The politicians have not decided whether Gen. Pershing is the greatest genius America ever produced, or merely a figurehead, as it is not known to which party he belongs.

It is possible to find out what a senator thinks about the peace treaty without his feeling it absolutely necessary to deliver several instalments of six hour speeches.

ST. JOHN'S, WESTMINSTER

MANCHESTER

Autumn was ushered in, in this section, wet and gloomy with a light rain falling all day putting mechanics and farmers out of commission. Farmers were busy seeding and cutting corn that at most places was heavy labor on account of the high stalks loaded with large ears.

Mr. Jacob W. Warehime, a local employee for B. F. Shriver & Co., who helped to unload wagons unto trucks was helping to load a truck at the crib west of town along the state road last week. When the loading was finished he stepped unto an iron rod, his shoes being wet caused him to slip and he fell to the ground tearing the ligaments and spraning the ankle. He was taken home and was confined to bed for some days. At this writing he is able to get around witht he use of a cane and best of care.

Our schools opened on the 15th with a fairly good attendance. Prof. Knipple principal. Miss Celia M. Shower and Miss Emma Cox in the intermediate and Miss Carrie LaMotte in the primary department.

Services in Trinity Reformed Church of this place, on Sunday, 28th and on Sunday October 5th. Rev. W. Lloyd Anderson of Mt. Crawford, Va., will fill the pulpit.

Mr. George S. Motter and sister Miss Fannie G. Ross spent last week, in Baltimore, seeing the sights and enjoyed several trips down the bay seeing the submarines in action.

Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Keller motored to Baltimore, on Wednesday and anchored at a good position to view the parade that took 2 hours to pass a given point.

Past Grand J. E. Leese took in the sights at the temple and saw crack teams give out the work to a class of candidates.

Your humble servant was a unit among the many thousand that lined the pavements to view the parade. The visitors certainly did themselves great with their fine uniforms, fine marching and maneuvering that received applause all along the line. The old Keystone state had the largest representation but Ohio and Massachusetts were largely represented, in fact all the states from Maine to California were represented in the line. Banners announced that 155,000 members of the order were in the army. The organization has over 2,000,000 members and paid out millions in benefits, they have 55 homes for aged members and Orphans. The Pennsylvania members had with them a band from one of their orphans homes that knew how to play and received an ovation all along the line.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Greenholtz spent Mr. G's vacation week with their sister Mrs. J. Wesley Snyder and family. Mr. G. has been a watchman at the Bank corner of Lexington and Charles street Baltimore for a long time, he divides the night with a fellow watchman.

The automobile crowd kick if the streets are torn up for repairs, and they kick if they aren't repaired.

BUSY OFFICE WORKERS

Working nearly all the time by artificial light should be extremely careful of their eyes.

No matter what your vocation, success demands your best efforts. Tired and aching eyes are never at their best. Have them examined at once. Delays are dangerous.

The railroad workers ask for the public to pay them a billion more wages. While they were about it they might just as well have asked for two billion.

Complaint is made of the filthy condition of paper money, but it does not remain long enough in most people's pockets so they are exposed to much danger of contagion.

If you hear sounds of groaning and people rushing around about 1 A. M. in some neighbor's house, just reflect that Georgia shipped out 4,799,000 watermelons this year.

A lot of people think the world has gone crazy, but most folks have lucid moments three times a day at mealtimes.

A delegate to the national convention of retail clothiers declared that men would not pay $75.00 for a business suit. They need not pay half for a good one if they read regularly the advertisements in The Sentinel.

A considerable movement is reported in the rural districts on dark nights to save the farmer's fruit and vegetables from the frost.

The politicians are carefully figuring how they can get the support of both sides of the labor controversy without doing anything for either one.
