as she has been. Thank you for your account of what you had done for Han when she was so ill, I am very glad to know of it and shall keep it in memory. The amount of milk and beef tea you mention is astonishing, and I do not see how you managed to get it down. The nurse is a great help in having strong arms and being able to lift and fix her more comfortably, but is not perfection. I am trying to take care of myself, I have been feeling stronger since you left. We do hope that Han will not use herself up with the packing give a great deal of love to her and to all for all of us. Mr Deale came down with Morris and witnessed the signature of deed and we have sent it to the mail. I have to write very hurriedly but trust that I can make myself plain. I do not want to urge your giving me a Mortgage on the Store unless you wish to do so But if you are willing to settle in that way it would be what I would prefer. I feel that it is secure and am quite willing to trust my brother to giving me what interest will be right and honourable. I do feel very much upset just now, Morris sees a change for the worse and