A FEW WORDS TO THE PEOPLE WHO LIKE

Made To Order Suits

There are two grades in this too, just as anything else. There is one that will call himself a tailor by hanging out a sign and another that really makes all his work. Now if you want to pay a man $5 to $12 just for taking your measure, it's up to you, and if you really want to save that amount, this is the only place in town. H. Feldman, he makes it himself just like you plow the ground yourself. Well, of course, you know that when you do it yourself it will be alright. That's how he feels and he backs it by reputation not by showing you that he was here a week or even two, but will give you satisfied customers as far back as four or five years, and really the only way to get satisfaction is by giving me your business.

WHY ANNEXATION BILL IS UNFAIR

Above all, because it denies the right of the people to be annexed to vote on the question, which right is guaranteed to them by the Constitution of Maryland.

Because it takes from Baltimore County an area one and one-half times the size of the present city, while one fifth of the present city is still vacant land.

Because it takes away 65,000 of the county's whole population of 139,000, or nearly one-half.

Because it takes away about one-half of the county's whole taxable basis, leaving the whole expense of administration to be saddled upon the remainder of the county.

Because it provides that the county's public buildings within the area proposed to be annexed, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars, shall be taken over at what they are worth to the balance of the county after annexation—that is, nothing at all.

Because it provides that all property fronting on the 15 State roads running through the proposed annex shall pay a special paving tax of 15 cents a front foot every year for 10 years. The State built the roads, the city will get the money.

Because it makes no provision for farm lands and woods, which must pay the same rate as built-up ground, and which, in 20 years, will be paying the full city rate—the same as property at Baltimore and Charles streets. The annexation bill of 1888, which was a fair measure, provided for the county rate on such property until it should be given city improvements.

These are the most grossly unfair provisions of the bill, although there are many other features which will work great hardships to the people of the proposed annex. The Democratic party has pledged that this or any other annexation measure should be submitted to the voters of the "Belt," as provided by the Constitution. The Republican party has declared flatly in favor of the Preston-Field Force Bill WITHOUT A REFERENDUM. The only way in which the people of Maryland can prevent this outrage from being perpetrated is to VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET. We urge you to do this in the the interest of common honesty and fair dealing. No national issue is to be involved in the election this year ; no sacrifice of party principles is involved.

THE BALTIMORE COUNTY NON-PARTISAN CITIZENS' PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE.

THE FOLLOWING LETTER WAS TAKEN FROM THE BALTIMORE AMERICAN

To the Editor: Permit me, in the name of the soldiers out here, to address the following letter, through the columns of The American, to the girls in the United States:

Girls—We are at war. Our country is calling for volunteers. But we are not. We are soldiers stationed on the Island of Oahu, Hawaiian Territory, far from anywhere and near nowhere.

We want volunteers, not to fight, but to write!

Girls of the good old U. S. A. listen to our plaint and then write! We are way out here in the middle of the broad, blue ocean, on the Island of Oahu, the paradise of the Pacific, called the melting-pot of the world. We are lonesome.

The native belles, with their dreamy, dark eyes and never-satisfied appetite for poi, the alluring tones of the ukelele, and the girls from far-away Japan, whose ordinary costume is 10 cents' worth of calico and a smile, cannot wean us away from the thoughts of real honest-to-goodness girls in God's own country, back in the States.

In short, we are anxious to correspond with some one or ones and are taking this method to interest someone in our behalf.

In return we promise to write newsy letters, telling them of the nice things we have seen and the things they will never see. Are you game, girls?

WOODSMEN, ATTENTION!
Short Time Remains for Joining Forest Engineers, a Force to be One of the First in France.

Baltimore, October 23. A chance remains for the chap who has not yet volunteered, been drafted, or exempted, for the chap who knows how to swing a woodsman's axe, take care of his end of a crosscut saw, or handle the reins of a logging team. For the fortunate man who can do these things or some of them, there is an opportunity for national service in France at a very early day. The chance is in the Forest Engineers, now being raised. The State Forester, F. W. Besley, 532 N. Howard St. Baltimore, is listing men from Maryland.

The listing began some weeks ago, with the Tenth. The Tenth is gone, and in its place a lot of husky woodchoppers and able outdoor men have foregathered on the grounds of the American University, down in Washington, and are calling themselves a mighty able part of the Twentieth Forest Engineers, now forming. Some selected men will no doubt be used in its personnel, but just at present there is a chance for volunteers in axmen, woods and portable mill sawyers, tie cuters, loggers, teamsters, graduate or practical veterinaries, scalers, blacksmiths, wheelwrights, mill engineers and machinists, band-circular-, and crosscut-saw filers, auto truck, engine, boiler, mill machinery, automobile and motorcycle operators. Healthy, practical men who can do one or more of these things will be issued recruiting cards at once on application to the Maryland Listing Officer. The Recruiting cards will ensure their being enlisted for the Reserve Forest Engineers.

These forces will provide the sinews of war, in wood, in France. They have an imporant mission to perform, a chance to show the people of Europe. Whose forests and forestry are and have been by-words for generations, the sort of stuff of which the woodsmen and outdoor workers of America are made.

Maryland responded well to the call for her share of the Tenth. She has been slow, very slow, in volunteering men for the present force. It is realized by the Listing Officer that a good proportion of the men who can come forward, volunteered for this and other forces, been accepted hove or rejected, and gone away. However, this does not take care of all. There are still men, good men, who have not yet been notified under the draft, and who have also not yet volunteered for patriotic service. They have a chance for special work for which their life has fitted them. These men, with the right personal equipment, are the men that are wanted. It is hard at a time like this to see how anyone, who is foot-loose and able to go, is able to hold back. There never was before an opportunity to have a part in such a splendid fight or noble cause. Human, civilized rights, and the high ideals of centuries are at stake., and they cannot be redeemed without the aid of brave and patriotic men.

Men who have had a taste of the woods and know its work, will be welcomed at the office of the Board of Forestry, in Baltimore.

AN APPEAL TO THE DOMEN OF MARYLAND

This country, for the first time in history, faces a food shortage of a peculiar kind. There is sufficient food for all, but there is not sufficient food of certain kinds. The Government appeals to the housewives of the Nation in this emergency. The week of October 28 to November 3 inclusive, has been set apart for a nation-wide Food Conservation Campaign, in which all the women of the State are asked to take part.

A CAMPAIGN OF SUBSTITUTION RATHER THAN ECONOMY

It is not so much a question of saving money as it is a question of saving food. No matter how much one is willing to pay, money will not grow wheat or sugar between harvests, and will not produce meat when the cattle are not in existance. What the women of the Nation are asked to do, therefore, by the Government, and what they must do if the supply is to last over this emergency, is to substitute other articles of diet for the staple things in which a shortage is threatened.

SAVE WHEAT, MEAT, DAIRY PRODUCTS AND SUGAR.

The most important articles of food in which there is a serious scarcity are wheat, meat, dairy products and sugar.

WHEAT

Wheat is absolutely essencial to the conduct of the war abroad. The European nations have not been trained to the use of cornmeal and other grains. More than that, wheat is peculiarly adopted for war-time uses, because of the length of time wheat bread can be kept after baking, as contrasted with corn bread. Corn meal is not suited for export in the ground state, and the European countries are not in the habit of grinding corn and are not provided with the machinery for doing so. Many of the sources of supply on which England, France and Italy have drawn in the past are cut off and the United States is called upon to make up this shortage by exportation. If the people of this country consume the entire amount of wheat they are accustomed to consume, the war cannot be successfully brought to a finish. But the war must go on, and therefore, the wheat supply must be drawn upon with care. Unless this is done both we at home, and our soldiers abroad must suffer from the shortage. All that is necessary is that every housewife shall substitute, so far as possible, corn meal and other grains for wheat flour. If this is done wisely and universally, the supply from the last harvest will carry both this Nation and the Allies until the next harvest.

MEAT

As in the case of what flour, much of the meat supply for the army must be exported from this country. The supply of living animals is not sufficient to meet this emergency and afford the customary amount of meat consumed in this country. The Government, therefore, usges that every family, so far as possible, substitute fish and other articles of diet for meat supplies.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

The demands for meat abroad have led to the slaughtering of the herds and cutting off of the supplies of milk and butter. The high price of beef in this country has led also to excessive slaughter in this country, so that a serious decrease in the supply of milk and butter is faced at the very time when the export demand for dairy products it at its heighth. It is essential, for the proper conduct of the war, that no waste be permitted in milk or butter, and that the consumption of these articles by each family be reduced, as far as possible without injury to health

UGAR

The supply of sugar is not sufficient to carry the civilized world through to the harvest, if America continues to use that article as extravagantly as in the past. This country is consuming at the present time twice as much sugar per person as France. It is absolutely necessary that this amount be cut down to actual needs.

THE OCTOBER CAMPAIGN

It is in order that these facts may be brought home to every housewife of the United States that the Department of Food Administration of the Federal Government is planning a nation-wide campaign from October 28th to November 3rd. This campaign aims at a house-to house canvass and the securing of a pledge from every housewife to co-operate in this food conservation campaign.

If every household in the State of Maryland is to be visited and the matter clearly explained to the housewife, and her signature to the pledge card, obtained, there must be engaged in this work during the week beginning the explanations and securing the signatures. Every woman in Maryland is therefore urged to do two things: first, to sign the pledge card for herself and her family; and secondly, to volunteer to assist in the canvass during the final week of October. Every Woman who will volunteer her services is ugently requested to send her name address to the Maryland Food Conservation Campaign Hcadquarters, 518 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Md. She will then be assigned a definite territory to cover in her own neighborhood, and will be issued the proper credentials and the proper badge for her work.

A VITAL SERVICE TO BE PERFORMED BY LOYAL WOMEN

The situation is serious. Unless this plan of conservation is carried out by the women and men of the United States, both our soldiers abroad and our families at home will find themselves without an adequate supply of these important articles of diet before the nevt twelve months elapsed. The Government has chosen this method of securing food coonservation, and calls upon every loyal woman to join in the work just as it has called upon every man of proper age for service in the field. The war cannot be won without the soldiers. and the soldiers cannot win without food.

The woman who enrolls in this work is doing it as a recognized representative of the National Government at the demand of the National Government, and is rendering important service as evidence of her loyalty and her desire to co-operate in the war for democracy. Forward your name and address at once as requested above.

Issued under the authority of Herbert C. Hoover, National Food Administrator, by the Maryland Headquarters, National Food Conservation Campaign.

FRANCIS KING CAREY,
Chairman Executive Committee.
