MANCHESTER

Manchester's festival season came to an end on Wednesday midnight and as a social affair was a grand success and attracted many strangers here to enjoy the amusements and other attractions. The morning of Wednesday was a blank as to business but with the coming of noon came also the beginning of the attendance while the home folks and friends were busy getting in readiness for the masked parade which was a drawing card; also that of the coming of Mayor Broening, of Baltimore. The Alesia and Carroll county bands were here and helped to make the affair a success. The coming of the Mayor and friends was to be at 3 P. M. but a business delay held their coming until 5 P. M. He was met on Foundry avenue and state road by the committee of reception and headed by the Alesia band was shown through the town then to the grounds where they enjoyed supper. After which he was taken to the stand where he gave an interesting talk along the lines of public improvements and the millions his home city has spent since the great fire. As improvements cannot be had without money, encouraging the citizens to come to the front and aid the authorities in improving the town within the limits of its assesable value. At the close he at once left for home to meet an engagment at 9:30 P. M. By this time the crowds were so dense that there was difficulty to get the parade in order. The line was supplemented by the two bands that added much to the cheer and hilarity all along the line. On the grounds every booth and department was put on the job and the nickles and dimes flowed into their coffers from the crowd that seemed to have plenty of them. The judges then called Mrs. William Miller to the stand, who was in George Washington costume and who received the first prize of $5.00; Albert Dudrear as the big lady $2.50 and Miss Sadie Masenhimer a badge as bride.

The midnight in sight the crowd left for their homes. On Saturday evening a festival was held in front of the firemen's hall and the odds and ends of the Carnival were disposed of to a fairly good crowd.

Harry F. Rhodes was a graduate in a class of sixty-four at the Franklin High School, of Hanover, Pa., on Friday evening, May 20th, and received his diploma with honors. He will take a course in physical training during the summer on the farm North of town and expects to make a commercial and expert accountant course in a business college of Baltimore. His friends wish him success in his life's work. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rhodes daughter Madalene and grandfather Willoughby Rhodes attended the graduation exercises.

Mrs. Fry, of Baltimore, was a guest of her friend, Mrs. W. D. Hanson, during the festive week.

PLEASANT GROVE & REESE

Come out to S. S., at 9.30, and preaching following.

Ladies' Aid at regular time at home of Mrs. Edgar Lockard. Pres., asks members to remember basket.

Don't forget the festival next Tuesday evening, in Church Grove. If weather is bad, on Wednesday evening.

The play, "Waiting for the Trolley", given by the Ladies' Aid and Community was a decided success in every way. The story of play was a scene in a country waiting room with a lunch counter. Some of the passengers are indignant over the poor service and decide to sign an agreement never to ride on cars again when car comes and all rush for it. Polly pickles as lunch counter girl don't like her place as nothing ever happens until an eloping couple come along and she and Terry, the announcer, help them thru in spite of other parties trying to spoil matters. The father of bride is close after couple and Terry puts them on wrong trail and he returns to make love to Polly. Car comes and lovers, suffragettes and all passengers make a rush leaving Polly and Terry. The Com. wish to thank all who helped in any way to make success of this social.

Mrs. Arch Magee, of Baltimore, spent week with her mother, Mrs. Theodore Shipley who has been on the sick list.

Real bargain days for the man who builds

Rents are high as ever, yet lumber and building materials have come down with a crash.

In many cases our prices are 40 per cent lower than those of a year ago.

For the man who plans to build, repair, or remodel, this is certainly a favorable time.

The country as a whole is four years behind in its building program. Our own city needs 50 homes to bring conditions back to normal.

People must build, soon, and increased building is sure to bring higher prices. The present situation is the result of forced selling by manufacturers who are over-stocked.

These manufacturers were caught by the lull in buying and they must convert their stocks into ready money. In many cases they are selling at cost. When building begins again they will be quick to ask their legitimate profits once more.

We have a big stock of building materials, including all kinds of lumber, which we secured at favorable prices and which we will sell at a bargain.

Our prices are in line. Take advantage of the opportunity. Come in and see us today.
