My dear Cousin Emily

I have your two letters by me to answer - one with the deed which Poller wishes you to sign - the other with the little periodical for the children - this they immediately took to the School room - to get Miss Fanny to read to them - it was very kind of you to think of them dear Cousin and we are all of us much obliged to you for it. It gives them so much pleasure to watch for the pamphlets directed to themselves. I was up stairs when the mail came, and when I came down, I found that there had been a good deal of wondering, as to who all your nice pamphlets - they paper for Mr Little Tryp dear Cousin the whole

We have to enjoy it just as You have done - that Charley's horse was dead! This is of course a great loss to him. He seems pretty well however, and we are indeed all of us very thankful that he come home.

I am very sorry indeed to have written you such a stupid scrawl - please excuse it dear Cousin, I am very sleepy and am trying to write so that I can send it tomorrow when we send for Harry. I believe I will have to bid you good bye and go to bed
All join me in fond love to you
Your loving child
