CASCADE

Our roads are clear of ice and snow, the first for the past two months, and the autos are agin being used in the place of horses and sleighs.

The heavy wind storm of last Monday night did considerable damage to some of our farmers; the large doors on the Harpel Bros. barn was blown off and broken into kindling; the wagon shed and corn crib on the coppermine farm, which is tended by Phillip Gaver, was damaged and some of the Gaver's implements and a buggy was broken.

The stork recently visited the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bridges, of Blue Ridge Summit, leaving a fine little son, of which they are proud.

The revival services at the church of God, at Germantown, which was compelled to close on the account of closed roads, will commence again next Sabbath evening.

Those that visited Rev. V. K. Betts and family last Sabbath, were Lewis Staley and Jacob Cauffman, of Mount Alto. Pa., Miss Agnes Brown, of Quirak.

Prof. Wm. Seiss, of Rouzersville, Pa., has a large singing class at the church of God.

Those who are on the sick list are Mrs. J. D. Brown, Grippe; Mr. J. Moore's two daughters, Mr. R. Eyler's two daughters and son, and Mr. H. Pryor's son, Pneumonia.

The aid society of the church of God of Germantown, paid Mrs. Earnest DeLauter a visit last Tuesday and spent the day quilting.

Quite a number of our young men have been called for examination in the past week.

Quirok school, of which Mr. M. J. Palmer is teacher, rendered a very nice program on Washington's Birthday.

The farmers who have had sale in the past two weeks, have realized good prices for stock and machinery of all kinds.

CEDAR HILL

Those in this community who were on the sick list, are much improved.

Mrs. O. M. Penn spent part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Edw. Barnes and family, near Windfield.

Mrs. Warren Herbert called on Miss Melva Penn on Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. Oscar Haines and Orval Crumbacker, of Baltimore, spent several days with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Levi Haines.

Quite a few from this place attended the dance given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, on Friday night.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Hester Pickett who has been quite ill is no better at this writing.

Miss Ola Davis spent last week visiting friends in Westminster.

Miss Sophronia Hood spent one afternoon with Mrs. Norma Gosnell recently.

Miss Catherine Conaway has been suffering with a gathered ear but is now recovering.

Mrs. Carrie Pickett is still suffering with the grippe.

A PETITION
(Tune, "America.")

Keep thou our soldiermen
On battlefield, in glen,
On sea or straud.
From Danger keep them free
Wherever they may be,
Fighting for Liberty,
In air, on land.

Hear Thou our cry, our plea,
Thou God of Liberty,
Hear thou and save.
Grant they be brave and true
In all they dare and do;—
For this we pray and sue,
This boon we crave.

Far o'er in bleeding France,
Where haughty foes advance,
They noby stand.
They wage a noble fight,
For all that stands for right;
Keep Thou them day and night
In Thine Own hand

In Thine Own time and way,
Grant that a peaceful day
Shall come once more.
That war on earth may cease,
And everlasting peace
Abound without decrease:—
All war be o'er.

GEORGE EDWARD SMITH,
Frederick, Md.

MAN, 22, WORKED 54 YEARS
Record of Jobs Wins Temporary Draft Exemption

Although Albert Fay Rothrock, a Mifflin county, Pa., farmer, is only twenty-two years old, his record of Jobs undertaken and the fifty-four years he spent at them was sufficient to secure at least temporary exemption from military duty and he will remain on the farm with the full consent of the district draft board. When Rothrock asked for deferred classification in the draft he came to the column where registrants give an account of what they can do and how long they have been doing it. When he had the column filled it showed: Teamster, ten years; Horseshoer, five years; student, five years; teacher, four years; farmer twelve years; horseman, twelve years; automobile driver, three years; truck driver three years.

This covered the period since he was ten years old. Fifty-four plus ten equals 22, but the draft board was satisfied with the addition.

Someone inquires what has become of the man who used to oppose all propositions for a merchant marine? Well, about now he is cussing the government because it won't build 6,000,000 tons of shipping a year.

EDITING IS A CINCH

"Most any man can be an editor," says the town knocker in Team Work. "All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week and 'edit' such stuff as this: "Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. A mischievous lad of Pikestown, threw a stone and cut Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday. Joe Doe Climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Isaiah Trimmer of Running Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda. Mr. Frank, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of his corn crib."

MAKING IDLERS WORK
(From the New York World.)

Maryland's compulsory work law shows its teeth in the fine of $50 and costs imposed on a Baltimore youth "well known in the social circles" of that and other cities and convicted of failing to continue working at a job provided for him by the State board. The defendant's plea that the work "was to hard" was not entertained.

New laws love a shining mark, and having first made examples of society idlers it will be all the easier to proceed against other idlers lacking the benefit of pedigree. But the case is especially interesting as an early prosecution under a form of social legislation already adopted in West Virginia Maryland and New Jersey, and apparently destined to find increasing favor in other States.

It is the Socialistic angle to such statutes that gives them a pecular significance. The conscription of the drone in the human hive will be a process of interest. But the application of the selective principle will be an important factor in the efficient operation of the laws. No doubt there are forms of work "too hard" for society idlers who yet may be competent for occupations impossible to slackers of the hobo type.

A movement is on foot in Sykesville to have the Government Postal authorities divert the postal auto truck which runs from Baltimore to Washington, by way of Frederick, from West Friendship to Sykesville each morning. If this can be brought about it would greatly develop the parcel post business at that point and would bring the morning mail and papers to Sykesville at 7.30 each morning instead of 9 o'clock. Postmaster Weer figures that the plan would not change the time of the truck more than 20 minutes, allowing 10 minutes for the run each way from and to West Friendship.

Roy Stitely, of near Union Bridge, was recently found guilty by a jury in the Frederick County Court of stealing a buggy belonging to Joseph Flickinger. Stitely hitched his horse to the Flickinger buggy and drove away. It happened, however, that the latter vehicle was a better one than Stitely's. Efforts were made to have him paroled, but the Court sent him back to jail pending an investigation into his character.

The Royal Arcanum Society of Massachusetts, which has been a subject of litigation during the last few years, is declared 99 per cent. solvent by the finsurance Commissioners of this State, New York and Connecticut in a report issued by Frank H. Harrison, Insurance Commissioner of Massachusetts. "Officials of the society," the report says "have at all times acted legally and in good judgment in handling the funds. According to the financial statement, the society has total assets of $4,789,484.10, as against total liabilities of $751,162.16. Incorporated in 1877, the society is doing business in 32 States, the District of Columbia and Cuba, and has a membership of 177,235."

"HUNS WILL FAIL."—GEN WOCH
America Must Hurry To Speed On Victory, Says French Officer
(Special Paris Cable in the New York Times.)

I went to the fountain source today for information and reasurance on the German offensive and I got both. General Foch received me in his office My first question was: "What is the chance of the Germans being able to break through.

General Foch before answering took a few puffs at his 2-cent cigar and looked at me with a smile of quiet confidence in his bright brown eyes.

"They won't break through," he said, the words were as precussive as pistol shots. "They tried that at the Marne. They tried at Lassigny in Ocover, 1914, and at Arras. Again on the Yser and at Ypres they made very strong attacks, which they repeated. They failed everywhere in their attempt to break through. Finally, at Verdun in 1916, they made a great effort. Their artillery was much superior to ours. This attempt began in February and lasted till July. It was a failure.

"In view of all these attempts under conditions favorable to the enemy we are justified in the confidence we now feel. The advantages now all lie with us.

Some people fear that modern tendencies are bringing women down to man's level, but those who have seen the heels on the women's spring shoes say there is no danger.

COULD NOT FORGET ALICE

Man Before War Exemption Board at Least Proved He Was Loyal to His Lady Love.

He was a plump little man and he was smoking a very large cigar and with his unoccupied hand he caressed a faint blonde mustache at odd moments. He seemed to be thinking of other things than the matter in hand. He explained he was working in a factory that made ammunition and was, therefore, more important at home than abroad. The exemption board seemed to take that view of it and was about to say so, when one member looked up and saw the applicant gazing out the window with a look of awed delight that was wonderful to behold. The board member followed his gaze, but saw nothing more interesting than a fat sparrow swinging on a telephone wire. He looked back. The applicant was fast going into an ecstatic trance.

"What is the name of your immediate superior?" asked the board member softly.

"Alice," said the applicant softly. And five minutes later when, a brick red as to face, he stood in the hall awaiting the elevator and a chance acquaintance dared the inquiry: "Who is Alice?" he grinned. "We are going to be married next week. Wasn't that a h—— of a thing to say in there. Oh, boy."

And, still blushing, but also still smiling, he departed.

EVILS IN TRAIN OF WAR

English Men of Prominence Look With Disfavor on the Free Mingling of the Sexes.

English physicians and psychologists have noted the great danger to women's morals in donning masculine clothing and giving themselves too much license.

"The woman war worker in male attire and the amateur war nurse are deserving careful attention by the medical profession," writes Dr. James Burnett, M. A., M. D., M. R. C. P., in the Medical Press.

"I see two net results of the war in this connection—a greatly lowered standard of morality and increased vice diseases. War has certainly slackened our moral tone. The free mingling of the sexes has not had altogether a beneficial effect on the morality of the country.

"Skirts are worn shorter than ever before. In fact, some women seem to me to vie with each other as to who can wear the fewest clothes. Cigarette smoking and drinking have become common. It is a usual sight to see women smoking and drinking at tables in public."

Russian Red Cross.

The Russian Red Cross is an enormous organization, more or less bureaucratic in its administration, formerly supported by the royal family, and now receiving aid from the government; not like our Red Cross, supported by contributions, of the whole people. Its vast storehouses are stocked with supplies far beyond anything we have in America. They have utilized their factories for the manufacture of cotton goods, and in one storehouse in Petrograd we found 50,000,000 meters of gauze. They had 5,000,000 suits of underwear for their soldiers. They run their hospitals quite as well as the sanitary department of the army. In the winter palace were 500 beds of a Red Cross hospital, its lofty ceilings and big rooms splendidly ventilated and splendidly administered. One could not help but think that this was the best use to which the winter palace ever had been put.—Cartoons Magazine.

Traffic on Ice at Nyack.

So thick has the ice become on the Hudson that it is being used as a boulevard between Tarrytown and Nyack, a distance of three and a half miles, the New York Sun states. Judge Arthur S. Tompkins travels from his home in Nyack to the courthouse in White Plains daily in his automobile and crosses the river morning and night. Many New Yorkers who live at Tuxedo go up to Tarrytown in their cars and cross at Tarrytown.

Owing to the freight congestion on the west side of the river Nyack is being supplied by motortrucks, which run from New York and cross the river. One day recently a big chain store in Nyack ran short of goods and an automobile load was sent over from the store in Tarrytown. Trucks as heavy as five tons have crossed the ice in safety.

High Morale.

Henry Van Dyke, the former minister to the Netherlands, said at the New York Authors' club the other day:

"The morale of all the allied soldiers is always excellent. They joke about their wounds.

"I met a wounded young American aviator from the Escadrille Lafayette at a tea. He sat in a bath chair, with his legs propped straight out, and his two crutches at his side.

"'How is the leg coming on?' I said.

"'Well, anyhow,' he laughed, 'it isn't coming off.'"

What He Lost.

Mrs. Flatbush—So your husband has enlisted for the war?

Mrs. Bensonhurst — Oh, yes. I thought it was his duty.

"Oh, well, he'll not lose anything by it."

"He won't? Why, say, he lost six dollars the first night in camp, playing poker!"—Yonkers Statesman.

A large number of people have agreed to observe Lent by giving up the things their neighbors like to do.

The fuel famine is acute, but that is not a sufficient reason why the landlady should burn the steak every morning.
