JOHN WILLIAM MAHALEY SUCCUMBS FOLLOWING SHORT SICKNESS—WAS PROMINENT IN LODGE ACTIVITIES IN HANOVER

Ptomaine poisoning caused the death at 3.00 o'clock Friday morning of John William Mahaley, 225 Centennial avenue, Hanover, Pa., following a sickness of about 15 hours. The cause of the affliction could not be determined. He was aged 65 years, six months and two days.

The deceased was a son of the late Frederick and Susan Mahaley, and had been a resident of Hanover for the past twenty-four years. While there he had been connected with the firm of J. F. Rohrbaugh, contractor and builder. Mr. Mahaley began hisi business career as a traveling salesman for a Maryland implement company and for seven years held the position of head mechanic at Haverford college.

On December 25, 1887, he was married to Miss Ellen M. Fitz, daughter of the late Joseph and Rebecca Fitz, of this county, who survives, with six children, Harry F. Mahaley, of Spring Grove; Mrs. Joseph Yingling, West Hanover street, Hanover; Estelle, Bertha E., John W. and Helena M., at home. One half- brother, Harry T. Mahaley, of Ardmore, Pa., and two half-sisters, Mrs. Rachael Polk, of Baltimore, and Mrs. E. A. Snyder, survive.

He was connected with the lodges of Knights of Malta, Daughters of Liberty and Independent Order of America and was a life-long member of the M. E. Church, Frederick street. He always took an active interest in the Sunday school, being a member of Bible class, No. 12, taught by Dr. Charles Wagner.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon. Services were conducted at the house at 2 o'clock by the Rev. W. L. Armstrong, of the M. E. Church, Frederick street.

Interment was made in the family lot in the Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Committees from the Knights of Malta, Daughters of Liberty and Independent Order of Americans, as well as employes of the J. F. Rohrbaugh and Company and members of the Bible Class, taught by Dr. Chas. Wagner, of the M. E. Sunday school, attended the funeral. The casket was covered with many beautiful floral designs.

MISS ELIZABETH CASSELL

At her home in Westminster on the evening of October 24th, Miss Elizabeth Cassell died, in her 89th age. She was the daughter of David and Elizabeth Cassell. Her name and family have long been connected with Methodism in this county. The family came from Wakefield Valley to Westminster in 1860. Miss Cassell was a woman of strong religious convictio n, and a woman of good deeds. The community will miss her kindness and the church of her choice will mourn her death.

She is survived by one sister, Miss Lydie, and a large circle of relatives

Her funeral will take place from her late home Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and will be buried in the Cassell Cemetery, New Windsor road.

Her six nephews will be her pall bearers.

Rev. E. T. Mowbray, her pastor, will have charge of the sevices assisted by her former pastor, Rev. L. Emory Bennett.

MRS. MARY M. JORDAN

Mrs. Mary M. Jordan, died suddenly of acute indigestion and heart failure in her home at 2411 W. Franklin street, Baltimore, October 12, 1917, aged 69 years. She had been about her usual work, and death came to her almost unobserved by the other members of the home. Her life had passed before the doctor arrived. She is survived by a number of children. While a widow her delight was to be of service to others. She was a consistent member of the Church of the Brethren, and has held her membership for a number of years in the Fulton Avenue Church, of Baltimore. Funeral services were conducted in her late home by Elder W. E. Roop, who has charge of the church together with the pastor there, Elder A. L. B. Martin. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful.

Interment was made in Loudon Park Cemetery.

MISS E. SNADER

Miss Emma H. Snader, only daughter of the late Levi N. Snader, died at her home in Frizellburg, Sunday evening, 21st inst., aged 65 years, 10 months and 5 days. After funeral services in the home conducted by her pastor, Dr. James Frazer, of New Windsor, assisted by W. P. Englar, of Uniontown, her remains were interred in the Meadow Branch Cemetery Wednesday afternoon. She is survived by five brothers: Henry M., of Baltimore; Frank M., of Frizellburg; Reverdy N. and Edwin A., of Westminster, and S. S Snader, of Connellsville, Pa.

She is also survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Messrs. Harvey Bankard and Son were the funeral directors .

MRS. E. S. COWMAN

Mrs. Emily S. Cowman, widow of the late Mr. J. Henry Cowman, died Wednesday, 24th inst.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard Stammers.

The funeral service will be held to morrow morning at eleven o'clock, at her late residence on Springfield avenue, Sykesville, and the interment willl be made in Loudon Park Cemetery.

CONDON—EVANS

On Thursday evening, October 18, 1917, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Raymond Evans, near Woodbine, when his sister, Miss Viola, was united in marriage with Mr. Augustus Condon.

Promptly at 8 o'clock to the strains of the wedding march, rendered by Miss Jessie Cheney, the bridal couple presented themselves in the parlor, where in the presence of about forty guests, the ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. G. W. Baughman.

After congratulations, toothsome refreshments were served, and the guests departed, leaving their best wishes with the happy couple.

MERCER—MULLINIX

Mr. John M. Mercer and Miss Julia M. Mullinix, both of Mt. Airy, were married at the United Brethren parsonage by Rev. E. H. Hummelbaugh, Thursday of last week. They were accompanied by Mr. W. O Mullinix.

On Sunday afternoon last, October 21st, the Loyal Temperance Legion of Sandyville, in charge of their leader, Mrs. Frank Magee, and accompanied by a number of grown persons, interested in their work visited the County Home, and gave the inmates quite a treat with their sweet singing and recitations. The Sunday Service Committee which is composed of Miss Mary B. Shellman and young men from the Westminster Seminary, very cheerfully gave up the usual service to the little folks, who entered into the spirit of the occasion so heartily and put forth their best efforts to entertain and please the old folks. Miss Myrle Caple presided at the organ, and Mr. Ulysses Shipley led the devotional exercises. Mr. Magee sang a solo and made a few appropriate remarks. After the services every room was visited and home made caramel distributed by the little folks. It is a great pleasure to the inmates to have these visits, making them feel that they are not forgotten, and teaching the children at the same time consideration and love for the aged infirm and needy.

The boys are enxiously looking for people who object to Halloween noises so as to make special disturbances in front of their houses.

Extension on Fair Terms Not Possible With Referendum

The territory annexed to the city will get city conveniences which it does not now enjoy; better police protection; better fire protection; better health protection; pure filtered water from the city's supply; street lighting; the right to connect with the city severage system; systematic garage collection; systematic street and harbor supervision for the development of the property to better advantage; the right to send their children free to the Baltimore City College, Polytechnic Institute and High Schools.

City conveniences cannot be furnished for county taxes by Baltimore any more than by Frederick, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Cambridge, Salisbury, Annapolis, or any other city. In every city people pay more than county taxes for city conveniences. The combined city and county tax in some of the principal cities is as follows: Annapolis $1.93; Cambridge $1.85; Chestertown $1.94; Cumberland $2.27; Easton $1.84; Frederick $2.15; Hagerstown $1.76; Laurel $2.34; Oakland $1.98; Ocean City $2.30; Rockville $2.42; Salisbury $1.98. The rate in Baltimore is $1.98.

Putting the belt into the city and furnishing it with city conveniences means that the people will have to pay more taxes than they are now paying, if they pay for what they get; if you insert a referendum a majority of the people will not vote to pay more taxes, even though they know they will get additional benefits therefor, although, after they once enjoy the city benefits they are willing to pay the additional taxes needed to provide them, as is proven by the fact that in all the cities of the state the people pay more than county taxes, and yet no city has ever asked to have its Charter repealed and the city turned back under the county commissioners.

The Legislature has more than one hundred times passed Acts incorporating and extending the limits of Baltimore and other cities in the State, thus putting under city government and city taxes without any referendum.

The Legislature of 1914 and 1916 passed many such acts.

LEGISLATURE OF 1914

By Chapter 93, the limits of Frederick City were extended and people in the annexed territory subjected to a city tax rate of $1.10 in addition to the county tax rate; by Chapter 257, the limits of Hagerstown were extended, and the people of the annexed area subjected to the full city rate gardually, that is: one-tenth of the full rate each year until they become subject to the full rate the tenth year; by Chapter 135 the limits of Annapolis were extended, and the people in the new territory subjected to the city rate of 95 cents in addition to the county rate; by Chapter 63 Oakland was given the power to extend its own limits, whenever it thought proper, by ordinance, and to subject the people thus brought in to the city rate of 70 cents in addition to the county rate; by Chapter 116, the limits of Kensington were extended, and the people in the new territory subjected to the city rate of 30 cents in addition to the county rate.

LEGISLATURE OF 1916.

By Chapter 249 extended the limits of Queenstown; by Chapter 266 extended the limits of Bladensburg; by Chapter 615 extended the limits of Easton.

The preamble to this Act shows that the people of Easton voted in favor of an extension, but the people in the territory annexed were not given any vote on the subject.

TRIED A REFERENDUM TWICE

In Daly vs. Morgan, 69 Md. 465, the Court of Appeals said: "No one knew better than the framers of the Constitution of 1867 that the time must come, and that not far distant, when the extension of the limits of a great city like Baltimore would be absolutely necessary to its proper growth and development.

Seven years after the Constitutional Convention, the Legislature passed an Act extending the limits of Baltimore City, Act of 1874, Chapter 224, but made the mistake of inserting a referendum to the voters in the territory to be annexed, and they voted against the extensions. Thus the extension which the Court of Appeals said was "absolutely necessary" for the growth and development of the city was set back for fourteen years.

In 1888, the Legislature made another effort to extend the city limits. In the effort to get some extension, they provided for a referendum in three sections. The eastern section, which was the most densely populated and which most needed the protection of the city police, health department, fire department, etc., voted to stay out, hence the extension obtained was not symmstrical. Moreover, in order to get even a part of the surrounding territory to vote to come in, terms were put in the Bill which were unfair to the people in the old city limits.

The Baltimore County Committee, which is fighting city extension in a three-column advertisement inserted October 16th in all the daily papers of Baltimore, at a cost of more than a thousand dollars, stated:

"The Annex of 1888 has been a heavy burden on the old city And, in a headline, referred to "the city taxpayers still groaning under the burden of supporting the Annex of 1888, which has cost the city $15,000,000 more than it has paid in."

This statement is rather wild, like other statements enanating from that Committee, but it is a fact that the terms of the Act of 1888 were unfair to the city, and that the city has had to spend more money in the Annex than it has collected in taxes from the Annex.

The fair thing is for the new territory to pay for benefits received. The City ought not to make any profit from taxing the new territory, and the new territory ought not to get conveniences and benefits at a loss or expense to the old city.

The experience of every city in the State proves that you cannot have city conveniences for county taxes, that you must pay some additional taxes for city benefits; and the experience with the Acts of 1874 and 1888 proves that you cannot have annexation on fair terms if you make it conditional upon a referendum to the people in the territory to be annexed. You cannot expect a fair decision of any question if you give to one of the parties interested the power to decide it. The only way to get fair annexation is to let the Legislature decide the terms. This is what the State has done for every other city in the State; why should it not do the same thing for Baltimore?

HAS BEEN DONE FOR BALTIMORE

In the history of Baltimore, the Legislature has ten times extended its limits without a referendum,—the last being Act of 1816, Chapter 209. Referring to this Act, the SUN Almanac of 1900 says:

"Sixteen thousand or seventeen thousand inhabitants were added to the population by Act of the Legislature and against the protest of a large majority of the people of both the city and the county."

The Act of 1816 not only extended the limits of the city without any referendum either to the city or to the people in the territory to be annexed, but made a great extension. It extended the limits to North Avenue on the north, the present eastern and southern limits on the east and south, and what is now Payson Street on the west, taking in thousands of acres of forests and farm lands. It annexed territory ten times as large as the territory in the old city limits. The Legislature of 1816 had a vision of a Greater Baltimore which was soon realized. By 1820 Baltimore had nearly caught Philadelphia, by 1830 had passed Philadelphia and became the second city in the United States, with a population of 80,620 against 26,514 in 1800; or nearly trebled in thirty years. Why should the people of Maryland in 1917 be less proud of their chief city, or have less faith in its future, than the Legislature of 1816? It will take less faith in the future than was shown by the Legislature of 1816 for the Legislature of 1918 to foresee Baltimore a city of a million population, paying nearly twice as much revenue to the State government as now, and with the great increase in the value of farm lands and farm properties throughout the State which will come from nearness to that city of a million people.
