1887 [redacted] Emily Hollingsworth Incoming Mail 1484

Mineirals

Ans. 17. of July
to be Kept. July 13th 1887

BALTIMORE JUL 14 930AM 1887 MD.

Mrs Hollingsworth
248 South Eighth St.
Philadelphia Pennsylvania

is reasonable dear Cousin, and if we can spare one of the girls from here, we will send one or two of them with Deedee. But cannot dear Cousin accept of your kindness. I should not feel easy dear Cousin to go away, unless it was absolutely necessary - either to leave the baby or to leave home for other reasons. But we all appreciate your love most truly and thank you for it as much as if we accepted it. Deedee is of course feeling the effect of the anxiety and does not seem as well as I would like her to be. But I think when she gets away from here she will feel better. The baby is better again, we are feeding her entirely from the bottle now, and I hope it may suit her. And now dear Cousin I must tell you that we had a very pleasant visit yesterday from dear Mary It was very good to have her, and altho the latter part of the day Harry seemed depressed and worried - yet he bore it very well received her very warmly and talked very pleasantly to her for some time. Rob brought her down in the morning and left her, and then came back for her about half past ~~night~~ nine at night. We all enjoyed it very much as you know, but would have enjoyed it more if we could have had her entirely to ourselves - of course some one of us had to be with the Colhouns. I trust she may come again frequently in the same way. The weather is again intensely hot - and we are glad to have Charley away from the temptation to expose himself to the sun. Rob is very busy at the Canning house, as they have not been able to get an Engineer and he has to man