My dearest Polly

I have had a nap and while I am waiting for Miss Baker to come & take a walk will begin my letter. Thank you so much for telling me hear so often about dear Ione, so for an ending me pretty tales. I am so glad the last account are better and hope she is better since by this time. Write me & get to Cousin Murray tomorrow & see what they have heard - Polly told me on Tuesday that she could not stay so on Thursday spent a long delightful day visit Rob. Morris with Mr his whose eyes have been my trouble one, he gave me something to drop in them which seems to have helped them & he is to go back in three or four weeks - I went to visit the place & him another, all to no purpose. I got a letter from Miss Laraville yesterday telling me she had a woman who wrote to them at Mr. R. Morris tomorrow & if it was not convenient for me to come & would meet to her she would engage me & send her out Tuesday next. I had written for myself - I go and I danced at Aunt Nellie's & had a very pleasant time. She gave me a lovely coat for Adelaide, a blue green cloth, just what I wanted for her, & one for me that had been sent to her & none of her girls could get into it, it is a very, not my colour but does my wee pretties mother. wasn't it good of her. When I got home I found I had missed Miss Alice Taylor
