So far the fact that a man wore a $12.00 silk shirt, is not reported to have helped anyone get a loan at the bank.

SANDYVILLE

Sandy Mount Christian Endeavor and Junior Societies will hold a festival next Wednesday night, July 1, on the church lawn. If inclement it will be held the first favorable night. Ice cream, candy and cake for sale. All come and spend a pleasant evening in the grove.

The L. T. L. will meet this Sunday morning at Pleasant Grove at 10.45. Members urged to be present.

The W. C. T. U. met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sue Keller.

The Flower Mission department had several readings and reported having sent a number of bouquets to the sick. The treasurer would like the members to pay their dues in July. Mrs. Keller served ice cream, strawberries and cake.

Sunday School at Sandy Mount at 9.30 and preaching at 10.45 this Sunday A. M. C. E. at 8 o'clock which will be led by Wilbur Yingling. Topic, "Our Duty to our Country". Patriotic Meeting. Roll call and business meeting at the close. All invited.

The intermediate classes boys and girls, of Sandy Mount Sunday school, went on an outing, Wednesday of last week. Notwithstanding the inclement weather the majority of the classes started on the hike in the morning and enjoyed the day fishing playing ball and all eating a large dinner spread in the meadow by the stream. What is more pleasant than nice clean out door sports in the country, in God's beautiful out doors?

Misses Grace Yingling and Eurith Zentz left last Thursday for an extended visit to Virginia and other places.

Congratulations to Mr. William Lockard and his bride who were married last Saturday in Pennsylvania.

The weather has been very warm this week, splendid for hay making and the farmers are very busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Shilling, Mr. and Mrs. James Shilling motored to Thurmont, on Sunday.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Oursler in the sad death of their little boy.

FARM POULTRY

DEMAND FOR GUINEA FOWLS

Value as Substitute for Game Birds Becoming Better Recognized by Many People.

The value of a guinea fowl as a substitute for game birds such as grouse, partridge, quail, and pheasant, is becoming more and more recognized by people fond of this class of meat, and the demand for these fowls is increasing steadily, United States department of agriculture specialists report. Many hotels and restaurants in the large cities are eager to secure prime young guineas, and often they are served at banquets and club dinners as a special delicacy. When well cooked, guineas are attractive in appearance, although darker than common fowls, and the flesh of young birds is tender and of especially fine flavor, resembling that of wild game. Like all other fowl, old guineas are likely to be tough and rather dry.

A few large poultry raisers, particularly those within easy reach of the large eastern markets, make a practice of raising a hundred or so guineas each year, but the great majority of guineas are raised in small flocks of from 10 to 25 upon farms in the Middle West and in the South. Many farmers keep a pair or a trio of guineas more as a novelty than for profit, and from these a small flock is raised. The guinea fowl doubtless would be more popular on farms were it not for its harsh and at times seemingly never-ending cry. However, some people consider this cry an argument in the guinea's favor, as it gives warning of marauders in the poultry yard.

CARE OF GROWING CHICKENS

One of Most Important Factors In Raising Poultry During Summer —Keep Them Growing.

The care of growing chicks during the summer is one of the most important factors in poultry raising. The chicks may be hatched from strong, vigorous stock and carefully brooded; but unless they receive the proper attention during the warm months, their growth may be retarded. In other words, they shoould be so managed that they will mature into well developed fowls.

KEEP BIRDS FREE FROM LICE

Dust Thoroughly With Good Insect Powder or Apply Mixture of Vaseline and Mercury.

Examine the pullets and hens for lice, and dust thoroughly with a good insect powder or apply a mixture of two parts of vaseline and one part of mercurial or blue ointment, about the size of a pea, one inch below the vent of the bird, rubbing the mixture lightly on the skin. An application of this ointment two or three times a year will keep the fowls free from lice.

POULTRY NOTES

Destroy lice and mites.

Confine or sell all cockbirds.

* * *

Keep the nests clean and well littered.

Gather eggs frequently and keep them in a cool place.

Bread and milk make an excellent feed for young goslings.

* * *

Feed a well-balanced ration with plenty of variety and if possible give free range.

Eggs to be preserved should be strictly fresh, clean, unwashed, firm and free from cracks.

* * *

From 50 to 80 per cent of the chicks hatched die before they reach maturity. This loss can be greatly reduced by proper feeding and care.

* * *

The number of duck farms in this country is increasing, because of a widening of the market for young ducks, and this sort of poultry raising is growing more popular.

MANCHESTER

We joined a company of friends of Mrs. M. E. Gettier, in an auto drive through Baltimore County to the State Normal School, on Sunday afternoon, where Mrs. G. is taking a summer course. We went by way of Hampstead and down the Black Rock road, which is a fine drive to Mt. Zion Church, where the Macadam ends and the dirt road is fairly good, but when in the Butter section the country is very hilly, but the farming is well done, the corn crop there being much in advance of that in our section. Barley was on shock and the grain was fast changing to the golden color. In that section we saw a farm that well could be made a standard for the husbandry in general. The home near the road was a picture of comfort with a lawn of three or more acres nicely kept with fine shade. A large corn field was the banner field in the drive, no less than four corn plows being in readiness to carry on the cultivation. The number of milk cans at the entrance to the lawn indicated that the occupant is a large shipper and no doubt his herd measures up to the standard of the farm. The country towards Cockeysville is a flourishing section and thickly settled to Towson to near where we entered the grounds that contain sixty-one acres with two imposing three-story buildings. We had a warm reception. The Matron Mrs. Nellie Root Lilly was at her best among a family of 235 teachers in which each county of the state was represented. The buildings are fine and well built. They have their own heating plant that in cold windy days consumes ten tons of coal, ordinarily six to eight tons. Part of the grounds are under cultivation and well farmed. The electricity and gas is supplied from the city and the water from a county supply. Newell Hall a three-story building in which all are roomed and have their meals, for comfort and pleasure is much enjoyed while the grand old trees give plenty of recreation and out-door enjoyment. After an hour or more stay we winded our way homeward through the park where thousands of persons were enjoying the grand places of rendezvous, passing and seeing other thousands motobiling.

The improving of our streets was a matter of much concern not only to the Mayor & Council but to the citizens in general also much was said and now and then something done that might be a factor towards making the improvement. The present Mayor and Council after a number of meetings formulated a plan to finance the part the corporation would be asked to pay as their apportionment for the work which is to be cement, graded to correspond to the cement gutters. A call was made for a meeting of the citizens in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Friday evening, 26th. The call was taken up with much enthusiasm as by the arrival of twilight the crowds about the square began to enlarge; the drum corps came to the front, a large truck was fit up for their accommodation with a number of autos following through Main street; stirring selections were played that stirred the citizens to a determination to do something tangible at the meeting. After a selection at the hall the crowds made their way inside. Mr. Charles E. Eckenrode called the meeting to order; Mr. J. N. Dehoff, president of the Manchester Bank was made chairman; Ross Blocher, secretary. The business was stated and Messrs. E. O. Weant, Frank Thomas of Westminster, and C. E. Eckenrode, treasurer of the council addressed the audience along improvement lines. The council's plan was then submitted, it being that each property holder pay $1.00 a front foot along his lot. It seems to have wrapped up in it a magic, for little was said, no opposition and when the vote was called it passed unanimously. Messrs. David J. Brown, Charles E. Eckenrode and Ross Blocher were appointed a committee to measure the front of lots and report the same to each owner. They at once entered upon their duties and glad to say they were encouragingly received and quite a number came forward and paid treasurer D. J. Brown, who receipted for the same, and money for the town's allotment will be in the hands of the county commissioners by the time this reaches the many patrons. The Friday evening meeting the most successful and harmonious the corporation has ever had was so unanimous that it lasted but little more than an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Breckenridge Shaw, of Frederick had a week of pleasant happenings in which their three sons were in evidence: John, who has a fine position with the brush factory, was married; Robert received his R. H. A. from the University of Wisconsin, where he has been a teacher; Harry received his diploma with B. S. from the Johns Hopkins as a Civil Engineer. We take off our hat to the parents and offer our congratulations to them and their noble boys that they may enjoy a long life of prosperity and happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Garrett, of Baltimore, spent Saturday with their father, Mr. Ephriam Garrett on S. Main street.

Mr. Richard Martin, Sr. and family of Baltimore co., motored here on Sunday and were nicely entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Martin on N. Main street, spending the day.

Members of Trinity Reformed Sunday School enjoyed an outing in the grove at the Royer school house, Cranberry.

Mr. Frank Bean and mother, of Baltimore, motored here on Sunday where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kneller, Gertie Gonder and Ephriam Garrett and motored to Hanover to spend the day. Mr. Garrett stopped off at Pleasant Hill and spent the day with a sick brother, Jesse Garrett.

Mr. Wm. E. Sharer has had his home nicely painted and with a fine new roof it adds much to the appearance. Mr. Wm. Kelbaugh did the work.

The team of Levi, the dealer in old iron and rags, made things lively last week when they made the down grade at a dangerous gait with an auto trying to head them off. Mr. Black captured them before they were overtaken.

It is easier to get money for fancy brick for school houses, than for school teachers who will put brains in the children's heads.

It's all right to jail all the little profiteers who get away with a few cents, but the government should be very careful not to get too close to the big fellows who gather in millions.
