the time would be too short considering the expense and the difficulty of getting them home again. It so happens that Harry has to go to Montgomery County tomorrow and Charley has also planned for a sail down the bay for a few days. This leaves Rob the only man at home, and he could not be spared to go away. But we appreciate your kind invitation most fully, and I hope you understand that nothing would be more agreable to them than to pay you a visit, and I think that they could help to wait on Han, and not be a care to her, If I thought that they would add to her care, at any time I could not think of ever allowing them to visit you. Surely we all desire to help her to get strong and well and not to do any thing at any time that would even weary her.
I am very glad to say that Sally seems better since she has been taking some iron pills regularly. She has gained six pounds in the last two weeks and has much less headache. Robin work of trips to Annapolis or Baltimore gets along quite comfortably. I think his having more regular meals. He has given the use of Tulip Hill house and grounds, to Mrs Burwell, her son Elliott and his family, for a year upon condition that they allow him to breakfast and dine with them each day. This arrangement adds much to his comfort and enabled them to come out of town. They could not get possession of their own house until the first of the year, and then want to add to it before going in
