SIDE ONE

for Mrs Turner's little boy and her sister; for herself, it will be a blessed change to be released from the suffering & sickness she has endured. During her sad removal from Elizabethtown, I am sure, she could not have had, more tender or kinder care than you & Ellerston would bestow upon her.

Yours truly & lovingly
Cr. Emily.

My dear Galley

Thanks for your pleasant letter received Tuesday. I think you are having stirring times, indeed, from your account but hope some of you, at least, will derive enjoyment & benefit from it. Of course, you hear through Sally & Anne about their mother and all at Ivy Rock. I had a line from Harry, Monday evening, written on the envelope of a letter from Miss Mannie at
