IN MEMORIAM

Maring—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear baby, J. Emerson Maring, who departed this life one year ago today February 28, 1919.

In a little snow white casket,
Lies the one we loved so dear,
For he was our little darling,
Although he didn't stay a year.

Oh the sorrow of that dreary evening,
When we stood beside his bed,
Till death stole upon him softly,
And we knew his soul had fled.

There are some who still will linger,
To the spot where you are laid,
Who will come and scatter flowers
In the grave that Christ, has made.

We never shall forget you,
While in this world we stay;
We hope that we will meet again
When God calls us away.
By the family.

WELL AND SUBSTANTIALLY BUILT

means that a house has extra good lumber put into it. That when it settles there will be few if any cracks in the walls and plaster, that it will have good, firm floors, that will retain their good appearance, that the doors and trim and window sash will stay true with little shrinkage, making a warm home in Winter. If you would have such a house see to it that the lumber contract is given to Lumber, Coal & Supply Co., whose reputation for fair and square dealing cannot be questioned.

Echoes from the distant Battlefield
BY L. M. ZIMMERMAN, D. D.
Baltimore, Md.
The book contains scores of messages written by boys overseas, together with letters of cheer and comfort to them and to their families from the author.
These bits of letters, which are the essence of boyish frankness and idealism, cover a broad range of subjects, from the humorous to the tragic. This close-up view of thoughts of the boys—homesick, scared, but dauntless and full of fun withal—makes us realize as nothing else just how they were thinking and feeling in the midst of the horrors of war.
