1889-1899, n.d.

SIDE TWO

Colhoums to see Eddie who was sick and sent to ask her to come to her. We heard later that Eddie was better so I hope that Deedie will be able to go to Mary's and then come home with them. We are all quite well excepting that Adelaide has taken a little fresh cold. We gladly welcomed Henny back again yesterday, and to day old Mary brought her daughter down on the boat. She has inflammatory rheumatism, and I think it was a very hazardous thing for her to come down, but I hope it will be all right. We are glad to see Mary back again, even tho she will have to divide her time between her work and the care of her daughter. Every thing is beginning to look most beautiful now one can see the growth of the grass and the leaves each day. We have had such high winds however the last two or three days - which is very trying to vegetation! I have not heard from you now for several days but I know how difficult it is to write when away from home and am not uneasy about you, dear Cousin I am sure you are enjoying your stay with your friends, and I trust you will feel stronger for your visit. This afternoon Jem Cheston came down to see Major Hall. He soon had to leave but Harry and I enjoyed his visit I find I am writing a very sleepy scrawl and so I think I had best bring it to a close - especially as have really nothing especial to write about. All join me in fondest love to you

Your loving Cousin Mary.

Mary H. Murray

You will see I was really asleep but you will excuse it I know.