MANCHESTER

The authorities of our town embraced the opportunity to celebrate the new enterprises that were under construction during the summer when Main street was concreted making a fine driveway and the streets and a number of homes are lighted with electricity. Saturday 23rd was an ideal day for outside enjoyment. The square being roped off and fitted up with booths was in readiness to accommodate the crowds. The parade which formed at the school house was headed by the Boys' Band of Hanover, 35 pieces, following was a banner with the inscription. "This is for the benefit of everybody." Old Glory next followed by the Goddess of Liberty in full dress. Then were the children of the primary department led by Lippy with his pet dog drawing an express wagon loaded with flowers as real as if he was one of the scholars. Next in line were the intermediates carrying a flag, then those of the higher grades. The P. O. S. of A. Band, of Hanover, was followed by a group of young ladies. All in line were in white dress with yellow and black sashes carrying a flag. Superintendent Knipple was assisted by the Misses Shower, Cox and LaMotte and Madames Leber, Gregory, Wantz, Miller, Hanson and LaMotte marshaling the little folks. It certainly was a creditable parade that was commended all along the line to the school house, where they disbanded. The bands returning to their stations on Main street where they added much to the cheer of the occasion, while the booths were doing a good business. Mr A. A. Blakley having arrived was circulating among the crowds receiving hand-shades. Later he addressed the audience along general lines from a stand in the center of the square. As the shades of evening gathered that section of the town was nicely lighted by a number of electric lights where the large crowd had fun alive until late at night.

On the 18th by auto and then by train we arrived at the hospitable home of Charles J. Everhart North Market street, Frederick, where we received a warm welcome and enjoyed a pleasant visit throughout our stay. The Fair was fine. The attendance on Wednesday and Thursday were record breakers. The races interesting and the acrobatric performance was great. The entranglements of the automobiles in the evening were trying on patrience for there were acres covered with cars. The evenings were calm and the balloon ascensions enjoyed. The new census gives Frederick 12,000 inhabitants, an increase since 1910. The city is growing westward. There is the home of the Hood College the Armory and many fine residences. The roof on one of these homes cost $9000. We found Dr. D. G. Everhart at home in the Masonic Temple in a finely fitted up office, equipped with an Xray machine and the latest in dentistry and enjoying a fine practice.

Mrs. Jacob M. Wareshime, on South Main street, entertained the Mayor and Councilmen of this place to supper on Friday evening 22nd., in honor of the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the town. The guests arrived on time and received a warm welcome, and were invited to the dining room where the table appointments were A-1 and a fine supper in waiting for them, to which all did full justice. During the hour a grafinalo entertained them with best records. Supper over, all returned to the parlor where they spent the evening discussing the future of the town. Those present were: Mayor C. C. Kneller, Councilmen Wm. E. Sharer, A. R. Lippy, Chas. E. Eckenroue, J. M. Warehime and H. N. Birgoon and Secretary J. W. A. Abkins.

The friends here were notified of the death of Mrs. William Rhodes, of Hanover, on Saturday from pneumonia. She was a native of this district and for a number of years the family were residents on a farm.

Mrs. J. E. Musselman spent the week with friends in Frederick, enjoying the Fair.

We had the pleasure of a handshake with Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Barnhart, of Baltimore, on Saturday.

Miss Adelle Norris, of Baltimore, Miss Mattie Shaerer, of Grave Run and Dr. Harris Durham, of Siler City, North Carolina, were the week end guests of Mrs. Julia M. League and Miss Winifred R. Masenhimer, on North Main street.

Mrs. Albert Coss, of Baltimore, spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. J. LaMotte, circulating among friends.

Mr. J. C. Frankforter enjoyed the Frederick Fair as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Everhart.

Mr. C. Wm. Miller and family made a stop over here in their Sunday's run to the home of Mrs. M's father Mr. Nathaniel Shaffer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Snyder were week-end guests with friends in Baltimore.

SMALLWOOD

The Deer Park school will hold a Hollowe'en Social at Smallwood Hall on Saturday night October 30. Singing and recitations, will be given by the school for a short time. Pies, the good old pumpkin pies, cake, candy and ice cream will be for sale. Proceeds to be used for the benefit of the school. Decorations will be of pumpkin, blackcats and owls in keeping with the evening.

About a week ago a party from Smallwood and Statewood visited at St. George's to have a social game both came home with the laurels.

A great many of our folks in this vicinity visited the fair last week among the number were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lockard, Mr. and Mrs. John Babylon, Mr. Clarence Bitzel, Mr. John Ditman and son, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Davis, Mr. Iven Sayers, Mr. and Mrs. John Beard, Mr. and Mrs. George Beard, Mr. Truman Beard, Miss Amanda Williams, Miss Lizzie Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold.

Little Miss Virginia Arnold visited Mr. Charles A. Wagner last Thursday night.

Last Sunday night was the last service of a three week's protracted service at Deer Park Church. Each service was well attended. It reached its climax on Sunday night, when the church was over flowing. The number out side that could not get sitting room inside numbered two hundred. We hope to see at least a portion of the large congregation back on future Sunday night.

POULTRY SHOW AT ARMORY NOVEMBER 17, 18 & 20.

The Carroll County Poultry Association has prevailed upon the Grand Old Man of Poultrydom, Mr. George O. Brown, to act as one of the judges of the poultry display to be held in conjuction with the County Agricultural exhibit at the Armory November 17. 18 and 20. The other Judge will be Mr. H. W. Rickey, Poultry specialist of the Extension service of the State College. Mr. Brown is President of the Baltimore Poultry Association, a former President of the American Poultry Association and a judge of national reputation. Mr. Rickey is the official poultry booster of Maryland and an acknowledged expert on care and breeding. These gentlemen will be on hand Poultry Day, November 18, to give their advice and counsel.

Friends of the better poultry movement are making it possible for the Association to offer many liberal prizes of cash and poultry supplies and every exhibitor will find his entry eligible to some valuable special. Awards will be arranged so that the exhibitor who is making his first display will have equal chance with the experienced fancier. Complete announcement of the special prizes will be made at an early date.

Entries to the exhibit which is confined to residents of Carroll county, will positively close November 10. On account of limited cooping facilities the Association has reserved the right to reject entries beyond the available capacity, therefore it is desirable to get your entry in early. The fee is 25c per bird, $1.00 for pen of one male and 4 females. Pigeons, 25c per pair. Send your entries to D. F. Shipley Jr. Secretary. Westminster, Maryland.

Only 14, But Is Very Busy Boosting Harding

Here is a picture of James Duncan MacGregor, Jr., age fourteen, who is the publisher of The Weekly Press of Stamford, Conn. In a recent issue of his newspaper he said:

"The editor of this paper wishes to say the object of The Weekly Press is to publish facts, and do my part in helping the United States get into office good, honest men, men who love their country first of all. As I am only fourteen years old, I cannot vote, but I appeal to all voters to cast their ballot for Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge."

James numbers his ancestors among the signers of the Declaration of Independence and always has been a reader of biographies of great men. Roosevelt is his hero. Harding is his idea of the kind of a man the country should have for President.

BAKER'S ADVISOR OUT FOR HARDING.

Washington.—Major Benedict Crowell, Mr. Baker's former Assistant Secretary of War, warm admirer of President Wilson, is the latest distinguished man to declare in an interview that he is in favor of the election of Harding and Coolidge and a Republican Congress at the polls in November. Major Crowell goes so far as to say that he is in favor of the league of nations but he prefers to take his chances on getting the league with Senator Harding rather than with Governor Cox.

"Now that President Wilson is retiring from active political life," said Major Crowell, "it is wise for his supporters to pause and take stock of the situation. I have always favored a league of nations but the Democratic party has no monopoly on the league. Indeed, the present Democratic administration has failed on this subject in spite of the fact that 75 per cent of the Senate were in favor of some kind of a league.

"It seems evident that Governor Cox is making many promises regarding the league which he may not be able to fulfill."

Senator Harding, observation leads us to believe, has created a strong impression of earnestness, sincerity and high sense of duty. His utterances are marked by a studied moderation; he exhibits no arrogance of opinion, and has made no extravagant promises of a millennium to be created by proclamation; he seeks rather to express the national spirit than to impose a doctrine of political infallibility. And there is as unmistakably a growing view that Governor Cox is a shifty opportunist, superficial in thought, reckless in appeal and irresponsible in statements.—Philadelphia North American.

Father Says Why He Is For Son for President

Indianapolis.—Dr. George T. Harding, seventy-six years old, father of Senator Harding, came here from Marion to attend the National G. A. R. encampment. He is the surgeon general of the Ohio Department of the

DR. GEORGE T. HARDING.

G. A. R. He served in the Civil War as a private in the 136th, Ohio volunteer infantry, enlisting at eighteen.

"When Warren is elected President the country will get a good, honest man who sympathizes with the common people. He was reared that way. He had a noble Christian mother and he was brought up under her fine influence."

Dr. Harding is hale and hearty and has use for neither glasses nor a cane. This was the fifth national encampment he had attended. He was the center of interest among his 60,000 comrades who attended the encampment.

VOTERS ENCOUNTER NO DIFFICULTY CHOOSING BETWEEN CANDIDATES.

Washington.—The American people are carefully making a close comparison right now between Senator Harding and Governor Cox. The choice between these two men and the policies they represent is not a difficult one and the writer honestly believes the American people have their minds made up and are ready to vote.

Senator Harding and Governor Cox are almost diametrically opposed to each other in everything. Senator Harding stands for Americanism and Governor Cox espouses internationalism. Harding is cautious about what kind of a league he and his party goes into while Cox wants to wade right into the European league as proposed by President Wilson.

Senator Harding is careful, deliberate, dignified, sincere, serious and constructive, while Governor Cox is crafty, quick to seize upon any kind of an artifice; he is bombastic and impulsive.

Senator Harding has been a lifetime accumulating a moderate fortune while Governor Cox jumped into the multimillionaire class in a few years. Harding lives modestly and quietly in an unostentatious manner while Governor Cox lives in luxury on a large estate in a home costing half a million dollars.

Warren G. Harding will be fifty-five years of age on Election Day. He is old enough to know and young enough to do. His rival has not yet reached even the years of discretion.
