MANCHESTER

On Sunday Mr. Blaine Murray, wife and friends, of Hampstead, were driving his Studebaker car on the state road west of the sharp curve near town with another car in the lead, when at the home of Mr. William Reed, Mr. M. made a spin to round the leading car that put him in the track of the on coming Ford car of Mr. George Smith, coming east, which he struck and wrecked the front running gear, that forced the Studebaker into the barnyard fence and tore away some of the foundation wall of the barn before it came to a halt. Mrs. Murray was thrown a against the shield and was cut about the face while all the rest in both machines escaped injury. After the excitement the central garage here was notified and went to the scene of the accident and went to the scene of th eaccident with their truck and brought the Ford to the gargae. A garage answered the call from Westminster and took the Studebaker to their garage.

OBITUARY

MRS. M. E. F. BARDWELL

After seven months of weary watchings and waiting at the bedside of Mrs. Mary E. F. Bardwell the death messenger came on Thursday morning, 25th, and peacefully she passed away at the age of 87 years, 1 month and 18 days. She was the widow of the late Dr. James R. Bardwell who was an assistant surgeon in the Union Army during the Civil war, after which he practiced at Stewartstown where he died in 1870. She was a resident of Baltimore for a number of years but became a guest at the Roslin, the home of Miss Fannie G. Ross, in 1909 where she died. After house services on Saturday, Rev. Blatt officiating, her remains were laid to rest in a family lot where rest her husband and three sons. Messrs. H. S. Musselman, H. T. J. Lamotte, Charles Brilhart, J. Wesley Snyder, C. M. Masenhimer and Dr. R. S. Denner were pallbearers. Wink Bros. had charge of the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. George Frick, Mrs. T. J. Kopp, Rev. George Everhart, Miss Vora Shower, of Baltimore, and Harry Beltz, of York, attended the funeral. She is survived by a brother, Geo. A. Shower, and a sister, Mrs. Celcil Frick, of Shelby, N. C.

A Correction

In the last issue of the Sentinel it was inadvertently stated that the age of Mrs. Mary E. Yingling, wife of Mr. Joseph P. Yingling, of Pleasant Valley, this county, who died last week was 85 years, when it should have been 54 years. Also that her name was Marie, when it should have been Mary. The pallbearers at her funeral were her nephews. The Sentinel, like all other papers, depends upon its correspondents and others who send in reports and, who sometimes make errors, and we are always glad to make proper corrections.

Mrs. Yingling was for many years the correspondent of the Sentinel at Pleasant Valley and her letters were always accurate and interesting, and her untimely death is deeply felt by this paper, as well as by her large circle of friends and relatives.
