who had come out to ask Charley & me to tea on Friday evening to meet her sister Mrs. Long Taylor & Miss Natalie. I hesitated very much about going but Charley thanked me to go & said he thought when people were so nice in so deep mourning as the Taylors he needed to forget not to mind. So I went & had a very pleasant time & a delicious supper, first broiled crabs, then broiled oysters & potato croquettes, then chicken salad, then ice cream & jelly & cake. They have a very nice house on the River Road, the brother Mr. Ben Taylor is rather stuck up looking but was very pleasant he is president of the Bank here & Miss Alice Taylor is very friendly - Today we went to Sunday School, it was such a bright day & Charley had done so well this week that we thought we might go and how we glad. Dr. Bunting said that after Sunday we were going to Lawrenceville if we cared to the Parish House was so cozy at our service to eat our lunch in, wasn't that nice? For it is getting cold now. This week Charley has sent the wagon in town twice & has cleared over $40.00 on the trade, isn't that delightful? He is busy at the spring house trying to get it done as soon as possible for the cream does not get cool enough now it is so cold there & Mr. Hopkins told him he ought to get more butter from his cream. Please give my best love to Aunt Emily and a great deal to both you & Bob dear Polly

Please tell me anything you hear of Ellen

Your loving & grateful
