SPECIAL NOTICE.—Mercantile advertisements must be handed in on MATURDAY Morning to insure their appearance in the next issue of the paper. Legal advertisements, which cannot be delayed usually require all the type we can spare on Mondays.

Local Record.

—Alfred Kemp, Esq., of Houston, will please accept our thanks for late Texas papers.

—A frog has lately been captured at Mobile which weighs 200 pounds. It is said to be the largest frog ever seen in Alabama.

—Caroline Circuit Court was in session all last week, and is likely to last the most of this week.

—Col. Henry D. Loney has resigned the command of the Fifth Regiment of Maryland National Guards.

—A engine on the Kent County Railroad jumped the track on Monday, and the engineer, Alexander Robinson, was badly scalded.

—There will be a display of the stallions at the county, at Hambleton Park Fair Grounds, next Saturday afternoon.

—The Easton Building Association has declared a dividend of 4½ per cent. for the last six months.

—The County Commissioners will commence a four appeals and make transfers on Wednesday the 11th inst.

—Persons having claims against Talbot county, to be paid in the next levy, must file them with the County Commissioners by the 1st of this month.

—Shad are becoming a little more abundant. Up to the last week, the shad on the Choptank this season had been very scarce, and the fishing business was not renumerative —Now is the season to plant young roses. Send on your orders to the Dingee & Conard Co., West Grove, Chester county, Pa., and get six for $1.00.

—Richard Price, Esq., has been appointed Register of Wills for Queen Anne's county vice John P. Dudley, deceased. He has appointed Mr. George Palmer his deputy.

—The weather last week was very unsettled, and unfavorable for farming operations. Plowing in the stiff lands will necessarily have to be postponed until the ground dries.

—Rev. Enoch Stubbs, of Smyrna, Del., will lecture in the M. E. Church, Trappe, on Wednesday evening, April 11th, for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society. Subject: "What's to do."

—The thieves still continue their raids on our town pantrys. Last Saturday night they went through us and made off with our Sunday's dinner If they are not sharp, they will be caught before court.

—McGinn has opened his flower stand at the corner of Washington and Dover Streets, and every market morning has for sale some beautiful plants. He has the largest stock and finest house he ever had and is selling his plants at a bargain.

—Bishop Lay administered the Right of Confirmation at Trappe on Monday morning, the 2d inst; at Oxford on the evening of the same day; at St. Michael's on last Sunday morning; at Trinity Chapel last Sunday evening and at Christ church in Easton last evening.

—Michael Connolly, the contractor for building the new piece of road from Beach Bloss town to Ivy Town, commenced work last Tuesday with a large force, and already has the road one-third done. He expects to complete it before the last of April.

—The Band Dramatic Company played to a good house last night. They play again this evening. Go and see them, and you cannot fail to be pleased. The pieces for to-night are "The Lottery Ticket," and "A Gentleman from Ireland."

—The Choptank District Grange met here on Wednesday. There were present a large number of grangers from this and the adjoining counties. As the session was private, we cannot report what business was transacted. Grand Lecturer Robinson, of the State Grange, delivered a lecture.

—Dr. J. S. Conrad and Dr. C. W. Chancellor, of Baltimore, have been commissioned by Gov. Carroll to inspect the county almshouses throughout the State. They have visited the almshouses of this section. If their report on some of the almshouses does not shock the Governor, he must be as hard as old iron.

—The trotting match announced to come off at Hambleton Park on Easter Monday was postponed, but after the second heat, which was a draw, it had to be postponed on account of the rain. The engagement will be renewed unless the Dorchester man backs out, and that we suppose he will not do, as he is reported as game.

—From the Wilmington Republican we give (in another column) comments upon our section of country, which is gratifying to our pride, but Jump & Co. get the "cream de la creme" as being the livest of the live men in Easton. It is seldom we see such a tribute to a business firm in a county town.

—Every Evening and The Wilmington Commercial have been consolidated, and is now called Every Evening and Commercial, and edited as an independent paper by Mr. Crosdale, the late editor of Every Evening. It has been enlarged, and is an admiral newspaper, and in every respect creditable to the enterprise of the city of Wilmington —At the Charleston Races, the finest thoroughbreds in the country are to be seen, and the condition of the horses is a wonder to all who behold them, and it has only recently been discovered that they can be kept in this condition by mixing in the food of horses a tablespoonful of Simmons' Liver Regulator. It is also given to chickens.

—The population of Wilmington, Del., according to the census of 1870, was 30,841. Then then there were built 1 769 new houses; in 1871, 423; in 1872, 422; in 1873, 431; in 1874, 292; in 1875, 144; in 1876, 147. Estimating eleven people to two houses, which is the usual quota in this country and Great Britain, the population should have increased 1,739, which added to 30,841, according to the census of 1870, gives a population of 40,570.

—Mr. Henry W. Shaw, better known as Josh Billings, delivered the concluding lecture of Mr. Dodson's course on Wednesday evening to a very large house. Josh is an odd fish, but he manages to get off a number of good things to amuse the audience in the course of an hour's lecture. Nothing class escaped his pungent wit and his jokes appeared fresh and original. [illegible] manipulation. Mr. Dodson's course has been a success. We hope he will get up another course and succeed in securing such lecturers as Henry Ward Beecher, Bret Harte and others of [illegible]

—H. H. Sloan has sold out his tobacco store in Dallas Lane, and returned to West Virginia. Mr Lane will carry on the business at Sloan's old stand, opposite the Paragon House. He has been lame with the rheumatism for nearly a year, in consequence of which he has had to quit his trade and go to shop keeping, to support his family. Silas is a good fellow, and never flinched from work when he was able to work and now it will be a charity for persons wanting cigars, snuff or tobacco to deal with him. He will keep a good stock of all the approved grades of tobacco and cigars, and hopes to receive a liberal share of the tobacco trade. Give him a call and a helping hand in his struggle to get over the stile.

FOR SALE.—A Grover & Baker Chain-Stitch Sewing Machine. Inquire of the editor of the STAR for particulars.

HORSE BILLS, handbills, pamphlets, cards, circulars and other JOB WORK neatly and promptly printed at the STAR Office.

THE MARKETS.—Good, $1.05; Best Wheat, $1.70@$1.75; Corn, white, 51 cents; Yellow, 48 cents; Oats, 40@45 cents; Rye, 78 cents. The grain market was more active last week.

OPINION OF A BALTIMOREAN.—I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for some time in my family, and found it the best remedy for Colds, Coughs, &c., I ever tried.—Louis Bruning, 26 Caroline Street.

CONFERENCE DELEGATES.—The delegates to represent the Maryland Conference at the General Conference of the M. P. Church which meets in Baltimore in May, are:

Clerical—L. W. Bates, J. K. Nichols, J. J. Murray, E. S. Norris, D. W. Bates, J. T. Mason, S. B. Southerland, D. Wilson, T. D. Valiant, W. S. Hammond, E. J. Drinkhouse, and R. F. Benson.

Lay—Messrs. Herring, Button, Usilton, O. Hammond, J. W. Thompson, Clark, Zollickoffer, R. B. Bates, Griffith, Spencer, and J. Smith.

TOWN ELECTION.—The Easton corporation election for one Town Commissioner, is advertised to take place on Monday the 7th of May.

—THE ODD FELLOWS' HALL STORE.—Attention is directed to the magnificent stock of cheap goods advertised by Jarrell, Nichols & Cox, under the Odd Fellows' Hall. This is a young and live house, and is driving a strong competition with our old and long established firms. Read their advertisement and give them a call.

VENIAMY GREEN'S ADVENTURES.—We have received this freakishly funny book, by Cuthbert Bede, and if "every laugh pulls a nail from one's coffin," the readers of this book will have no need of the undertaker for many a long year. Verdant has the happy faculty of meeting with more "adventures," and more amusing ones, than ever before fell to the lot of mortal man. And the story is made additionally attractive by 150 humorous engravings. It is sold by all newsdealers at 20 cents, or sent postpaid for 25 cents, by DONNITHORNE, LLOYD & Co., Publishers, Chicago, Ill.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—William K. Bothell, Auctioneer, sold on Tuesday the following property: For C. H. Gibson, Esq., Trustee, the Andrew O. Onzebach farm, in Ferry Neck, 115 acres, to Spedden Orem, for $3,500; for A. A. Parnault, Esq., Attorney, the Joseph V. B Wright store house and dwelling in Easton, to Shanahan and Wrightson, for $6,005; also for the same, the stabling in the rear of the store, to the same, for $500. For William R. Townsend, Jr. Townsend's slaughter house, near the steam-mill, to Geelon & Wilson, for $700. The dwelling of Mr. Townsend, on Railroad Avenue, was offered but not sold, only $3,000 bid.

William H. Bostick, Auctioneer, sold Mr. Silas Lane's house and lot, on Bayside Lane, to Edward Ray, for $950.

A THE EASTER OFFERTORY.—From the Editorial notice of the Easton Ledger, April 5th, 1877:

"The Easter Services at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Easton, were of the usual interesting character of that joyous season of the Christian year. The Church was beautifully decorated with choice flowers, which had been tastfully arranged on the altar, the font, and the pulpit and lectern. Before the morning service commenced; the children of the Sunday School, over eighty in number, entered the Church singing "Joy! Joy! Christ the Lord is risen to-day," and handed their offering for Indian Missions, amounting to $43, to the Rector, and each placed a bouquet in the rough wooden cross which stood before the chancel, changing it to a beautiful cross of flowers The offertory of the morning amounted to $349.52, including the contribution of the Sunday School.

The Bishop's Chapel was also handsomely decorated with flowers, and the offertory amounted to over $160, besides some donations from friends of Bishop Lay in other Parishes."

The notice touching the Bishop's Chapel should read as follows:

The Bishop's Chapel was also handsomely decorated with flowers, and the offertory amounted to $280 from the congregation.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Mr. Robson,

Dear Sir:—I do not wish to commence a newspaper correspondence, neither to start a controversy; simply to record an old Eastern Shoreman's opinion of the state of the roads of Talbot County, judging them by the St. Michaels road as far as Royal Oak, from Easton. I am happy to state there is a gentlemen of intelligence, nerve and wealth, who drives over that portion and who intends seeing the supervisor of any hole he may chance to break a spring or horse's leg in, and I wish him success. No wonder land sells so cheap here! I have no doubt these thoroughgoing northern and western men, who come here to buy, take into consideration the bills of their veterinarian and carriage maker, while our polite and efficient land agent takes them with his light and quick-stepping horses so quick around the holes, the undemonstrative purchaser is also mentally sounding the depth of the last circumscribed hollow and wondering if his own and less agile animals, in default of the hop, skip and jump around, can stand the shock of a slip on legs bred to bear only good honest work. I understood the Republican Commissioners promised us better roads, but they are worse, and the fact is, there is something exceedingly "rotten in Denmark." The average Eastern Shoreman being like the old nigger who went to belong to him; after his corn was planted, gathered and ground for him, and then made into bread, begged the Lord to take him Home, for he was too lazy to eat. Let us hope that these men coming here from other States, will, after a while, take the management of some things upon them, as they undoubtedly will. Let them show us how they manage their roads—how with hills and stones constantly combatting them, each mile is portioned out to different farmers, who more for credit sake than remuneration, fill up the first symptom of a hole. Yes, sir! Fill it up, and keep it filled, for they have not to deal with people who are too lazy to praise or blame. For having already broke one spring in a hole I sign myself A SUFFERER.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Wilmington Republican that lately visited this section, appears to have been favorably impressed with the improvements which have for some time been going forward in the lower part of this Peninsula. If he had taken a little more time to examine Easton, he might have found here other things to admire besides one single store. We have other large mercantile houses worthy of his attention. He might have found here the finest church South of Wilmington; a bank that has accumulated $100,000 surplus in the last twelve years; a building association with a capital of a quarter of a million; flourishing day and Sunday schools; the sound of the busy builders' hammer all over town; a country lying around us that challenges any other part of the State in beauty and fertility; and a general intelligence among the population (the result of a public school system that has been in operation for over forty years) unsurpassed by any rural district in the Union. We subjoin his clever letter.

[FROM THE WILMINGTON REPUBLICAN.]

Down Country.—We often hear the remark in this latitude that "down country," (as down the peninsula is called,) people are inactive and there is no business energy manifested; that the inhabitants are content with their sand banks, fish and oysters, and care for nothing else. Now, if those who thus think and talk would take the pains and trouble to inquire into the habits and business talents of these misrepresented people, they would find out their mistake.

In travelling through that section of country recently, I was very favorably impressed with it, and am now thoroughly concinced that there is beauty, intelligence, thrift and enterprise South of Wilmington. In the rural districts, the farms bear evidence of the agricultural knowledge of the owners, the dwellings are neat, and, in many instances, palatial; hospitality proverbial. In the towns, in some cases, there is a business talent and energy displayed worthy of New York.

In Easton, Md, I found the largest dry goods and grocery house south of Philadelphia—nothing in Wilmington can compare to it. A large four story brick building, with massive glass front, and display an assortment of goods that would do credit to a house on Chestnut street, Philadelphia. Messrs. J. J. Jump & Co, the proprietors, and have built up their immense trade in a short space of time by their indomitable energy and perseverance

I might mention others but this being the leading house in that section, I have named them as a sample of what that locality is capable of doing in the way of business.

It is true that in some other parts of the Peninsula the inhabitants seem to be in a comatose condition—they need energy and capital to develop the resources of that section. I merely mention these facts, Mr. Editor, to remove any false impressions in regard to this highly favored section and its kind and hospitable people.

Society is undergoing a rapid change—old customs are giving way to new ideas and with a little more vim and push, "down country" will be all that can be asked.

Wool Hats! Wool Hats!

WHILE in the market last week I paid special attention to the selection of a line of WOOL and SHAG HATS for and desire to call the attention of my trade to them. Fine Wool Hats are now made that are equal in style and beauty to a fine fur hat, and at prices that are much lower. For such a Hat, call at the subscriber's and he will sell them at private sale.
